SMITH RECITES STORY G. O. P. "BLACK CHAPTER"

Record Does Not Show Hoover Has Raised His Voice to Protest Acts

Oil Man Sent Communication Protesting to Hoover of Teapot Dome Leasing

TWO HIGH REPUBLICANS NOW IN PRISON FOR GRAFT

Questions Statement That Last 7 1/2 Years Have Been Period of Leadership

HELENA, Mont., Sept. 24.—(AP)—Reciting what he termed a "long tale of corruption intrigue and treason against the government itself," on the part of Republicans charged with the administration of the nation's affairs during the last 7 1/2 years, Governor Smith tonight declared he had searched in vain for any word from Herbert Hoover of "protest, of condemnation, of repudiation of this black chapter in his party's history."

The Democratic presidential nominee recalled the oil lease disclosures and court action growing out of them, as well as revelations of wrong doing on the part of Charles R. Forbes, director of the Veterans Bureau, and Thomas W. Miller, as alien property custodian, which landed them in prison, and asked whether there was no responsibility for this resting on the Republican party.

In a campaign speech prepared for delivery here in the home city of Senator Thomas J. Walsh, who prosecuted the Senate oil enquiry, the New York governor declared that testimony in the courts or before the senate investigators showed that the leasing of the naval oil reserves, was discussed in the cabinet of the Republican president of the United States; that an oil official had sent a communication to Secretary Hoover, "protesting against the secret leasing of Teapot Dome" and added: "The record of the last 7 1/2 years is as well known to the Republican candidate for president as to any other man in the United States. Nobody will deny that Mr. Hoover sat in the cabinet for 7 1/2 years, yet I search in vain for any word from him of protest, of condemnation or of repudiation of the black chapter in his party's history."

"On the contrary, in the face of that record in his speech of acceptance he said 'The record of these 7 1/2 years constitutes a period of rare courage and leadership and constructive action. Never has a political party been able to look back upon a similar period with more satisfaction.'"

"Would Mr. Hoover have the American people believe that in the light of the disclosures mentioned there was any rare courage, any leadership, or any constructive action?"

Floods Drive Foxes From Swamp Lands

Not only have the floods along the Neuse broken up swamp hidden distilling plants, but they have driven foxes by the score to the highlands, residents of the county reported yesterday. It was estimated that 15 were killed over the week end. Sheriff Grant told the best story in relating how he ran over one with his automobile on Highway number 10 Saturday night. "Biggest fox I've ever seen," said the sheriff. Another automobile was seen with three fine ones piled on the running board.

DELAY OPENING WAYNE SCHOOLS

Because of Conditions Incident To Flood, Schools Open On October 15

The rural schools in Wayne county will not open until the fifteenth of October this year. Plans had been made for the opening at the usual time on the first of October, but on account of the many bad roads and bridges over which the school trucks will have to travel, it was decided to postpone the date for two weeks.

The annual conference for teachers will be held on the 11th and 12th of October. A number of prominent speakers have been secured for this conference.

The delayed opening of the schools will permit the farmers to pick out a larger amount of cotton than heretofore and it is hoped that a better attendance of the children will result during the first month of the school session.

YOUNGSTERS MAKE FLIGHT

Jos. Williamson, Jr., 4, and Marie Belk, 3, Take Ride With Stewart

Al Stewart, chief pilot for the Carolina Airline of Raleigh, added two young converts to the aviation denomination here Sunday. Jos. R. Williamson, Jr., aged four, went for a flight with his father. Mr. Williamson was in the Air Service during the War and feels about as much at home in an airplane as he does in a Ford. Junior is a chip off the old block.

"It was a great ride," the youngster told Stewart when he was back on the field, Mr. Williamson says. The boy shall fly his own plane before he is twelve years old.

Marie Belk, who will celebrate her fourth birthday next month, with her father, Henry Belk, was the next passenger after young Williamson. She didn't like it because she was so small she couldn't look over the side of the ship and wanted to stand up on the seat. Running true to her sex, Marie talked a string of something all the time she was in the air, but the motor made so much noise her words, all except four, were lost.

"Daddy, where's your hat?" were these words.

Stewart remained on the municipal field all day Sunday and did a good business, taking folks for a look at the flooded Neuse. All puffed up under its burden, the stream looked like the Mississippi, and from the way it staggered around curves it had had a hard time making up its mind which way to go.

"If the folks would provide me with a hangar on the field here," said Stewart, "I would see that a ship is kept here permanently. I'd move my family here and live in Goldsboro."

CLUB OBSERVES 8TH BIRTHDAY

Wives and Sweethearts of Kiwanians Entertained Last Evening

In the most splendid meeting in its history the Goldsboro Kiwanis Club had its eighth birthday dinner and party last evening. Seven o'clock found the balcony of Hotel Goldsboro filled with men and women, bedecked with caps, of various colors each bearing the Kiwanis emblem. All of the wearers were in a happy mood and full of anticipation for the coming events of the evening in which they were not to be disappointed. Entering the banquet room Kiwanians and guests seated themselves around the beautifully decorated tables and were soon enjoying the first course of delightful dinner served by Hotel Goldsboro.

Along with other decorations the table was supplied with balloons and noise making instruments for each one present. Liberal use was made of these.

Throughout the evening speeches were heard but Chas. Miller and Bob Edwards were allowed to give toast to the ladies. Songs were much in evidence. The real treat of the entertainment was found in vocal selections rendered by Mesdames John Morris, Will Spicer, Al Kerr, and Talbot Parker and Miss Mary Emma Giddens, the piano accompaniments being played by Miss Laurinda Hooks.

