SEASONS FIRST HEAT WAVES SWEEPS COUNTRY; 12 DIE

Relief Reported On Way, Riding Wings Of Northern Breezes

First Wave of Season More Hard to Bear on Account Unseasonableness

HUMIDITY HIGH IN N. Y. AND IN PHILADELPHIA

Boston Experiences Terrific Heat But Breezes From Ocean Bring Relief

(By The Associated Press) Still sweltering in heat that was all the harder to bear because it was so unseasonable, the population of the greater part of the United States have turned expectant faces to the north.

For riding the wings of northerly breezes that started blowing across the eastern states about noon Friday, relief was reported to be on its way. More than a dozen deaths attributable to heat were reported in the East. In many parts of the country, particularly in the middle Atlantic states there were numerous prostrations.

Boston, one of the hottest places in the country, at 8 a. m. Friday with a temperature of 84, experienced the highly pleasing sensation of a 19 point drop in temperature. However, before it got cooler in Boston it got hotter. The temperature had gone up to 96 at 11:30, then a breeze off the Atlantic came to the aid of the northerly wind and by 12:45 p. m., the mercury had dropped down to 71.

While Boston was cooling off other Atlantic seaboard cities were just getting the crest of their heat wave. By the middle of the afternoon it was 96 in New York and in Philadelphia, and in both cities the humidity was high.

The end was apparently in sight in New York, however, after the 90 degree temperature had been recorded at 3 p. m., making Friday the hottest day of the year in New York. There was a drop to 89 by 4 o'clock.

The wave of heat, which settled over the east on Tuesday, also was general throughout New York, Pennsylvania and New Jersey.

At Corinth, near Glen Falls, N. Y., the temperature was 110 degrees, the highest mark reported in the east. Three deaths from drowning occurred in upper New York State.

Three persons drowned in New Jersey and at Meadville, Pa., a Civil War veteran dropped dead after taking part in a parade, Pittsburgh, Ohio, reported a high temperature of 93 degrees, one death from heat and five from drowning.

The heat wave extended into Ontario, Canada, with a temperature of 92 degrees at Toronto. Numerous prostrations occurred throughout the province with two deaths from the heat and two drownings.

CANNON IS TO OPPOSE PARTY

Methodist Church Leader Will Oppose Those Who Voted For Smith

WASHINGTON, May 31.—(AP)—James Cannon, Jr., of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, today called on the anti-Smith Democrats of Virginia to carry forward a determined opposition to the state party leaders who supported Alfred E. Smith in the last presidential campaign.

Announcing that he would refrain from participation in the Democratic primary next August for the nomination of state officers, Cannon expressed the "hope that other anti-Smith Democrats will abstain from such participation."

The church leader in a letter to members of the Virginia executive committee of the anti-Smith Democrats which he made public tonight endorsed the holding of a convention of anti-Smith Democrats at Roanoke on June 18. He said he hoped that convention would find and nominate for governor "an able, well qualified anti-Smith Democrat who did vote against Alfred E. Smith and did refuse to accept or follow the present national and state Democratic leadership and who will continue to do so."

Did Lindy and Wife Fly Over Goldsboro

Considerable speculation was current here yesterday as to the identity of the pilot and passengers of the giant cabin monoplane, which flew over the city Thursday afternoon about 6 o'clock, headed south, and which came back over the city yesterday a short time before noon, headed back north. Reports from Wilmington to the effect that a similar plane had been seen by people in that city, heading towards Southport, was said to have caused those who saw the plane to wonder if the passengers might not be Col. Charles Lindbergh and his bride. It was thought that they might be flying to Southport, there to board a yacht for an extended sea voyage.

Local people were wondering yesterday if the plane that flew over Goldsboro was not possible the same one seen at Wilmington. The pilot may have taken Col. Lindbergh and Anne, his wife of a few days, to Southport, and then flown back to a northern airport, possibly Langley Field. Of course these theories were only advanced as speculation. Still, it is possible.

EXPECT CROOM WILL RECOVER

His Jugular Vein Touched In Eternal Triangle Row Late Friday Night

The condition of Paul Croom, local negro, who was seriously slashed in the neck by Henry Thompson, also colored, when the former went to the home of the latter's supposed "gal" Thursday night, was reported yesterday as being somewhat improved. In spite of the dangerous nature of the wound, it is thought that he has a fighting chance to recover. Thompson was arrested at his home yesterday morning about 1 o'clock by Officers Parker, Joe and Jane Howell, and is being held in the city jail without bail, pending the outcome of Croom's injuries.

