SHANTY

This is a sigger sheet, o' s'!
Walls held together by two pins, Sagged like a drunkard front and back;
Roof made of old tomato tins Picked from the ash heap, hammered flat;
A chimney like a stove in hat; Crates, coops, old boards and empty bins.

And in and out of this squalid hive, Past swine that root the muddied hulk,
Move men and women with bright skins Gleaming as bronze and dark as teak—
Beautiful, primitive, alive.

—Katherine Duncan Morse in Poetry.

Mrs. Creech Hostess

Mrs. William Creech entertained at a delightful bridge party at her home on East Mulberry street yesterday afternoon at 3:30. The home was beautifully decorated with yellow chrysanthemums. There were five tables of bridge. The high score prize a set of hot dish mats, was won by Mrs. James Bryan. After the games a delicious salad course was served with hot coffee.

In spite of the rain which poured in torrents all the afternoon, all the guests invited were present except two. Those present were: Mesdames Robert Powell, Herman Weil, Odric Edgerton, W. L. Rawlings, N. G.
Lougast, Hugh Fenton, Dewey Slocumb, James Bryan, Louis Fonville, Herbert Bissell, J. J. Hatch, Floya Ussell, J. N. Johnson, John Thompson, Talbot Parker, Misses Nellie Cobb, Virginia Borden, Antoinette Deasley and Florence White.

Wash Interiors

The Welter Roast scheduled for yesterday afternoon for the 8th A. and 8th B. grades of the high school as a reward for their excellent work in the recent book campaign, was called off on account of the rain. As it was already evident before the closing of school that the roast was impracticable each student was presented instead with a ticket to the after noon performance at the Opera House.

When the hour came those who were grave enough to go through the blinding rain, found that the lights were off and the picture could not be shown. Mr. Finlay invited the students to return at night, which many did, though it continued to rain.

Business Women Meet

Twenty-eight members of the Business and Professional Womens club met with Miss Shadie Cottingham at the Telephone Exchange at six o'- clock last evening, and enjoyed a delightful business, literary and social evening.

A delicious salad course was served first, consisting of Irish potato salad, cheese and piments salad and hot coffee. A business session was then conducted by the President Miss Annie Stevens, after which Mrs. Leland Well repeated the review of Paul Green's in "Abraham's Bosom", which she had given at the Literature Department of the Womens club in the morning. This was very much enjoyed by Mrs. Wells audience.

Annual Meeting

The Goldsboro Needle Work Guild will hold its annual meeting at eleven o'clock Tuesday morning at the Memorial Building. We ask all contributors to comply with the request of the directors and send their donations of linen for the Goldsboro Hospital promptly.

Come and encourage us by your attendance, so that we may be inspired to work more zealously this week.

for this wonderful charity. We have nineteen directors, each having ten or more contributors and we hope all will unite in making this a successful collection.

For Bride Elect

Miss Eula Fields, whose marriage to Mr. Arthur Cavanaugh will take place in the near future was guest of honor at an informal and very enjoyable kitchen shower given by a number of her friends at the home of Mrs. A. F. Winkleman on Wednesday evening.

After a number of games and music had been enjoyed, Miss Fields was presented with an attractive selection of articles for kitchen use. Delcious refreshments were served.

For Miss Fields

A lovely handkerchief shower was given to Miss Eula Fields bride elect at the home of Dr. A. T. Winkleman at 7:30 last evening, by the members of the Winkleman household and some other friends. Each of the lovely handkerchiefs was accompanied by a telegram from the donor, and there was much fun over reading them. Light refreshments were served.

Miss Slaughter Hostess
Miss Mary Slaughter was hostess
