WESTERN NORTH CAROLINA IS MENACED SEVERE FLOOD

Asheville Is Taking Steps Prevent Loss Life As Waters Rise

Train Service From Asheville Salisbury; Asheville-Spartanburg Stopped

ORDER PEOPLE LEAVE CITY DAM TERRITORY

Spartanburg, S. C. Is Also in Grips of River Gods For Second Time

ASHEVILLE, Aug. 15.—(P)—With slides blocking highways and railroads out of Asheville tonight and the French Broad and Swannanoa rivers rising at the rate of 1 foot an hour, and out of their banks at many points. Authorities were taking steps to protect the lives of those who live in the area affected by the flood waters.

No train service has been possible between Asheville and Salisbury and Asheville and Spartanburg since noon today. The black Mountain and Hendersonville highways are blocked by flood waters.

The city of Asheville has notified people living below the huge Bee Tree dam to vacate their property and officers are assisting people, who dwell along the river banks to get out. A number of families have so far refused to move with the waters leaping within a foot of their doors. Patrols have been placed on all highways that are menaced to warn motorists. Measurements taken by the weather bureau here tonight indicated that the French Broad river was standing at 7 feet above zero, four feet out of banks, the highest since 1916 when it reached 23 feet. So far no loss of life has been reported.

Highway number 10 between Asheville and Old Fort is blocked by a slide which took a chunk of the highway 100 feet long and dropped it down on the railroad, completely blocking the track.

The Salvation Army here has 20 refugees driven out of their homes and is expecting more.

SPARTANBURG, S. C., Aug. 15.—(P)—Battling through a heavy rain accompanied at times by stiff winds, Spartanburg was early tonight facing a storm that promised to inflict more damage than that of last Saturday morning. Two mills, flooded Saturday are again already partly under water, with Chingtepin and Fair Forest creeks threatening the villages. Streets in the city were being badly washed tonight. The gas plant put back in operation Monday after being flooded Saturday, is again under water and the city is without gas.

ATLANTA, Ga.—(P)—Serious flood conditions were widespread over Georgia tonight as the tropical storm blew itself out in a torrent of rain over the upper watersheds of Georgia and Alabama.

Only one death has been reported, but preliminary estimates gave enormous damage to crops, highways and other lines of communications, with several towns virtually isolated an inhabitants of lowlands along the rivers warned of rising waters. The most acute situation appeared tonight at Milledgeville and Macon, Ga., where flood waters menaced sections of the residential district. The Ocmulgee river at Macon already had inundated a score of homes and several dwellings were claimed by the Oconee river at Milledgeville.

As the deputies—Kornegay, Whitley and Coker, drove into Dawson's yard, he espied them from a point where he was cropping tobacco. He at once took to the woods.

Warsaw Youth Brought To Hospital Here Has Right Cheek Blown Off

"Unloaded" Gun Was in Hands Of James Guy, Nine Years Of Age

INJURED BOY IS NOAH BLACKBURN, WHO IS 17

Guy Lad Fired At Blackburn At Latter Panned By Window

Noah Blackburn, 17, son of D. J. Blackburn, of Warsaw, is the latest victim of an unloaded gun.

Blackburn was brought to Spier's Sanatorium yesterday with his right cheek shot away, part of his right cheek bone missing and the lower right eye lid gone from an "unloaded" gun which had been in the hands of James Guy, 9 year old son of Walter Guy of Warsaw.

Barring eventualities, young Blackburn will recover, but when he gets well, the right side of his face will be a new one for surgeon yesterday set about the job of building one to take the place of the one the "unloaded" gun carried away. Lockjaw is the unwelcome visitor that the surgeons are now set about guarding against. Warsaw citizens who brought Blackburn to the hospital here related how the accident occurred. Noah was passing the window of a room in which the Guy lad was playing with a shot gun. The latter pulled the weapon up, pointed it at Blackburn, and pulled the trigger. The results have already been told.

The gun was evidently not pointed directly at Noah, else his head would have been blown off, such was the closeness of the range. As it was a portion of the load tore through his face.

