DARED POLICE TO TRY ARREST OF PICKETERS

Trouble in Connection With Textile Strike Raging in Massachusetts

NEW BEDFORD, Mass., July 30.—(AP)—The militia was called out here tonight following the arrest of 256 picketers late today. At 9 o'clock tonight a howling mob of 10,000 had surrounded the central police station where the arrested strikers were held, at 9:30 a company of militia left the state armory for the police station.

The riot next was read and the troops with fixed bayonets drove the crowd from the street. One man was reported to have received a bayonet wound. The arrests followed issuance of a defy by organizer Fred E. Beal of the Textile Mill Committees.

He challenged the police to go to the Whiteman mill and arrest the picket line which was detailed there contrary to police order.

Two large automobile loads of patrolmen halted in the midst of the pickets, arrested organizer Beal and as many more as they could plane in two vans.

They hustled the prisoners to the police station, returned and arrested another truck load of picketers, who had formed another line.

When the arrests were made there was considerable resistance, but in many cases the picketers actually walked up to the trucks and invited the police to take them. One woman threatened about with an umbrella while six officers were placing her in a truck. The arrested picketers waved their hands, sang songs, and other wise were very noisy as the truck rolled toward the police station.

All of them were charged with parading without a permit.

DEPUTIES MAKE SEVERAL RAIDS

The fourth liquor raid in the last three days was made yesterday when Wayne county deputies poured out two barrels of beer in the Indian Springs church section of Indian Springs township. This brought the total number of barrels poured at in Indian Springs in the raids to 14, or about 600 gallons.

Twelve barrels were poured out in the Kelly Springs section Saturday morning. As the deputies—Kornegay, Smith and Gardner, entered the woods where they found the blockade makings, there was a succession of shots as if to warn operator. A fresh trail to the beer showed recent coming and going, but if there was anyone at the site, they took to their heels at the warning shots and made good their escape.

The Bostic filling station, the station nearest the Neuse River bridge on highway number 40, was also raided by the deputies. A half gallon of whiskey was taken, a number of empty fruit jars and a quantity of cartons for pint sized bottles.

Sunday morning the deputies joined Chief Dorsey of Fremont in a raid not far from Fremont. At the approaching of the home of L. T. Burne, Bob Sullivan was seen to streak out of the house. Following him the officers found where he had placed a half gallon of booze. Turner was arrested and placed under bond on a charge of having whiskey in his possession for the purpose of sale. Held For Iredell Sheriff, Woman Tells Strange Story

A strange story was that which Mrs. Lovey Smith told Wayne county officers yesterday when they arrested her at the home of Ethel Vaughn on highway 40 south of the city upon receipt of instructions from Stateville authorities.

A telegram from the sheriff of Iredell county had requested Sheriff Grant to arrest the woman and to hold her. A capias had been issued for her in Iredell, the telegram to the local officer said, but did not give the nature of the charge.

Voluntarily and entirely on her own accord Mrs. Smith gave what she said was her version of the case. She had been going with a wealthy Stateville man. He became infatuated with her and changed a $25,000 insurance policy to her as beneficiary. Now he is dead, the woman told officers.

Senior Senator From Georgia Announces He Will Support Candidacy of Gov. Smith

CHARLOTTE, July 30.—(AP)—A state wide conference of anti-Smith Democrats to perfect plans to defeat Al Smith for president will be held at Raleigh August 10 instead of August 7, as originally announced. C. A. Upchurch, superintendent of the North Carolina Anti-Saloon league said here today.

The meeting will perfect "concrete plans for a campaign to beat Smith and any other candidate who is wet", Mr. Upchurch said.

ATLANTA.—(AP)—Wm. J. Harris, Georgia's senior U. S. Senator and dry leader in a formal statement tonight pledged himself to support the presidential candidacy of Governor Alfred E. Smith and called upon the Georgia Democrats to stand solidly back of the national ticket.

