Pensacola Radio Station Says It Picked Up Message That Plane Passed Nassau

This Report Could Not Be Confirmed From Other Sources Keeping Watch

WATCH IN ORINOCO FAILS SPY REDFERN

If Makes Schedule Would Reach Rio, Brazil, Sometime Early Tonight

BRUNSWICK, Ga., Aug. 26.—(AP)—Only one report of the monoplane Port of Brunswick had been received today since Paul Redfern vanished in a misty horizon after taking off at 12:45 p. m. yesterday on a 4000 mile nonstop flight to Brazil.

This came from St. Petersburg, Fla., where the financial journals 40 meter wireless station said that a radio message had been picked up from station 4AQP, Nassau, to the effect that a steamer which arrived there at 11:45 p. m. Thursday night reported the plane was sighted 300 miles east of the British Bahamas.

This would indicate that Redfern at that time had covered between 400 and 500 miles from Brunswick. There was no confirmation of this report from any other source.

Ships, radio and wireless stations and other possible sources of sighting the plane had been asked to keep a watch on the route which Redfern had mapped out from Brunswick to Brazil. If he maintained his schedule, he would have passed Port of Rico last night, crossed the Caribbean sea during the remainder of the night and at daylight should have passed near St. George, Genada Island or Trvago Island.

It was estimated before Redfern left Brunswick that he would be over Dutch Guiana in South America tonight. Redfern expected to make the hop in 50 hours, which would place him at his destination sometime early tomorrow night if he were able to maintain his schedule.

Caracas, Venezuela.—(AP)—Notwithstanding close watch in the Orinoco valley, Paul Redfern, on his way to Rio de Janeiro, was not sighted today.

The committee of 50 represented 15 farm organizations of the state. PLAN MEMORIAL SERVICE AT SEA Teaches Life Saving

On Date of Take-Off of Dole Racers Ship Will Stop at Sea For Tribute

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 26.—(AP)—Memorial services at sea for the six men and one woman missing in connection with the Dole flight today were planned by San Francisco citizens.

The plans were to have the steamer Maui halt 700 miles west of here on September 16 on her voyage to Hawaii while flowers are cast upon the waters during offering of prayer and singing of anthems by clergy and passengers aboard.

Letters today were sent to all the known relatives of the lost fliers, telling of the memorial plans, seeking suggestions and offering to take to sea any flowers sent here for the services.

The steamer is to sail from San Francisco on September 14, a month after the thrilling start of the Pacific air derby at Oakland, Calif. two days later should be near the coast where on the night of August 19, Captain Wm. Erwin, of Dallas Texas, and A. H. Eshwald, of Hayward, Calif., flashed from their plane, the Dallas Sulrit, the startling first radio message, "SOS—tail spin."

It was because of this last word that the point 700 miles out on the great circle was chosen as the place for the memorial service. No word was received from the other two planes, the Miss Doran and Golden Eagle, after they left sight of the mainland on August 17 and their fate and whereabouts have since been a mystery.

It was known today what clergyman would be aboard the Maui to conduct the memorial but the minister, priest or rabbi, the services will be held, regardless of creed, a non-denominational tribute to those who dared challenge the fates.

Naval vessels continued their look today for the fliers. They were proceeding over areas not heretofore covered seeking a trace of the planes.

CHINKS FIRE ON U. S. SHIP

Cruiser Reaches Shanghai With Reports Her Armor Plate Almost Pierced

SHANGHAI, Aug. 26.—(AP)—So heavy was the fire against the U. S. destroyer Noa by Nanking nationalists from the South bank of the Yangtze river yesterday that the ship's armor was nearly pierced at various points where hits were scored. Officers of the Noa reported that the destroyer encountered the fiercest firing 40 miles below Nanking when heavy ammunition was used against her. The Noa reached Shanghai tonight and bore evidence of the attack.

The Americans were unable to ascertain if their had been casualties among their attackers.

The patrol flagship Isabel, carrying commander Admiral Hough arrived just ahead of the Noa. This vessel also was attacked by nationalists and returned fire. The attack occurred while American vessels were conveying three British commercial steamers from Nanking to Shanghai.