After the meal was finished what had been intermitted noise became a bedlam and it was with difficulty that Pres. Miller was able to get the floor. L. M. Ross, chairman of the entertainment, (Continued on page 5)

CITES RECORDS ASTO VETERANS

Col. Langston Contrasts New York Under Smith With Nation Under G. O. P.

Colonel John D. Langston, chairman of the State Democratic Veterans Organization in a statement issued to the press yesterday, contrasted record of Governor Smith and the Record of the Republican administration concerning ex service men.

The statement follows: The treatment accorded veterans of the United States by the Republican Administration establishes a record of governmental ingratitude that has no parallel in the history of any nation. Veterans of the world war, their wives and children, have been figuratively slapped in the face persistently by the party in power for the benefit of those who amassed fortunes while the war was in progress and who are continuing recipients of the Republican party hands out. The Democratic Veterans Organization proposes to let the electorate of this country know who is and who has been the friend of the veteran and his family and who has been hostile to his interests.

The contrast of the records of Governor Smith as head of the administration of the state of New York with the record of the Republican National Administration will convince the electorate of this country who still are grateful for the sacrifices made in 1917 and 1918 that the Republican Administration has been both heartless and selfish in dealing with adjusted compensation hospitalization, civil service as applied to ex service men, veteran employment, and the handling of veteran funds, while on the other hand the record of Governor Smith at the head of the great state of New York shows that he has been in thorough sympathy with the interest of veterans and their families and has fought and won bitter fights against the Republican party in his state to insure for the veteran and his family every resource within the power of the state. In his efforts in that state he was blocked by the Republican party at every step and finally took the stump to carry through an amendment to the state constitution to provide for a forty five million dollar bonus for the New York veterans. He won the fight.

What Governor Smith did for the veterans in that state as the head of the government, he will do for the veterans of the nation as the head of the national government, and the Republican party will always be found blocking his efforts in that respect.

The able bodied veterans of North Carolina want nothing from the government as "pay for their patriotism" as indicated by Coolidge. They do want, however, full protection of the interest of the disabled veterans. They want his money kept where it will not be stolen, and even if they do not get a basis of adjusted compensation as was applied to great quantities after the war, they want the sympathy and expression of gratitude from the government expressed in other form that veiled suggestion from the President that the veteran desires his patriotism bought and paid for.

Talks at 8 P. M. At Schoolhouse

Many Wayne County Boys Serviced With Him in Breaking Hindenberg Line

What will likely be the largest political gathering in Fremont in years will take place when General Lawrence D. Tyson, United States senator from Tennessee, will speak at the Fremont school house at 8 o'clock this evening. By virtue of the presence of General Tyson, Fremont will be one of the spots in the political limelight tonight. The meeting will launch the county canvass in Wayne and Democratic candidates will attend the gathering in a body.

The address to be made in Fremont will be one of three which the United States Senator will make in North Carolina.

W. A. Dees, chairman of the Wayne county Democratic executive committee, said last night that he expected that the number who will hear General Tyson tonight will exceed the number who heard J. W. Bailey open the campaign here last Wednesday. His remarks were predicated upon reports reaching him of large delegations of Goldsboro people who are going to the meeting and of information gathered in a trip through the Fremont section yesterday afternoon.

"I think that there will be a great many Goldsboro people present," said Mr. Dees, "for they tell me they are going, and around Fremont all Democrats are going out."

"I met one service man in Fremont this afternoon who recalled that General Tyson was his commander in the World War when he was serving in the Thirtieth Division. He told me that many a time he had given General Tyson the general's salute overseas."

"The folks know that a big man it is, do the talking and they are going to be there."

Veterans to Attend

The presence of General Tyson, who was in charge of the Thirtieth Division outfit that broke the Hindenberg line, will bring out many of the veterans of the county, it is expected. Col. Edgar H. Bala, chairman of the Democratic Veterans Organization of Wayne County, yesterday issued an appeal for all ex service men to attend the meeting.

Col. Bala said: General L. D. Tyson, United States senator from Tennessee, will speak at Fremont tomorrow night.

General Tyson commanded the famous 59th Brigade of the 30th division who broke the Hindenberg line just ten years ago, September 22. In this battle was many boys of Wayne county and some of them made supreme sacrifice.

It is desired that all the Veterans of Wayne county come out and help this old soldier.

Roads in Good Shape

Practically all the roads leading into Fremont are now in passable shape after last week's flood. It was stated, and road conditions should not keep any one at home. Highway 40 on both sides of town is and has been open.

COUNTY COMMISSIONERS DONATES ONE HUNDRED DOLLARS

Three rooms in Duplin County Courthouse at Kenansville have been set aside to be equipped as restrooms for farm women, Miss Carolyn F. P. Garrison, home agent, reports. The county commissioners donated $100 for the equipment, while the women will do the necessary painting and renovating. One of the rooms will be a nursery, with a negro woman on duty every week day to assist in caring for babies. Another room will be equipped as a reading room, and the third as a lounging room.

Neuse Falling Rapidly And Highway Will Soon Be Open

Flooded Neuse river fell rapidly all day yesterday and by this afternoon or tomorrow highway 40 South to Wilmington may again be passable. Wilmington may again be passable. which at crest time was piced at the Southerland gasoline plant, was moved on Sunday to the Thompson shelter and the highway last night was passable to an automobile for a greater distance than this. In Little Washington, where boats have been used by the residents for some days, the water fell seven inches yesterday. Announcement was made yesterday afternoon that the washout at Brook's Swamp, 10 miles South, had been repaired on forty, and that as soon as the water receded from the highway, traffic from Goldsboro to Wilmington could again be started. County roads in general suffered less than state highways, according to Engineer Sam D. Scott, who said (Continued on page 5)