Senator Harris, who actively opposed the nomination of Smith, both before the national convention at Houston and on the grounds, there as chairman of the Georgia delegation, said the prohibition plank drafted by the party was stronger than that adopted by the Republicans and that the elimination of the prohibition issue left no other matter of such importance and to bring about a division in the Democratic party.

Declaring that he did not believe that prohibition would be endangered by the election of governor Smith could change the prohibition laws.

GASOLINE TAX WILL PAY BILL

Frank Page Says Roads Will Be Paid For and Be Self-Maintaining

RALEIGH, July 30.—(AP)—North Carolina's highway system, by the end of the present fiscal year will be self-perpetuating and self-increasing with no necessity for the state ever issuing more highway bonds, if the gasoline tax is kept inviolate for highway purposes, in the opinion of Frank Page, highway commissioner.

The meeting will perfect "concrete plans by the commissioner in an address before the Raleigh Rotary club and was, he said, the first time he had publicly expressed such a belief. Several months ago, the highway commission said it would not ask the 1929 General Assembly for a bond issue, but today's statement by Mr. Page was the first declaring that no more highway bonds would be asked.

Amplifying his statement, the commissioner said that under the present gasoline tax and with normal increase in automotive traffic, the state would be able to increase its highway system at the rate of 350 miles a year, maintain all its roads, pay interest on all its indebtedness, and completely clear its highway debt by the year 1952.

RECLUSE TELLS STRANGE STORY

Housekeeper Died in April and Body Was Placed Under His Bed

CHICAGO, July 30.—(AP)—The body of a woman who had been dead since April was found in a crude coffin beneath the bed of August Kessler, aged recluse and religious cult leader in the county forest preserve here today.

Kessler, 63 years old, is in the county hospital, as the result of a beating yesterday by two men and an unidentified woman as he led a group of worshippers in prayer before an altar he had erected there.

Despite his critical condition he was questioned by nurses who said that he told them the woman was his cousin, Claudia Hein, who died last April without the attentions of a physician. He had no money and could not afford to pay burial expenses, he related, so made the crude casket and placed it beneath his bed. She had been his housekeeper for 26 years. An investigation into the cause of her death is underway.

Kessler called himself a retired Roman Catholic Priest, but the churchy officers here have no record of him. Neighbors said Kessler had worshipped at his altar in the forest for 35 years, and that many persons attended his services and frequently sought his counsel.

Threatened Padlock Filling Stations That Violate Law

Padlocking of Wayne County filling stations where officers discover white key was threatened by Judge D. H. Bland in Recorder's court yesterday morning, as he disposed of a case against Lloyd Bostic, operator of the station just north of the Neuse river bridge on highway number 40.

"I understand that I have the authority to close places found to have whiskey, have the authority under law," said Judge Bland in open court yesterday "I shall hate to do this, but it looks as if this may be the only resort to ending the nuisance, which some places threaten to become," he was quoted.

BRINGS BACK FISH STORIES

Goldsboro Party Caught 150 Pounds of Trout, Making Season Record

Stories of catches of trout so heavy as to require three men to carry the weight from the boat to the hotel, tales of landing the biggest stringer seen in the sound in a hundred years. These were items brought by W. H. Langston and party when they returned from a week's fishing trip at Swansboro. In the party were Mrs. Langston, Mr. and Mrs. Moses Round tree, and children, and Mrs. Willie Zobel.

"We made the biggest trout catch of the season," said Mr. Langston yesterday, Irwin got down there just about the time we were getting back with our big load of trout, and you know he is a fisherman. Had a whole box of rods, reels, lines, sinkers, and hooks, various and sundry other accoutrements. Our catch just set him wild. Then he went out and had the worst of luck.

"I got a tug on my life while out on a trip, a tug that just about pulled me overboard, and swayed the boat part around. The Captain thought I had a big flounder. Whatever it was I would get it about out of the water and then it would take the bit in its teeth and run off again. Finally I pulled it out of the water enough to see it was a stinger, and a whopper too. The tail was 2 foot 6 inches long, and the boat captain looped this off before he pulled the fellow onto the boat. They said they hadn't ever seen one as big as that down there before."