WIDOW ON TRIAL MURDER SPOUSE

Coroner Testifies Seeing Deputy and Widow in Bed Following Murder

GREENVILLE, S. C., Aug. 26.—(AP)—The state today called upon fellow officers of Sheriff Sam Willis in its effort to convict the slain officer's frail young widow and Henry Townsend, his deputy and bosom friend, of his midnight murder.

But the defense by unrelenting cross examination succeeded in drawing from one of them, Ben Parrish, who was Willis' chief deputy that he and Townsend were not friendly and that "coldness" existed between him and Mrs. Willis.

Parrish was not permitted to explain the reason for this coldness. The former chief deputy, questioned by defense counsel, admitted that he had at one time tried to have Sheriff Willis discharge Townsend, but denied that he and other deputies were jealous of the 323-year old war buddy of their chief.

The prosecution centered its efforts today on proving the resemblance of the footprints found at the scene, the shoes of the defendants and at the same time appeared to be trying to forestall any attempt of defense witnesses to account for the tracks by showing that no one was allowed the garage after Sheriff Willis had been shot.

Testimony that Townsend and Mrs. Willis were lying beside each other in her bedroom, apparently asleep within three hours of the shooting was given by the coroner, who acted as sheriff pending the appointment of a successor to the slain officer.

The coroner swore also that Townsend was drunk, nauseated and smelling of whiskey a short time after Willis was shot.

EARTHQUAKE SHOCK IS FELT IN SANTA BARBARA

SANTA BARBARA, Calif., Aug. 26.—(AP)—Two sharp earthquake shocks were felt here early this morning. The first, felt at 4:44 a. m. caused people to run out into the streets. The second, following almost immediately lasted but a few seconds. No damage was reported.

New Prizehouse and Re-Drying Facilities Have Been Provided

HIGH GRADE WEED TO BE IN DEMAND LOCALLY

Warehouses Are Big Brick, Curbin, and Timberlake; Big Sales Assured

With the opening of the market on September 6, ten days away, the Goldsboro market facilities are better than at any previous time in the history of the sale of the weed here.

Three warehouses will be operated by men who have the good of the local market at heart, who have the interests of the farmer at heart. A total warehouse space of 151,000 feet is available for the auction sale.

In order to locate buyers for additional companies on the market here, a local corporation has been organized and has created a prizehouse with a warehouse capacity of 16,300 square feet. This house will provide storage space for two companies and has already been leased for a long term.

The Ardath Tobacco Company has assumed a long lease of the steam re-drying plant—a $100,000 investment—and is concentrating its activities in this section. This company specializes in high quality weed steam entirely. J. P. Taylor re-drying plant and other similar facilities place all needed processes in immediate reach of the market here.

As far as warehouses go, Goldsboro has never been better served. Jones and Wooten, well known and experienced tobacco men, will continue to operate the Big Brick warehouse; The Taylor Brothers, with Dan W. Taylor as manager, have a long-term lease on the Curbin House; Tom Timberlake and Sheriff W. D. Grant will operate the Timberlake house, a new structure just being rushed to completion.

The location of these three partnerships in the city for the auction sale of weed, gives a note of stability to the local market that it has not had in some time. All of the men who are to this year operate here have gone into the business for good and not for a season and are interested in making the local market the best market in Eastern North Carolina.

These two well known tobacco men are this season conducting a warehouse at Bahra, Georgia and have been well pleased with the results established there, believing that the openings in Georgia have indicated a good time ahead for all connected with the tobacco business in Eastern North Carolina. While they have been in Georgia, their agents have been busy lining up plans for the opening here.

Jim Jones, partner with Prentiss Wooten in the business, has thrown in his lot with the Goldsboro market because he is convinced that it is destined to be the biggest market in Eastern Carolina. Mr. Jones has been unwearied in his work for the market and in stimulating interest in it. He has been in the warehouse business since a boy and is favorably known over Eastern Carolina. He at one time ran a house in LaGrange, Prentiss Wooten, the other member of the Big Brick partnership, is a native of this section and is vitally concerned in having Goldsboro develop into a great weed center. Running a warehouse is nothing new. (Continued On Page Five)
