ADDRESS OF McLEAN OPENS ANNUAL EXPOSITION

Suggests Organization Regular Truck Lines To Run to Eastern Cities

Col. John D. Langston Delivers Address of Welcome; Felix Harvey, Jr. Replies

CAPTAIN O'BERRY LAUDS McLEAN IN INTRODUCTION

Senior Queens, Stunningly Beautiful, Are Presented By Senator Royall

Bigger and better than ever, as the show folks publicly men write, the Sixth Eastern Carolina Exposition was launched magnificently here yesterday. Governor A. W. McLean was here to head the mammoth and colorful parade, and to deliver the opening address, then the big program was on. McLean did more than just make an opening Exposition address, he left a thought that caused many an Eastern Carolinian to put his thinking cap on and it was predicted that some of his suggestions might be carried out.

Formal opening exercises were held in the big Brick Warehouse following the parade.

The thousands who had gathered in the Exposition Hall for the Governors address were welcomed to Goldsboro by Col. John D. Langston. "We extend open arms to you, the city is yours," he said, and cheers broke out. "Eastern North Carolina must go forward until it will occupy a position 2nd to none in rounded development in the South," said Col. Langston and he spoke of the Eastern Carolina Chamber of Commerce as the organization which was doing great things toward this end.

Felix Harvey, Jr., president of the Eastern Carolina Chamber of Commerce, replied to the address of welcome and spoke in high terms of the position which Goldsboro holds in the section and in the pleasure the organization had in staging its sixth exposition here. He complimented George A. Royall, local citizen for the part he played in aiding in the organization of the Eastern Carolina Chamber of Commerce, and briefly outlined the work which it has accomplished.

SHORT MEETING KIWANIS CLUB

Dr. A. S. Oliver of Benson Praises Spirit of Goldsboro In Exposition

The program at last night's Kiwanis meeting was abbreviated so that members who desired could attend the Exposition. No speaker had been secured especially for the occasion, but Dr. A. S. Oliver, a visiting Kiwanian from Benson complimented highly various affairs of Goldsboro. He said that the start of the present Eastern Carolina Exposition was the greatest since its beginning six years ago. In praising Goldsboro as a business center he explained that it was known as the best business town in Eastern Carolina not because its business was conspicuous at certain periods of the year but because it held up practically uniformly throughout the year. He was especially enthusiastic over the work in Goldsboro which was "really worth while," that is the development of future citizenship. He went on to say that in this respect Goldsboro, due mainly to the Boy Scout activities, was second to no town in the state with the possible exception of Wilmington, and that he thought Goldsboro would equal Wilmington's if it was as well advertised. Scout work as conducted here he thought was unquestionably the best in the state stating as evidence the fact that Goldsboro as the home of one out of the seven highest ranking Scouts of the United States.

President Miller in replying to Dr. Oliver called to the attention of the club to rating which was given the Benson Kiwanis club at the last in-

Gov. Says Something To Think About

GOVERNOR A. W. McLEAN

Establishment of regular and dependable truck lines to carry produce from Eastern North Carolina truck farms to metropolitan markets was urged by Governor A. W. McLean in formally opening the Eastern Carolina Exposition here yesterday afternoon.

EXPECTS VETO OF FARM BILL

Fess Predicts That President Coolidge Will Again Object To McNary Measure

WASHINGTON, April 9.—(AP)—Another veto for the McNary-Haugen farm relief bill was predicted today by Senator Fess, Republican, Ohio, but the political debate revolving about the bill during the day was not regarded by its sponsors as any hindrance to early action.

The way was cleared for a vote by agreement among senators from the cotton-producing states on a series of amendments limiting the powers of the proposed farm board to impose the equalization fee. With the approval of the charges, another majority for the bill was predicted.

