

LINDY AND ANNE TAKE OFF ON MATRIMONIAL FLIGHT

MARRIED LATE YESTERDAY AT ENGLEWOOD, N. J.

Only Seven Persons, Members of Immediate Families, Witness Service

NEWSPAPERMEN ARE GIVEN COMPLETE SLIP

No One Knows Where Young Couple are Spending Their Honeymoon

ENGLEWOOD, N. J., May 27.—(AP)—The long heralded wedding of Miss Anne Spencer Morrow and Col. Charles A. Lindbergh materialized unexpectedly today in the simple ceremony at the home of the bride's parents, Ambassador and Mrs. Dwight W. Morrow.

The ceremony was performed in the drawing room of the Morrow home in the presence of only seven guests, all members of the two families.

The bride, dressed in simple white chiffon, carried a bouquet of blue larkspur, picked by the bridegroom in the Morrow garden. There were no bridesmaids, no best man, no music—none of the embellishments which would have gone even with a moderately simple public wedding.

After the ceremony the Colonel and his bride drove away in an automobile and the small army of newspapermen who had been standing guard at the gates for so long thought it was just another afternoon drive. They were unaware of the wedding until the Ambassador announced it through his secretary, more than two hours later.

No details of the couple's honeymoon plans were revealed, but reports from Roosevelt Field said Lindbergh had ordered his plane serviced for a take-off tomorrow morning. Arrangements for the nuptials had been revised so hastily that a change in minister's was necessary. Ambassador Morrow had wanted Dr. Carl Elmore, pastor of the First Presbyterian church here, to officiate, but when he sought the minister today he discovered that Dr. Elmore was in Tennessee. He called in his old friend Dr. William Adams Brown of Union Theological seminary, New York.

Lindbergh wore the same dark blue business suit in which he had appeared on all his visits to Englewood.

The only persons present besides the bride and groom and the clergymen were Ambassador and Mrs. Morrow, their daughters, Elizabeth and Constance; Mrs. Evangeline Lindbergh, mother of the flier, and General and Mrs. J. Johnson Morrow, brother and sister-in-law of the ambassador.

Lindbergh and his bride left the estate at 4:30 p. m. General Morrow and Dr. Brown two hours later and at 7:30 the Ambassador motored to the home of his brother who also resides in Englewood.

So far as could be learned the Colonel and his bride told nobody where they were going when they left.

WASHINGTON, May 27.—(AP)—Ambassador Tellez of Mexico tonight wired to Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh.

"An indiscreet friend from the press has just transmitted to me the happy event of your wedding. Permit me to express to you my heartfelt congratulations and to assure you without any modesty that in that expression I am certain to interpret the sentiments of the people it is my pride to represent here. May the blessings of God be always with you."

Lindbergh-Morrow Marriage Scene

No one seems to know where the young couple went on their honeymoon, but reports were that Col. Lindbergh has given orders to have his plane serviced at Roosevelt, N. Y. Field for today.

Bright Lights, Gay Music and Attractive Displays Lend Air of Enchantment

THIS AFTERNOON IS SET ASIDE FOR SCHOOL KIDS

Auto Displays and Industrial Exhibits Set High Standard of Excellence

The eleventh annual Goldsboro automobile and industrial exposition opened last evening in the Durham Hosiery mill building to disappointing crowds.

Bright lights, gay music, and attractive displays there were in surroundings of vivid color. But there were few to view them.

Little Roberta Lee Wynne of Raleigh was at her best in her dances and handful of people were delighted with her program. As for Jasper, the educated dog, he made some of the college graduates about the place ashamed of themselves at the way he did sums in arithmetic, spelling and geography.

Wardlaw and his University of North Carolina orchestra held sway on the third floor and his outfit manufactured a brand of jazz that made a wooden-legged man want to dance.

The first floor of the building is given over to the automobile exhibits and the second floor to the industrial show. Some thirty local and foreign companies have displays here.

This afternoon and tomorrow will be featured by a school children's matinee. Miss Wynne and Jasper the educated dog will again be on the program with a change of program.

"The Show is sponsored and staged by the Wayne county fair association," said a statement last night. "Every dollar's profit derived from (Continued on page 2)

KIWANIS HEARS YOUNG DAN LACY

Rocky Mount High School Orator Given Rising Vote of Thanks

Dan Lacy, young high school orator from Rocky Mount, told the Goldsboro Kiwanians last evening what the world owed to the American constitution and he did so effectively that the club listened, tense, to his address and then voted him a rising thanks for his talk. "He's the talk of the club in months," one Kiwanian remarked after the meeting and he expressed the sentiments of all.

Seven-eighths of the people of the world are today governed under democratic rule, young Lacy declared, and these millions of men owe this fact to the inspiration they gained from the "noble experiment" of the United States which did not fail. The Rocky Mount high school lad won third place in the contest for the Southern states in the International oratory contest in New Orleans recently.

With Miss Helen Zealy at the piano, Edgar Bain, Jr., and Miss Annie Bynum had pleased the Kiwanians with a song "The Same Silver Moon" at the opening of the program.

C. M. Avery was in charge of the program and the club members complimented him highly on his offerings. In a preliminary talk, Mr. Avery had discussed the origin of insurance, tracing it back to the days of the Roman galley when "bottomry" was in practice. "The wheels of commerce could not turn without insurance today," he declared.

A delegation was present from the Kington club and A. J. Swanson, of Clinton, S. C., was the guest of L. M. Ross.
