THREE KILLED IN PLANE CRASH AT WILMINGTON

J. A. Hambleton And Guests are Fatally Hurt As Plane Nose Dives

Lt. Col. Hambleton Was Vice-President of Pan-American Airways; Good Pilot

CAUSE OF ACCIDENT IS NOT YET DETERMINED

Wife of Hambleton, Nee Margaret Elliott, Witnessed Fatal Crash

WILMINGTON, June 8.—(AP)—Lt. Col. John A. Hambleton of Baltimore and Mr. and Mrs. J. Vonder Heyden of New York were killed instantly near the county airport when Col. Hambleton's airplane "The Governor" crashed this afternoon.

The accident was witnessed by Mrs. Hambleton, who was Miss Margaret Elliott, of Wilmington. Col. Hambleton, Baltimore banker, vice president of the Pan American Airways and close friend of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh was coming to Wilmington for the week-end.

Mr. and Mrs. Von der Heyden were week-end guests.

The cause of the accident had not been determined tonight.

The plane came in sight soon after 5 o'clock this afternoon and circled and the field at a height of about 50 feet, the pilot apparently planning to land.

In making the final circuit the plane got away from the field about a mile and went into a nose dive over a clearing in the woods.

When eye witnesses reached the scene, the occupants of the cabin were dead.

The cabin was telescoped when it struck the ground.

Just who was at the controls was not known.

Col. Hambleton was a capable aviator and often flew here.

Whether or not Mr. Von der Heyden was a pilot is not known.

Members of Mrs. Hambleton's family said tonight that Mr. Von der Heyden was director of sales promotion for the Consolidated Instrument Company of 305 East 47th Street, New York.

The body of Col. Hambleton will be taken to Baltimore tomorrow for burial.

Efforts were being made tonight to locate relatives of the Von der Heydens.

Langley Field Men Killed

LANGLEY FIELD, Va., June 8.—(AP)—Lt. Harry A. Saunders and Sergeant E. S. Woodward of Langley Field were killed late today when their plane crashed near Frostburg, Md., according to reports received by officials here. Sgt. Woodward's home was in Waynesville, N. C.

MOTHERS AID FUND DIVIDED

Wayne County Will Receive $192 for Prisoners Families and $724 for Mothers

The News Bureau By M. R. DUNNAGAN

RALEIGH, June 8.—Allotment to individual counties of their quotas of $47,500 of the $500,000 appropriation by the last General Assembly for Mothers' Aid is announced by Miss D. E. Mitchell, director of Mothers' Aid for the State Board of Charities and Public Welfare. This fund is provided to aid mothers who have been deprived of their husbands' support in order that they may support their children in their own homes for them.

This amount is divided on a per capita basis and is furnished in monthly installments, beginning July 1, to all counties which agree to match the allotments from the State. Any money not used by a county on this basis during the first year, may be used, or as much of it as is necessary, during the second year. Any funds left over at the end of the second year are returned to the State Treasury.

The 1929 General Assembly designated that $10,000 of the fund be used exclusively for the benefit of families of prisoners, the remainder going to other classes of worthy and needy mothers.

B. F. JR, AND SARAH PLAY HAPPILY AGAIN

Three Sides to This Story

Nation-wide interest in the action of the Federal Reserve Board in its efforts to suppress speculation in Wall Street is bringing to light a three-cornered fight between Senator Glass of Virginia, upper left; Senator Couzens of Michigan, upper right, and William C. Durant, below. Durant, tremendously interested in Wall Street financially, protests against the action of the Reserve Board in tightening the credit situation to curb speculation, while Glass and Couzens believe the board is right in taking whatever action they see fit and should not be bound by the selfish reasons of financiers and gamblers.

Claims to Have Knowledge About Hall-Mills Mystery

DETROIT, June 8.—(AP)—The Detroit Free Press tomorrow will say that the mystery of the murder of the Rev. Edward W. Hall and Mrs. Eleanor Mills, seven years ago near New Brunswick, N. J., was reopened here Saturday as a result of the declaration of a Federal prisoner, here that he overheard the quarrel which led to the shooting of the minister and the choir singer.

SALE OF AUTOS SHOW INCREASE

RALEIGH, June 8.—Approximately one-third more automobiles have been sold in North Carolina so far this year than were sold for the same period last year, while 42 per cent of those sold this year were paid for in cash at time of purchase, while only 28 per cent of those sold last year were paid for when purchased, according to the report of Sprague Silver, director of the Motor Vehicle Bureau.