The amendments would provide that an advisory council be named for each commodity and would prohibit the board from acting without the consent of a majority of its council. While Senator McNary, Republican, Oregon, author of the bill looked with some favor on the amendments he did not commit himself. Fess's warning of a veto, sounded in the course of the debate on the floor of the Senate stirred up the Democrats who asked if he spoke with authority. The Ohioan constantly replied that he based his belief only on the sound judgment of the president and not on any direct word from the White House.

Presidential Nomination Seeks Speaker at Dinner

Goldsboro and Eastern North Carolina get their first sample of National Democratic political timber of the season when Senator George of Georgia will deliver the annual address at the dinner of the Eastern Carolina Exposition at the Grand Warehouse, near the Big Brick, at 12:30 this morning. Advance ticket sale yesterday indicated an attendance of several hundred for the occasion. The address which Senator George will make before the dinner of the organization will be the only address he will make of the Exposition. The Georgia statesman has twenty-eight direct ballots for him in the approaching national convention at Houston and there is some speculation as to whether or not he may not corral some of North Carolina's Houston

PRESENT JAIL IS INADEQUATE

State Health Officer Submits Annual Report to Governor A. W. McLean

RALEIGH, April 9.—"Jail seldom used," is the notation given two county jails in North Carolina, those of Camden and Hyde counties, doubtless indicating a peaceful and law-abiding citizenship, according to the report submitted by Charles O'H. Laughinghouse, secretary of the State Board of Health, to Governor A. W. McLean, as a result of investigations and inspections made of city and county jails and convict camps in the State during the past few months.

A summary of the report shows that 29 county jails have been improved in their sanitary management; six have been provided with new annexes; three have been built anew; two have been remodeled; five have been condemned, officials of three of these agreeing to make necessary improvements immediately; 44 prison camps have improved their sanitary conditions; three new prison camps have been constructed; two are under construction; four counties are planning to construct new camps and four camps have been abolished.

A policy of information and instruction has been carried on by the inspectors, the management and county commissioners having been conferred with as to proper methods of handling prisoners from a health and welfare point of view. Splendid cooperation has been received and excellent results have been obtained. Dr. Laughinghouse reports, stating that officials of the counties and cities have shown every consideration to the inspectors and offered them the fullest assistance and cooperation in bringing about the desired results. Included in the report was the following:

Wayne: Old jail building; inadequate for prison population, sanitary maintenance very poor, commissioners have promised to construct jail in accordance with State regulations; two new camps, sanitary conditions very good.

Stocks Move Upward As Exchange Reopens

NEW YORK, April 9.—(AP)—Wall street brokers and speculators refreshed by three day suspension of business on the New York stock exchange started another wild buying movement today which carried more than three score issues to record high levels before it was checked by profit taking. Final quotations disclosed some irregularities, but gains which ranged from $1 to $18 a share again predominated. Total sales crossed the 4,000,000 share mark for the sixth time in history and 767 individual issues were traded in, a new high record for all time.

Here Are Senior Queens, Folks

MISS MIRIAM STADLER, Kinston

MISS FRANCES BONEY, Goldsboro

The greatest crowd that ever attended an Exposition of the Eastern Carolinas, yesterday voted Miss Frances Boney, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Boney of West Chestnut street, as Miss Goldsboro in the Senior Queen's contest and likewise voted Miss Miriam Stadler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. Stadler, as Miss Kinston. These two young women are now duly crowned Senior Queens at the Exposition, and were each awarded $250 in recognition of the queenly attributes which the votes of their friends denoted they were entitled to.

Miss Boney received 38,025 votes and in second in the Goldsboro and Wayne county voting was Miss Ruth Yelverton of Fremont who received 28,275.

Miss Stadler received 43,925 votes and running second in this class was Miss Martha McGowan of Wallace who received 34,275 votes.

More than 10,000 people thronged through the Exposition hall yesterday and last night and it was almost this morning before the great battery of adding machines which Secretary Bartlett had assembled could tabulate all the votes cast.

