HUNTERS HAD BEST OF LUCK

Report to Department of Conservation That They Took 4,529,000 Pieces

Sufficient game birds and animals, if evenly distributed among the population, to give an average of almost two to each person in the State fall before the guns of North Carolina hunters during the first seasons under the new State-wide game laws.

Preliminary estimates of the toll of game killed during the seasons by Wade H. Phillips, director of the Department of Conservation and Development, from the tabulations now being made from the first State game census are 4,529,000 pieces.

These figures are based on estimates from reports of approximately 40 percent of the hunters of North Carolina gathered by means of card questionnaires sent out by the department to more than 135,000 licensed hunters.

Leading the field in popularity with the hunters is the lowly rabbit, the most ubiquitous of all of the game birds and animals, being found in every section. A total of 1,565,370 cottontails went down before the hunters, or slightly more than one-third of the combined bag of the nimblest.

Wayne county hunters got their full share of the game, cards sent in showed.

Expects No Serious Bolt From Democracy

ATHENS, Ga., July 9.—(AP)—Belief that there would be no serious bolt in Southern Democracy this fall was expressed here tonight by Robert Lathan, editor of the Asheville, N. C. Citizen, a speaker at the opening of the Institute of public affairs and international relations at the University of Georgia.

"The best guarantee that there will be no serious bolt on the part of Southern Democrats is that the thinking people of the south are not ready to countenance now the development of a situation which might result in the reappearance of the negro as a formidable factor in the State in this section."

Larry Newsome Will Not Go To Electric Chair July 13th

RALEIGH, July 9.—Larry Newsome and Wilbur McLeod, negroes, slated to die in the electric chair at State's Prison on Friday, July 13, will not be executed on that date.

Although neither of the two doomed men had perfected appeals before the Supreme Court, Frank Nash, Assistant State Attorney General, held Monday that the high court would have to pass upon both appeals before either of the negroes could be electrocuted. His action, he said, was based upon the ground that the notice of appeal given by attorneys for both negroes was sufficient to stay execution until after the Supreme Court has acted. The appeals will not be argued until the fall term of the Supreme Court.

Newsome, originally sentenced to die from Wayne County, was granted a new trial. Due to the violent

"A Trans-Atlantic Passenger"

If plucky Amelia Earhart's heart fluttered in pride at the way New York welcomed her back home, she was too modest to admit it. She kept in the background as much as possible, insisting that her two companions, Wilmer Stultz and Lou Gordon, deserved all of the credit for the flight. "I was only a passenger," she added. The above picture was made after she had reached the suite of rooms provided for her by the city.

Kiwanis Club Hears Report Of Seattle, Wash., Meeting

The principal feature of last night's Kiwanis program was a report of the delegates trip to the International Kiwanis convention at Seattle, Washington. The report was made by Dr. A. G. Woodward who described the entire trip in a humorous story. At the beginning, he said that one of his features his memory was poor possibly due to the fact that the delegates were toured through Canada, before the convention. He stated, however, that he was positive that the beauty of the far west was principally due to the efforts of the people themselves, for he saw no evidence of natural advantages. In the morning, with all their eyes open, the delegates resembled a group of gardeners during a late season. He said the showing of the country reminded him of a beautiful country he carried in an out of doors every day for a year and finally produces a solitary bud which is lauded by every woman in the neighborhood—not because of the beauty of the flower but because of the trouble it has been. The far west is wonderful, he said, not because of the unfavorable conditions they have overcome. By way of explanation he stated that many of their parks had every growing plant brought in from some other section and were kept alive only by continuous artificial watering. Even vacant lots and those owned by the poorer people showed clearly that the country was not naturally beautiful.

Members of the club were reminded of the fact that next Monday night, in Ladies night, the club will entertain their wives and sweethearts with a chicken fry at the new country club grounds. The Goldsboro baseball team has also been invited as guests of the evening.

It was reported that the Girl Scout Camp had a deficit of fifty dollars. The club voted twenty dollars toward paying the amount.

Mr. Frank Taylor who was in charge of the program presented an attendance prize to the member most nearly answering three questions: What was the total number of votes in the Democratic National convention? What is the total number of votes in the United States Electoral College? How many votes has North

MALFEASANCE CHARGE MADE

Mt. Olive Magistrate is Defendant in Case Brought by B. C. Journey

Malfeasance in office is the charge against D. G. Rhodes, Mt. Olive magistrate, which will be called in Wayne County Recorder's court, Monday July 16, the case having been postponed upon petition of counsel for the defense when called before Judge Bland yesterday.

Yesterday was the lightest session of the court in weeks, only one defendant being sentenced and the court ended at noon. Generally the Monday session runs through until late in the afternoon.

The charge against Esq. Rhodes was brought by B. C. Journey of Mt. Olive and the original bill of indictment set forth 15 separate counts. Judge Bland, however, yesterday honored petition that some nine of the counts be quashed.

Hooks to the effect that during a particular month he had not had any time to pass on in the matter of record to the Clerk of Court as is prescribed by law. Mr. Journey's allegations hold that this was in error and offers several cases which, the indictment states, were disposed of during that month and should have been reported in compliance with the law.

Failure to properly report cases to the Clerk of Court, and acceptance of fees and commissions from the plaintiff in several criminal actions, and civil suits are charged against Mr. Rhodes, who has for a number of years acted as magistrate in Mt. Olive and is highly thought of over the county.

Tom Exum charged with driving an automobile while drunk, was the only defendant whose case was ended yesterday. He was fined $50 and costs and sentenced to serve 90 days on the roads, the sentence not to take effect if he does not drive an automobile next year.
