

GOV. SMITH BACK HOME FOR FEW DAYS OF REST

Will Decide Whether Or Not To Make Trip Into North Carolina

Right Now He Is Interested In Catching Up With His Sleep Schedule

Democratic Nominee Prevailed Upon Roosevelt To Accept Nomination

ALBANY, Oct. 2.—(AP)—Governor Smith returned home tonight from his first campaign tour as a presidential nominee. After an absence from Albany of 16 days, he was welcomed at the station by a band and a crowd of enthusiastic Democrats.

GOVERNOR SMITH'S TRAIN EN ROUTE TO ALBANY.—(AP)—Near the end of a journey into the heart of the West, Governor Smith this evening welcomed the prospect of a few days rest in the peaceful surroundings of the executive mansion at Albany.

There, as he puts it himself, the Democratic presidential nominee intends to catch up on sleep and gets himself primed, both physically and with material for speeches, for the final weeks of the campaign.

The governor's plans are indefinite. He reiterated today after leaving Rochester and the Democratic state convention that he did not know how long he would remain in Albany, where he would go on his next stump tour, or what he would discuss in the dozen or more speeches he will deliver before election day.

Definite details will be worked out within the next few days and probably before the end of the week it will be known whether the nominee agrees with some of his advisers that on the next trip he should swing into the South—into Virginia or North Carolina—and invade such border states as Tennessee, Kentucky and W. Virginia. It is a certainty that he will go into both Missouri and Maryland, speak in a few middle western cities and wind up his campaign in the East but further schedules are still in the making.

A little more than an hour after the Democratic convention had adjourned today the Governor's campaign special was on its way again, with Albany about five hours away. At a press conference held in the club car, the presidential nominee appeared elated over the state ticket put in the field by his party, particularly over the nomination of Franklin D. Roosevelt for Governor.

NASH'S PLANE MAKES RECORD

Telephone Wire Prevents "Miss Goldsboro" From Getting First Honor

The way it stands now Luther Nash, member of Boy Scout troop number 1, has the champion self-build model airplane. Young Nash's model holds the Goldsboro record among all contestants with 79 yards of fine flying.

That is the official record. John Lee Best, however, got his good plane built by himself, to stay in the air for 114 yards in an unofficial test.

Had not a telephone wire got in the way Billy Brown's "Miss Goldsboro" would have taken honors easily. Brown's "Miss Goldsboro" got away to a fine take-off and was going strong and rising rapidly when it hit a telephone wire and crashed.

Further tests are to be conducted later under the direction of W. W. Rivers, Scout Executive.

Catch 26-Pound Carp In A Dining Room

How would you like to go fishing in your own dining room and catch a 26 pounder. Some folks may think that that is the only way they would ever get a fish.

Well, that is what happened at the State Hospital for the Colored Insane following the recent flood. The dining room of the hospital was several inches in water from the rising of the Neuse. Employees set to work pumping out the water after the river had fallen discover, ed a 26-pound German carp in the room.

NO HOPE FOR SCHOONOVER

Former Goldsboro Man Shot By Wife, Who Fires In Self Defense

Little hope was held yesterday for the recovery of Edward Schoonover, former Goldsboro resident, who lies at the point of death in a Rocky Mount hospital, suffering from bullet wounds inflicted by his wife.

The Schoonovers lived in Goldsboro, two years ago and Schoonover was known as an excellent mechanic and a likeable man except when drinking. The shooting occurred in Louis bury, Va., which place the family had moved, early Sunday morning.

Police say Schoonover while intoxicated attempted to whip his wife seizing a pistol she fired twice at him. One bullet struck Schoonover in the shoulder and the other through his abdomen.

Mrs. Schoonover, police say, threatened to end her own life following the shooting of her husband and she is being closely guarded at her home by deputy sheriffs.

VISITORS ARE ROTARY GUESTS

Thomas O'Berry acted as toastmaster and presented Ray Armstrong and Rev. J. M. Daniel who bade the delegates and wives welcome to the city and to the occasion in the name of the club. Response was made by Mrs. W. J. Brogden of Durham.

Some seventy guests enjoyed the hospitality of the club.

