Carson Resolution In House Would Provide $2,000,000 Loan Fund

Inhabitants or Areas Recently Stricken by Cyclones Could Make Loans

SENATE TO BE ASKED CONCUR IN APPROVAL

Resolution to Amend Carson's Suggestion Is Defeated in House

WASHINGTON, April 29.—(AP)—A resolution making available $2,000,000 for loans to farmers in the southern states swept by recent cyclone and hail storms, was passed today by the house and sent to the senate.

Carson explained that more than $2,000,000 of the original fund had not been used and his resolution would make that available for loans to farmers who suffered losses in the recent storms that swept Georgia, Florida and South Carolina.

An attempt by Representative Stegall, democrat Alabama, to add an additional $3,000,000 authorization failed, as did another he made to provide for loans for purchase of work animals.

Senator George, democrat, Georgia, sought immediate passage of a similar resolution in the senate but it was postponed for later consideration.

A bill to authorize the secretary of war to build a transmission line and dispose of power generated at Muscle Shoals was introduced by Senator McKellar, democrat, Tennessee.

HEFLIN TAKES ANOTHER FLING

Discusses His Favorite Topic of Roman Conspiracy to Rule America

WASHINGTON, April 29.—(AP)—Paving announced previously that he would speak on the Roman republic conspiracy, Senator Heflin occupied the floor of the senate for more than an hour today but said nothing to indicate he was speaking directly on that subject.

Early during the discussion Sen. Watson of Indiana, the Republican leader, offered to have the senate take a vote on the Senator's resolution asking the senate to condemn the treatment accorded him after he had made a Ku Klux Klan at Brocton, Senator Heflin, however, said he wanted to talk on the resolution a little longer. A vote was later denied the Alabamian by Sen. Watson.

Sen. Heflin waved a hand toward the Republican side of the chamber and said "some of the newspaper boys say you are playing politics by opposing my resolution and that you want to undo some of the work you carried on in the last campaign."

The Alabamian said "I would never favor a Catholic for president because 90 per cent Catholics do not believe in the American constitution strictly construed."

URGES DRASTIC MOVE CURB FLY

Alabama Commissioner Wants National Guard to Part of State Line

MONTGOMERY, Ala., April 29.—(AP)—Governor Bibb Graves had under consideration today a request of Commissioner S. M. Dunwoody of the state department of agriculture that the Alabama national guard be ordered out to patrol the Alabama, Florida line as a precaution against an invasion of the Mediterranean fruit fly.

Commissioner Dunwoody ordered every employee from his department who could be spared from regular duty to the state border to assist in the fight against the fly which is destroying the citrus crop in Florida and threatens to enter Alabama by the time the Satsuma crop begins to ripen.

Mount Olive Section Man Attempts to End Own Life

Ernest Murphy, 40 year old farmer, living on the Waters farm about three miles west of Mount Olive, is in a critical condition at this home with a bullet wound in his left lung as the result of an attempted suicide Saturday night about 11:30 o'clock, according to information received from Mount Olive officers last evening.

The wounded man, although in a critical condition, was able to talk to Mount Olive officers Sunday evening. He did not give any reason for his attempt to take his own life, it was said. If complications do not set in, and hemorrhages of the lung do not develop, Murphy has a fair chance to recover, it is believed by attending physicians.

VANDERBERG DENIES CHARGE

Parade of Strikers Is Again Broken Up

GASTONIA, April 29.—(AP)—Seventy-six strikers surrounded by a cordon of sheriff's officers, were marched in a body to police headquarters here this afternoon following the dispersal of a strike parade. All but three were released without being placed under formal arrest.

A woman and two boys were placed in jail. Police said about 100 participated in the parade, which followed a mass meeting held this afternoon. Fred Erwin and George Perkins, organizers for the National Textile Union workers, spoke at the meeting.

IN QUIET, EVEN-MANNER YOUTH RELATES STORY

His Hand Steady As He Holds Map Showing Poor Plan of Home

UNSHAKEN AS SOLICITOR CONTINUES EXAMINATION

Tells Court He Was Awakened by Stifling Smoke and Ran From House

GASTONIA, April 29.—(AP)—Under a grueling cross examination, Jacob Vanderburg, 17 year old farm boy on trial here for the death of five members of his family, held steadfastly to his denial of guilt for the two hours he was on the stand.

"I'm going to ask you if you didn't kill your brother, mother and sister, and then your other sister, Pauline, and your father when they returned from buying groceries," the solicitor shot at the youth.

"No," the defendant answered. Carpenter began his cross examination during the afternoon, but had not completed when court adjourned.

At intervals during the afternoon, Carpenter shouted his accusing questions at the boy.

After preliminary questions as to his age, Attorney Hoyle presented a map of the home and had the boy describe the various rooms. The front bedroom, he said, had three beds and the room between that and the kitchen had one bed.

"Buttons" were used to latch all doors, he said, since the locks were old.

At times, said the defendant, some of the family slept in the kitchen, placing a bed tick on the floor.

During all the early questioning Jacob held a corner of the map, his hand steady.

"The relation of the well house and other buildings to the house was described.

"Jacob, where were you December 27, 1928?" asked the attorney.