The wounded negro's jugular vein was said to have been touched, and according to physicians, he lost a large amount of blood. It was at first thought that he would not live, but taking a slight turn for the better yesterday, his chances for recovery are said to be about fifty-fifty.

Man Who Tied Knot

You might say that the Rev. Dr. William Brown, professor at the Union Theological Seminary, and an old friend of the Morrow family, was directly responsible for the marriage of Col. Charles A. 400 REPLIES ARE AT HAND

Gathering Data on Amount of Purchases Made Outside of State

The News Bureau, By M. R. DUNNIGAN

Raleigh, May 31.—Nearly 400 replies have already been received from North Carolina manufacturers in answer to the questionnaire of the Raleigh Co-operative office of the U. S. Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce, asking them what goods they purchase outside the State, according to Park Mathewson, in charge of the State's commerce and industry statistics. These replies show what commodities are bought from producers in other States and these facts are to be carefully analyzed by the State Department of Conservation and Development to ascertain the volume, source and kind of merchandise.

This information, when collated, will be of great value in determining what goods, manufactured in this State, are needed in the process of State manufacture and will assist materially in the campaign for diversified industries and in determining what should be most successfully and profitably manufactured in North Carolina, according to Mr. Mathewson.

The survey is being made by the Conservation department, in cooperation with the U. S. Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce, C. Aram Isaacs, Charlotte district manager, and the Raleigh Co-operative office, and much valuable data on North Carolina's foreign import and export trade is expected to be gathered.

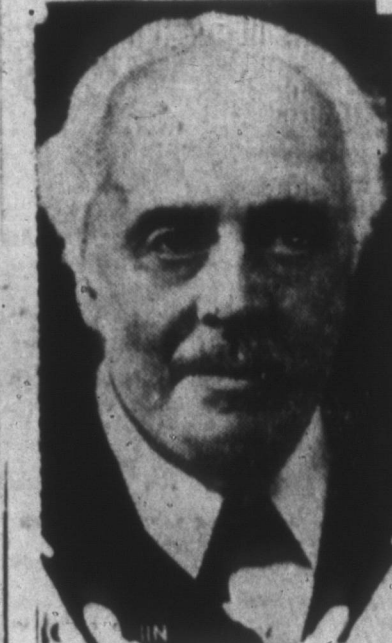

The work is a part of a broad plan of Director J. W. Harrison, of the conservation department, to first select and then solicit the location of proper industries within the State, based on the facts as to the flow of goods into and out of the State, information that has never before been available from any source. To illustrate its value, it is pointed out that when it is found that partly processed goods are purchased outside the State or are shipped elsewhere to be finished, it will be the object of the commerce and industry division in cooperation with the various chambers of commerce in the State to endeavor to bring into the State such processing plants, in order to operate locally, as far as practical, all of the steps in producing completed goods.

This data, received and analyzed, will show approximately how much, in dollars and cents, of these goods are fabricated outside the State and about what local market could be counted on for such new industries. All manufacturers are urged to fill out and send in the blanks sent them, in order to aid in the development of a local supply for all their needs, as well as to benefit the State at large.

Seven Wayne Sections Held School Closing Exercises on Friday

Auto Plays Curious Tricks in Fremont

How did they escape serious injury, if not death? That was the question being asked in Fremont yesterday concerning an automobile accident which happened in the Northern Wayne town late Friday night. A new wide-open Model A Ford containing a party of negroes and traveling toward Goldsboro, hit the dummy policeman at the crossing of the highway and the main street. A tire blew out, and the Ford climbed over the curb to the left hand of the highway, ploughed through a vegetable patch by the railroad, hit off a cross tie and then bumped along down the ties for several hundred feet before stopping. The occupants of the car were unhurt. Fremont residents for blocks around were aroused by the noise of the accident and rushed to the spot to find that the automobile had just only one wheel in the accident.

When their automobile plowed into a roadside residence following a collision with an unidentified motorist on Highway 40, Mr. and Mrs. J. Mac Johnson, Halifax, late Friday night miraculously escaped serious if not fatal injury, according to their version of the occurrence to police officers.

Mr. Johnson, following the collision, communicated with his friend, W. W. Andrews, Belfair, whom he told that after the terrible collision he lost control of his machine which plowed its way under the residence of Mr. Davis, near Pikeville. The unidentified driver lost a hand bag containing children's clothing as he continued on his way at terrific speed. The News was informed.

Suffering from shocks, Mrs. Johnson was taken to the Goldsboro Hotel, where a brief rest served to quiet her nerves. The special licenses include licenses for merchants, druggists and other places of business serving the public, special licenses required for newspapers, and a number of other special permits.