Moreover, Mr. Silver reports that the down payments on the cars bought this year are larger and the deferred payments smaller than during last year, probably due in part to the lower price of the cars and the increased number of low-priced cars purchased. This year during the first five months of the sales, as represented by the licenses purchased, total 34,379 automobiles and 3,373 trucks, as compared with 16,881 automobiles and 1,611 purchased during the first five months of last year. Ford sales this year to May 3, numbered 19,249 and Chevrolets for the same period numbered 6,495, as compared with Ford sales of 3,086 and Chevrolet sales of 5,791 until June 1 last year, or one month longer.

Wading Pool For Children Will Be Opened On Monday

The children's wading pool at Herman Park will open for the summer season Monday afternoon at 1 o'clock, it was announced yesterday by Roy J. Parker, who is in charge of the park activities. This announcement will be received by hundreds of Goldsboro children of all ages with faster beating hearts, anticipating many future afternoons of splashing and play in the wading pool. The opening of the pool has been held up a little on account of the cool weather, but everything is now in readiness for the opening Monday, Mr. Parker announced.

A capable man will be at the wading pool all the time it is open to the public, insuring the safety of the children who enjoy themselves in the basin. "There is really no danger in the pool, but we are going to keep a capable man there, anyway, in order to play perfectly safe. Mothers may even feel safe to leave their children at the pool for the afternoon and call for them later. This was done frequently last summer," Mr. Parker told The News.

Makes $15 Profit on 34 Hens During May

Thirty-four hens paid J. H. Bunday, of Mt. Olive route 4, a profit of $15 for eggs alone during May, cost records kept by Mr. Bunday show. Feed for the hens amounted to $4.50 for the month and a total of $19.50 was received for eggs, sold at 30 cents a dozen. The hens produced a total of 778 eggs during the month. "Mr. Bunday has been using the profits from his poultry farm to meet losses on truck crops this year," a friend explained. The Mt. Olive man turned to poultry raising seriously when his health became such that he could not do regular farming, and his experience is proving to him that poultry raising offers just as great an opportunity for profit as general farming, if not more so.

WILL USE CITY AIRPORT OFTEN

Coastal Airways of Rocky Mount Has Connection With Curtiss Company

The Coastal Plains Airways Company of Rocky Mount, will make frequent use of the Goldsboro airport, J. E. Calhoun manager for the newly formed company, announce yesterday. Mr. Calhoun was a passenger with Pilot Ted Crickford, regional salesman for the Curtiss Flying Service, in a flight from Raleigh to Goldsboro by Rocky Mount yesterday.

The Curtiss Robin, cabin type monoplane, which the fliers brought to Goldsboro, one of the latest models developed by Curtiss, will remain at the city port through today. The Travelair, owned by C. W. Barbee and Durald Wilson of Mt. Olive will also be on the port today. The Travelair will make permanent headquarters here and the owners will confer tomorrow with City Manager Zeno Hollowell relative to placing a hangar on the field.

"The Coastal Plains Airways," Mr. Calhoun explained to The News, "is a Rocky Mount company incorporated for $200,000 and is associated with the Curtiss Company. The latter company owns a block of stock in the Rocky Mount concern."

"The Coastal Plains Airways was formed by J. W. Hines, M. F. Jones, W. E. Fenner and R. B. Davis of Rocky Mount. It will be the distribution point for Curtiss products in this end of the state and will maintain a foundation flying school service as well as do commercial flying."

"We expect to make frequent use of the Goldsboro port. You folks may look for us to be dropping in every week, or more often. With some minor changes your port could be made one of the best anywhere. Of course, the alert city begins to recognize the fact that it must have a well-equipped airport. It will be only a few years until the city that doesn't have a standard airport will be as isolated as the city without railroad facilities was a few years ago."

Baccalaureate Sermon At High School This Evening

Commencement exercises of the Goldsboro high school will begin here this evening at 8 o'clock with the delivery of the annual baccalaureate sermon by Rev. E. W. Baxter, of St. Timothy's Episcopal church in Wilson. The sermon will be preached before the graduating class in the high school auditorium. Evening services will not be held at churches in the city on account of the commencement exercises, pastors announce. The services at the high school this evening will begin when the members of the Senior class enter the auditorium singing the processional, "God of Our Fathers." The Seniors, wearing their caps and gowns, will sit on front rows in a body. Congregational singing during the exercises will be led by members of the high school club, who will be seated on the platform with the speakers. The following program will be followed this evening: Processional—"God of Our Fathers"—Warren (Senior Class); Hymn—"Softly Now the Light of Day"—Bon Weber (Congregation—standing); Invocation—Rev. W. V. McRae; Hymn—"Now Thank We All Our God"—Kruger, (Glee Club); Scripture Lesson; Hymn—"Holy, Holy, Holy"—Dykes, (Congregation—standing); Sermon—Rev. E. W. Baxter, St. Timothy's Episcopal Church, Wilson, N. C. (Continued on page 5)

Life of Belfast Infant Saved When Coin Taken From Throat by Doctor

DUDLEY NEGRO IS BOUND OVER

Charged With Breaking and Entering Hot Dog Stand in Goldsboro

Herman Smith, Dudley Negro, who was arrested at his home Friday by local officers and lodged in the city jail here, charged with breaking into the hot dog stand of Clarence Arrington, colored, sometime Thursday night, was bound over to Superior Court under $200 bond on a charge of housebreaking and larceny at a hearing before Mayor Hill in police court yesterday morning.