Bushwhacking Campaign In Wayne Aimed At Democracy

The position of the Democratic party in Wayne county is as much in danger today as it was in the days when Captain Nathan O'Berry and his heroic cohorts held Wayne steady and true and saved the day in this district. This statement is made by The News upon receipt of reliable information as to the insidious campaign that is being waged against the Democratic nominees.

From this source it is learned that part of the county and from that source in another, and another and another, reports have been reaching The News the past few days of the campaign being carried on for the defeat of Democracy in Wayne. The campaign is being leveled in the main against Governor Smith and it is upon this issue that those working against the party are making their attacks, working quietly without public notice in little groups gotten together here and

WOULD YOU RECOGNIZE HIM?

CARNES EAG'R TO GET TO ATLANTA

Man Who Absconded With Baptist Money Wants Speedy Return

WINNIPEG, Man., Oct. 2.—Refusing to discuss details of his speculations and flight to Canada until after he has conferred with his attorneys, Clinton S. Carnes, absconding treasurer of the Southern Baptist Mission Board of Atlanta, Ga., today paced his cell, begging for speed in getting him back to Atlanta.

"No, I shall not fight extradition," he said, "My attorneys have advised me that such a course would be futile. Anyhow, I want to get back and have it over with."

Carnes was captured here late Friday after a nation wide search across the United States and Canada. He admitted his identity.

"The statement I made to Winnipeg detectives Saturday in which I said I did not steal $1,000,000 from the Baptist Board, is absolutely true," Carnes said.

"No, of course I will not admit how much I did get," he continued. "I never said I stole a dime, did I? If there is $1,000,000 missing from the Board's funds someone else must have gotten plenty. I don't care to discuss the case at all."

Carnes, dressed in gray trousers and a sweater coat, was nervous and ill at ease. Impatiently he rejected suggestions that he tell something regarding his movements since leaving Atlanta.

HERB CHANGES HIS SCHEDULE

Journeys to Elizabethtown On Saturday to Speak in Tennessee Mountains

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2.—(AP)—Revising his entire itinerary for the remainder of the campaign, Herbert Hoover today mapped out a new program which will see him in action on the drive for the presidency on election day, November 6.

This week end the Republican nominee will journey to Elizabethtown, Tenn., to speak in the Southern mountain town on Saturday. The following week he will move upon Boston where he will speak in Mechanics Hall November 15.

He will close his drive in the East the next week with a speech in the home town of Governor Smith, his opponent. The date for this speech in Madison Square Garden was changed to October 22 because of the conflict of his previous speaking date, October 13, with election registration in New York City.

Later in that city he will face westward again to journey across the continent to vote at his home in Palo Alto, Calif., stopping to make a speech in the Middle West. His final stroke of the campaign will be made in a radio address from his home on the night of November 5. The candidate cleaned up a number of campaign details at his home before turning to the daily round of conferences today at his headquarters.

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Oct. 2.—(AP)—Aided by three outsiders, Roy Dickerson, notorious bank robber and jail breaker, with two companions tonight overpowered a guard on Kilby prison wall and escaped by scaling the wall and squeezing through high tension wires.

Dickerson who was serving 20 to 25 years, was accompanied in his latest break by Frank Cook, alias, J. M. Cooley, serving a life sentence for burglary and Ivanhoe Silvey, farmer, "King of Bootleggers of Birmingham."

The alarm was given by the guard who was overpowered. A. G. Richards after he had removed strips of adhesive tape with which the convicts and their outside conspirators covered his mouth and eyes.

Richards said shortly before 6 o'clock tonight he was approached by three men, one of whom told him he was to be relieved, and made as if to present him a note but instead pushed a pistol into his face.

The trio overpowered him, before he could make an outcry, Richards said, then handcuffed him and covered his eyes and mouth with adhesive tape.

Dickerson and his two companions then scaled the wall, squeezed through high tension electric wires and using a rope ladder, dropped out side and vanished with their outside helpers in an automobile.

"It is entirely probable that the Federal Government will set aside this battlefield as a national Military park," Governor McLean said, "as it was one of the most important battles fought in the Civil War. It is expected that the government will require the state to purchase or condemn the land which will be necessary for the purpose and convey it without cost to the Federal Government, and the Federal Government may then assume control of it very much in the same way it has assumed control of the Battlefield of Moore's Creek Bridge, but nothing can be done unless Congress passes an act authorizing the battlefield to be established as a National Military park, it is expected that North Carolina senators and representatives in Congress, particularly Senator Simmons and Congressman Poirer, will become active in their efforts to have the necessary bill passed by Congress."