HOLD DEBATES THIS MORNING

Miss Langston and Mr. Powell On Affirmative; Miss Bizzell and Mr. Griffin on Negative

Beginning at 10:20 o'clock this morning before the student bodies of the three schools represented, Goldsboro, Kinston, and Wilson will carry through their triangular debate. Goldsboro will meet Wilson at Kinston, Kinston will meet Goldsboro at Wilson, and Wilson is scheduled to line up against Kinston in Goldsboro. The public is invited to hear the debates.

This debate was postponed from last Friday night, the regular time selected by the officials of the state contest. Many of the high schools throughout the state held their debates on this night, while others decided on a date a day or two earlier. The contests before the student bodies tomorrow will be the first of their kind ever held by the three schools. Heretofore, they have debated at night before very small crowds. The students are anxious to hear the query discussed, and though they will not be given the opportunity of hearing their own representatives, they have indicated a keen interest in the contest.

Should both the affirmative and the negative teams of a school win out, those debaters would win the privilege of going to Chapel Hill to enter the finals. Goldsboro is boasting of a strong combination this year, Mary Langston and Dan Powell, on the affirmative, and Eleanor Bizzell and Ezra Griffin, on the negative have worked hard on their debates this spring in an effort to reach the finals. All have taken part in the class debates and won out above others competing for places on the triangular team. The contest at the high school is scheduled to begin promptly at 10:20 and all those from the city interesting in hearing the query, "Resolved, that the McNary-Haugen farm relief bill should be enacted by Congress" are invited to come out. The debates will be over in time for an early lunch.

E. J. FULGHUM IS INJURED

Falls Three Stories When He Steps Into Elevator Shaft In Wilmington

E. J. Fulghum, local insurance and real estate man, sustained a broken leg when he stepped into an elevator shaft and fell three stories in Wilmington about midnight Saturday, according to word received here. Details of the accident were not available but authentic information received contradicted earlier reports that Mr. Fulghum was in a critical condition.

Mr. Fulghum got out of one elevator according to a report and stepped into what he thought was the door of another. It was an empty shaft and he fell three stories to the basement level. Friends said that it was remarkable that he escaped with his life.

Captain Jack Fulghum father of the injured man, planned to go to Wilmington this morning if the condition of his son will permit will bring him from the hospital to Goldsboro.

BLAMES KLAN FOR RIOTING

Roy S. Barclay Makes Allegations At Hearing on Klan Injunction Suits

PITTSBURG, Penn., April 9.—(AP)—Riots, a kidnapping and attempted lynching were laid at the door of Pennsylvania real, Knights of the Ku Klux Klan by Roy S. Barclay, a former Cyclops and private investigator for a Pittsburg lodge of the hooded order who testified today at the Federal court hearing on Klan injunction suits.

Appearing in behalf of five former klanmen who have asked the court to appoint a receiver for the organization in Western Pennsylvania, Barclay said he participated with other members of the order in the escapades at the direction of Sam D. Rich, former Grand Dragon in this state.

Detailing the riot at Carnegie, Pennsylvania, August 25, 1923 in which a Kiansman was killed and several others injured in a battle with townspeople Barclay, who formerly was identified with Central Klan, Pittsburg, testified Imperial Hiram W. Evans gave the signal for the march of the members from a field into the town of Carnegie. He said Rich rode in the front line of automobiles at the time the clash occurred between Klansmen and Carnegie citizens.

GERMAN PLANE STILL ON SOIL

DUBLIN, April 9.—Because of continued inclement weather, the transatlantic flight attempt of the Junkers monoplane Bremen will not start today.