"I was at home."

"Will you state what you did from dinner time till you went to bed?"

In rapid fashion Jacob told of performing chores, looking in his rabbit boxes, eating supper and then putting a tooth in the kitchen.

Some joke was made about his father being drunk, he said.

"Then he went to bed, wearing his old blue shirt and tie and his underclothes."

At about 1:30 or 2 o'clock he was awakened by smoke strangling him, grabbed his gun and rushed downstairs. Frightened he yelled for his parents and then felt for his mother's head. It felt gummy, he said.

"I ask you why you went out of that house, after thinking you felt your mother's head?"

"Well, there was so much smoke and fire I ran out."

"Why did you think it your mother's head?"

"It felt like hair, I just thought it was."

"Do you know what kind of covering was on the bed?"

"A sort of fuzzy blanket." Attorney Hoyle cautioned the witness to talk louder. He was speaking very low.

Jacob said he came out of the house, he saw an automobile going toward Gastonia without lights and a man standing on the running board.

"What did you carry with you to the Baumgardner home?"

"The suitcase I picked up, my shotgun and my father's coat I picked up too."

He ran to the Baumgardner home, he said, calling for help and crying that his mother had been murdered. He then returned to the burning home and was there when officer arrived.

Asheville College May Be Abandoned In The Future

The News Bureau Sir Walter Hotel

RALEIGH, April 29.—Information that the Asheville Normal, for many years an important factor in the education of girls, particularly in the western part of the State, may, at some future date, be abandoned by the Presbyterian Church of the U. S. A., so-called Northern Presbyterian Church, as a part of a program of economy and retrenchment, it is expected to follow, has come to light as a result of the negotiations between officials of that institution and the former Cullowhee Normal, now Western Carolina Teachers College, for a trade in school properties.

Abandonment of the institution by the church is not looked upon by North Carolina officials. Western Carolina Teachers College being owned and operated by the State, as an immediate possibility, but information is that the negotiations for the trade were halted as a result of announcement of the Northern Presbyterian Church officials, in charge of the Asheville Normal, that a retrenchment and economy program might result later in several steps.

The trade was expected to be completed several months ago.

BERRY PICKER KILLS UNCLE WOUNDS COUSIN

Slayings Bring Total in Wallace Section to Four in Less Than Month

WOUNDED NEGRO IS SAID TO BE SERIOUSLY HURT

Three Separate Outbreaks Among Berry Pickers Keep Officers Busy

Violence and bloodshed held sway in sections of Duplin and Pender counties over the past week-end, resulting in the death of two negroes, and the serious wounding of another. A number of rumors were current in Wayne county yesterday, the most widespread one being to the effect that the sheriff, one of his deputies, and four or five negroes had been killed in a race riot and attempted lynching at Kenansville Sunday night. The News, in long-distance telephone conversation with Duplin oficers last evening, learned, however, that these rumors were without foundation, and that no white men had been killed or even wounded over the week-end as a result of any racial troubles.

Vester Wilson, negro farmer, living about five miles from Wallace, in Pender county, was killed, and John Wilson, a nephew, was seriously wounded, when Redmond Wilson, another nephew of the dead man, apparently ran amuck Saturday afternoon.

According to reports reaching here Sunday night, Redmond was talking to his cousin John in a strawberry patch near the latter's home when an argument started. Redmond Wilson was said to have pulled out his pistol and shot his cousin three times. He then left, it was said, and went on up the road for several hundred yards where his uncle was also out working in a field. Coming up on the unsuspecting man from behind, the nephew was said to have shot his uncle in the back and then fled.

Neighbors, hearing the shots, ran to where the 50 year old negro lay gasping on the ground. He told them who had shot him, and officers were sent for. The wounded man died about two hours later. The fugitive killer was captured by Pender officers at Atkinson, and was taken to Burgaw where he was lodged in jail to await a hearing. Vester Wilson was reported to have been a married man with several children.

Charity Cross-Roads Killing

One negro, whose name could not be learned last evening, was instantly killed as a result of what was termed by Duplin officers as a free-for-all fight at Charity Cross-Roads between Kenansville and Wallace Saturday night Deputy Dunn, of Wallace, told The News last evening. Four negro men and three women were said to have been gathered at a house where much carousing and drinking was taking place. One or two of the negroes were reported to have started firing their pistols, and in the melee that followed, one of the negroes fell dead with five bullet holes in his body.

All the negroes reported to have been implicated in the trouble were said to have been arrested, and are now in jail at Kenansville.

Carousing in Tin City

Eight negroes were arrested in Tin City, a suburb of Wallace, Sunday afternoon, and were lodged in the Wallace jail, charged with being drunk and disorderly, it was learned. The negroes, most of them berry pickers, were said to have been very boisterous, cursing loudly and causing a general uproar in that entire community.

Counting the killings over the week-end, four murders have occurred in Duplin section in less than a month. All of them have taken place near Wallace. Sydney Teachey, white, was murdered by two negroes who attacked him in his store three weeks ago, last Thursday night. J. H. Boney, white, was murdered by assassins who attacked him near his home, crushed his skull with a heavy stick, robbed him of $800 and escaped.