WHITE REPLIES TO ROBINSON

Offers $1,000 To Democratic Funds If Robinson Can Make Good Statement

EMPORIA, Kan., Oct. 2.—(AP)—William Allen White, Emporia editor and author, in a statement tonight, offered to contribute $1,000 to the Democratic campaign fund if Senator Joe Robinson, Democratic vice presidential nominee, can cite the date and place where the Kansas editor described Herbert Hoover as a "fat, pudgy, capon, sitting on eggs."

Senator Robinson attributed the phrase to Mr. White in an address last night in Wichita and added that Mr. White had referred to Senator Curtis as a "fat-wit."

"Senator Robinson," Mr. White said, "gives me more trouble than all my money. He keeps quoting things that I didn't say."

"If he can cite the date and place where I declared that any capon ever sat on eggs, I will give the Democratic campaign committee $1,000. Poor as I am at arithmetic, I can figure there is something biologically wrong about a capon sitting on eggs."

"Yet, I wish I had said it for certainly Mr. Hoover has hatched out a fine brood of trouble for the Democratic candidates, with the betting odds running 3 to 1 against the Tammany gladiators."

"If Senator Robinson is so keen about quoting my immortal prose here is a line for him—In the present sloppy shambles, dry Joe Robinson wears the harassed look of an anti-Saloon league preacher sitting tiptoe on the edge of his chair at a bartenders convention."

"As for Senator Curtis, I have found, sometimes in sorrow, that he is amply able to take care of himself."

State Council Federation of Women's Clubs Begins Sessions In City

PROF. FRANK GRAHAM SPEAKS TO DELEGATES

Mrs. Thomas O'Berry Outlines Projects Clubs To Work For This Year

Opening their two day session with a public meeting last night, delegates to the Council meeting of the North Carolina Federation of women's clubs were told by their president, Mrs. Thomas O'Berry, that the public health award goes to Pitt county. Mrs. O'Berry made this announcement in the course of outlining objectives to be worked for during the next few months. The year's program as given by the Goldsboro woman, preceded the feature address of the evening, made by Prof. Frank Graham of the University of North Carolina.

The award will be in the nature of a year's expert public health service by the National Child Health Association and the American Public Health Association valued at $5,000 and the work will be started in the late fall, Mrs. O'Berry said. The North Carolina Federation won the award in competition with the woman's club federations of the nation and upon the basis of health surveys completed by individual clubs.

The county selected for the work was chosen on the basis of accessibility, present public health work, well laid organization, rural school superintendent, and attitude toward public health work. Representatives of the State Board of Health, the Child Welfare Association and the Public Health Association and of the Federation of clubs named a committee which selected Pitt county for the work.

Prof. Graham spoke with the program of the woman's clubs of the state as given by Mrs. O'Berry, referring to the work being taken as the fourth American revolution, "The New American frontier" activities such as they are undertaken in club buildings, in North Carolina, the emphasis upon the individual, upon "human attitudes" and offer a "chance to adopt noble human attitudes than have ever existed in the world before."

"They call us to fresh adventures" declared Prof. Graham in an eloquent address "as they project new in intellectual and spiritual frontiers." Especially did the Chapel Hill professor urge the club women to lend their influence toward changing "North Carolina's shame" her rating with reference to public libraries. There are, he told the audience gathered in the auditorium of the working and sponsoring he declared place today, 1,500,000 people who are without access to any public library. There are 46 counties in the state, he continued, which do not have a public library of any sort.

"North Carolina ranks at the bottom of the union," he said, and pleaded with the club leaders to go back to their homes and to their homes and to play their part in changing this rating.

Program for Clubs "Don't be influenced by ready-made statements," said Mrs. O'Berry, in the course of her statement of the year's program. "Be fair and tolerant; bring honest, considered opinions to the ballot boxes and express them" and she stressed the responsibility of every club woman to study the platforms of the various parties and records of the various candidates and to exercise the full duty of citizens in the light of knowledge and reason.

The clubs will work this fall, she said, for multilateral treaty, for the Australian ballot, the eight months school law, renewal of the infancy and maternity act, and welfare work among women and children.