Another Version
Since the above was written Chief of Police H. B. Hewitt of Warsaw has given The News over long distance telephone, another version of the case. "As far as I can gain," he said, "There had been some trouble between the boys. It is said that the big boy—Blackburn—had beaten the little one. Later he went around to James' house. This is when the shooting took place. The Warsaw chief said that no warrants would be issued.

Assistant Secretary of Commission Speaks Before County Commissioners

WRIGHTSVILLE BEACH, N. C., Aug. 15.—(P)—Correct accounting in county government fiscal affairs is necessary for the avoidance of deficits, the state association of county commissioners was told at its annual convention here today by W. E. Easterling, assistant executive secretary of the county government advisory commission.

Unless the accounting department is so systematized that the responsible officials can tell at any time the exact status of the county's finances, Mr. Easterling warned that it is almost impossible for the authorities to escape shortages.

Information that would have been provided by a proper method of keeping accounts, under the practice in many counties, has not been available to county authorities "and the result has been a financial condition at the end of the period in which obligations were in excess of resources.

"Not knowing this condition," he continued, "provision was not made to cure it, and the result has been an accumulation of deficits carried forward from one period to another until it became necessary to issue funding bonds. Thus, the commissioners have had to stumble along with uncertain footing and have levied taxes with the view of raising revenues to meet the actual needs of the county. They have never been informed how they could systematically reduce operating costs to a minimum.

"I know of one county in the state where bonds were issued since the enactment of the finance act to fund an accumulation of current obligations which will require a tax rate of nearly 25 cents on the $100 of valuation to pay the interest and maturity payments. In addition to this, accumulated indebtedness for operating the schools of the county was funded under provisions of the 1923 school law which requires an annual tax rate of 15 cents. A tax rate of 44 cents is the price the taxpayers in that county are having to pay for the mistakes of mal-informed administrative officials."

"The only assurance for the prevention of deficits," Mr. Easterling declared, "is strict adherence to the adopted plan or budget, and this is impossible without correct accounting as a guide."

MEMBERS USING CREDIT BUREAU

Monthly News Bulletin of Goldsboro Merchants Association Is Issued

That the credit bureau of the Goldsboro Merchants Association is being used more generally by members is shown in the figures of ratings furnished for the past month, as listed in the monthly news bulletin of the association now being distributed to members. Ratings of 175 people were furnished members by the association.

Two hundred inquiries for ratings were received and 48 inquiries for ratings from other cities were forwarded. Forty credit reports were supplied associations in other cities.

Members of the association are urged to get acquainted with the men selling tobacco here. The following note in the Bulletin makes the suggestion:
In just a few days now our 1923 tobacco market will open. We know from experience that our tobacco growers appreciate seeing our merchants on the warehouse floor. Let's make it a point to visit our market not only on the opening day, but run up to the warehouses every time you have an opportunity. Let the farmers know that you are interested in the prices that they are receiving for their tobacco. Let's don't flood the warehouse floors with speech sales circulars, but instead let us use hand shakes and words of encouragement and appreciation.

OHIO PRIMARY WON BY DRYS

Anti-Saloon League Apparently Nominates Both Democratic and GOP Candidates

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Aug. 15.—(P)—The Anti-Saloon League apparently has nominated its candidate for Governor of Ohio on both the Republican and Democratic ticket on the face of incomplete returns from yesterday's state primary, but the G. O. P. race appeared so close tonight that an official count may be necessary to determine the result.

Returns from all but one precinct in the state indicated that Myers Y. Cooper Cincinnati business man, who carried the dry league endorsement, has again received the Republican nomination for governor.

These returns gave him a majority of 5,568 over Congressman James T. Egan of Sandusky, his closest rival. Congressman Martin L. Davey of Kent, the League picked candidate for governor on the Democratic ticket, appeared to have won a convincing victory over Peter Witt, Cleveland. Incomplete returns gave him a lead of 26,000.

Senator Carter Glass of Virginia, conferring with him yesterday, and remained an overnight guest. Glass would not comment regarding the conference. Entering into a long discussion of political trends and needs, Daniels declared that while there was some unrest in the South over Smith's prohibition views and as much depended upon what he would say upon the subject in his acceptance speech on next Wednesday night, he believed the
