JEALOUS, SHE SHOOTS WOMAN

Kentucky Woman Kills Rival As She Talks To Husband

SOMERSET, Ky., Aug. 10.—(AP)—Mrs. Logan Perkins, 37, of Whitesville City was in jail facing a charge of murder here today as the result of her revenge on a woman whom she charged with breaking up her home.

Shortly after midnight this morning, Mrs. Perkins walked down the aisles of a Southbound Southern passenger train, a sit was passing Ferguson, two miles south of here, stopped behind a seat where her husband was talking with Miss Pearl Owens, 37, of Louisville, and fired twice, killing Miss Owens instantly.

While passengers in the lay coach scrambled for safety, Conductor Dan Lomench snatched the pistol from Mrs. Perkins' hand before she had an opportunity to fire again.

Mrs. Perkins refused to explain her action. She was placed under arrest and taken to a hospital where it was said she was in a state of nervous collapse. She will be arraigned at a preliminary hearing tomorrow.

Perkins, who said she had boarded the train at Somerset and had taken a seat beside Miss Owens, with whom he was acquainted, declared that his wife was jealous. He said he had an appointment to meet Miss Owens.

27 HURT WHEN TRAINS CRASH

Some Mistake In Orders Causes Electric Trains To Meet Head-On

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 10.—(AP)—Twenty-seven persons were taken to hospitals here tonight suffering from bruises and lacerations while many others were slightly injured in head-on crash late today between two Pittsburgh-Washington, Penn. interurban trolley cars.

None of those in hospitals was said to be seriously hurt.

The cars, heavily loaded with passengers, came together on a small dike on the outskirts of the Pittsburgh business district. Despite the impact which demolished the front ends of the trolleys, both remained on the rails.

Flying glass from the windows struck the passengers, many of whom were thrown from their seats, and the aisles were filled with struggling men, women and children.

BRING SUIT TO COLLECT TAXES

Three Alleged Whiskey Manufacturers Must Pay Income Tax Provisions

GREENSBORO, Aug. 10.—(AP)—Three alleged whiskey manufacturers will be tried in Federal court here, probably this fall, for failure to pay taxes as required by the revenue act of 1928.

Ed Cross, of Jackson Springs; R. L. Dixon, Yadkin county; and W. R. Stovall, Lenoirville are defendants in suits for collection for back due taxes filed in Federal court by district attorney Gavin. In the action against Dixon, the United States of America and Gilliam Grissom, collector of internal revenue, charge that on about March 23, 1928, the defendant did unlawfully and willfully manufacture intoxicating liquor in violation of the act and that he did not pay tax on his still or on 12 gallons of whiskey.

Offer Fremont $62,500 For Its Light Distributing System

(Special To The News)

FREMONT, Aug. 10.—Mayor C. R. Aycock announced today that the Fremont board of town commissioners have unanimously agreed to sell the transmission line from Goldsboro to Fremont and the town distributing electric light system to the Carolina Power and Light company for the sum of $62,500. The sale will be subject to a vote of the citizens in a special election with a special registration, which will be held in October.

The Carolina Power and Light company proposes to reconstruct the line and install modern equipment, open a branch office here, and put in effect standard rates in force throughout the state as approved by the State Corporation commission. A mass meeting will be called in the near future when the full details and explanations will be given to the citizens. In the meantime, a copy of the agreement is on file in the office of Mayor Aycock in the town hall. The citizens of Fremont are invited to call and to study it.

There are outstanding $7,000 in electric light bonds which would be retired. The balance of the $62,500 offered by the Carolina Power and Light company might be used in retiring other indebtedness of Fremont.

Mayor Aycock and the commissioners are enthusiastic about the agreement reached with the company and predict that the election will carry by a large major-ity, since the rates for electricity will be less than the rates now paid by users of current in Fremont.