Smith was arrested on information furnished the officers, which led them to believe he was the guilty party. The negro denies having entered Arrington's place, it was learned, but about $5 worth of cigarettes, candy, and cakes, said to have been taken from the hot dog stand, were found in his home. Smith is being held in jail in default of the bond.

Officers not as yet secured any definite clues that might lead to the arrest of robbers who broke into the Charles Norwood residence on South William street Friday night and the local Montgomery Ward store Thursday night. A valuable platinum bar pin, set with diamonds, was taken from the Norwood home, while merchandise valued at around $300 was stolen from the department store. Thieves gained entrance to the store by breaking the glass in a rear second story window and forcing the inner bars.

5,400 GALLONS OF MILK USED

Parent Teacher Associations Provide Free Milk For Some Children

Goldsboro city schools in the session now ending have used 86,784 bottles of milk served through the lunch rooms, Dr. A. H. Kerr of health department reported yesterday. This is a total of about 5,400 gallons.

Children of the Walnut street school used more than did the children of any other school in the city, the report shows. Walnut street consumption amounted to 36,144 bottles. William Street school 12,960 bottles, high school 10,800 bottles, and Franklin street 26,880 bottles.

Through the courtesy of the Parent Teacher Associations of the city a number of underweight school children of the city were supplied milk free, Dr. Kerr said.

"And Goldsboro people can rest assured that the milk which their children is getting is of the highest quality," it was stated. Regular inspections of the dairies of the city are made by Dr. Kerr for the health department.

Given Penny By Little Brother, Sarah Bartlett, 4 Months, Swallowed It

FASHIONS INSTRUMENT, THEN REMOVES PENNY

R. F. Bartlett, Jr., three-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Bartlett, Goldsboro route 2, played with his four and one-half months old sister, Sarah, in the living room of their home. Mrs. Bartlett was in the kitchen preparing the mid-day meal.

B. F. wanted to be a good little boy and please little sister; he gave her his penny to play with. Sarah gurgled her tiny delight at its glitter and imagined that it was just the very thing for baby girls to eat and enjoy. With a fat, chubby hand, she placed it in her mouth.

B. F. is not quite four years old, but he knows that little sister's should not eat pennies. He tried to get the coin out of her mouth. It slipped from his clutching fingers as Sarah fought her protest, and dropped into her throat.

A niece of Mrs. Bartlett entered the room and B. F. told her what had happened. She called Mrs. Bartlett. Sarah was having difficulty in breathing. Frantic, she called Mr. Bartlett, and he called a neighbor who ran to the home of Mr. Howell, nearby, where Dr. Malcolm Hissell was known to be visiting a patient.

Dr. Hissell came, took a look at Sarah and ordered her to be rushed to Goldsboro at once. The penny could not be seen, but it had evidently lodged somewhere in the throat; Sarah gasped for breath.

Dr. H. B. Ivey made an x-ray photograph which disclosed the location of the coin. The x-ray picture and the infant were hurried to the office of Dr. A. G. Woodard. "I don't have any special instruments for doing this sort of work," explained Dr. Woodard. There was a Raleigh specialist who had a reputation for success in this sort of operation and Dr. Woodard advised rushing Sarah to him.

To Raleigh in a great hurry drove Mr. Bartlett with Sarah. Two additional x-ray photographs were made in Raleigh. There's no coin in the throat of the child, the Raleigh man pronounced; the x-ray fails to reveal it.

Frantic, Mr. Bartlett drove like mad to Goldsboro. Dr. Ivey was called and made another photograph. The x-ray this time showed the coin lodged near the pharynx. The case had grown desperate; another slip of the penny and Sarah's breath might be cut off entirely.

Back to the office of Dr. Woodard, with his child went Mr. Bartlett; he carried the latest x-ray photograph. An operation was decided on. Fashioning instruments from malleable metal provided for that purpose, Dr. Woodard attempted to retrieve the coin. He did.

Today Sarah and B. F. Jr. are playing happily together again.