Judge Announces Winners In Big Exposition Parade

After a lengthy deliberation the parade judges granted first, second and third prizes respectively to the following as having the best floats in the Eastern Carolina Exposition yesterday afternoon: Young Billy Spicer, Royall and Borden and Business and Professional Womens club. A said by one of the judges, "It was a difficult problem, indeed, to decide just who were the leading three. H. Well and Bros., float in white and pink and pretty girls was truly a hard one to relegate outside the pale of the winners, as was the Street Cleaning department of the city of Goldsboro which included the inebric gambols of Red Morgan, the town's leading time guesser, Sue and her baby and the other finery of the cleaning works; Talbot Park's string of coal, wood and sand transportation equipment with color scheme carried out complete by way of the drivers of the coal vehicles." This judge said further that while little Billy Spicer's got up as infinitesimal which won first prize lacked a lot in elaborateness it made up in uniqueness, what with the old time colored mammy, and the baby held tight in loving arms, and the pseudo country doctor, catching the eye easily as the premier claimant, and as being so strictly in accord with the name Pioneer Hospital. The snow drifts of cotton the polar maid miss Mary Sherard—complying with the advertised coolness of the General Electric refrigerator won second for the firm of Royall and Borden. L. B. Sasser Died Monday

Wilmingtonian Was En Route To E. D. L. Gurley Funeral Here When Injured

L. B. Sasser drug store owner and one of the most prominent men in Eastern North Carolina, died at the James Walker hospital, Wilmington, a few minutes after 12 o'clock, yesterday morning as a result of injuries received when the automobile in which he was riding turned over 5 miles east of Kananville at 10 o'clock Sunday morning. Three other occupants of the car received only slight injuries.

Dr. Sasser was en route for Goldsboro to attend the funeral of Ed D. L. Gurley, brother of N. Gurley, another occupant of the car. C. D. Bogges, son in law of Mr. Gurley, was driving the car. His wife the daughter of Mr. Gurley, was also in the car. The party was driving towards Goldsboro and the right rear tire had a blowout, causing the car to swerve over a four-foot embankment. The left front wheel was crushed, and as a result the car turned completely over throwing Dr. Sasser against the window when he received the blow that must have been fatal to him. After turning over, the car righted itself on the wheels.

Mr. Gurley received a scalp wound and the other occupants of the car were slightly bruised and sore. A Mrs. Thomas of Warsaw brought Mrs. Bogges to Wilmington, while Mr. Gurley was carried to Goldsboro by Arthur Smith. Bertis Eulis carried Mr. Bogges to Goldsboro and later brought Mr. Gurley back to Wilmington.

Dr. Sasser died a few minutes after 12 o'clock. Though suffering with a large gash on top of his head which seemed to paralyze him, he was conscious and able to talk.

Dr. Sasser has lived in Wilmington many years, and had made the drug business his occupation ever since he became one of the pioneers in that line. He was well known in fraternal circles.

Dr. Sasser was sixty-two years old and was a son of the late Captain A. L. Sasser of Fork township. He leaves three brothers, Geo. and David Sasser of Goldsboro, and Jack Sasser of Wayne county, and one sister, Mrs. T. M. Jordan of Raleigh. Funeral services will be held from the home this afternoon in Wilmington and the body will be taken to Jonesboro for interment.

RECOVER PART STOLEN MONEY

Negro Merchant Has Several Thousand Dollars And Valuable Bonds Taken

TARBORO, April 9.—(AP)—Officers today had recovered $6,000 of the sum stolen from the safe of O. R. James, wealthy negro merchant here, Saturday night.

Edward James, nephew of the man robbed, confessed to the theft and told officers where he had hidden the money in a hollow stump near Ahsokie. Young James is out on $1,000 bond until superior court can hear his case.

The elder James at first declared $22,000 had been stolen but now says that the cash was considerably less than that, stocks running the total to the first figure. All the stocks were found through behind a bureau in his home.

Edward James' father, wealthy Negro of near Ahsokie, went on his bond.

MURDER TRIAL OPENS

BREVARD, April 9.—(AP)—The trial of Joe Revis and his daughter, Mrs. Laura Robinson, charged with the murder of Ulys Robinson, the woman's husband, opened in Transylvania superior court here this morning. The selection of the jury was still underway shortly before noon.
