

RASKOB NOT TO RESIGN AS DEMOCRATIC LEADER

Makes Declaration At Banquet in Honor Of Shouse in Washington

Outlines Democratic Plans for Strengthening Party's Organization

ANNOUNCEMENT BRINGS CHEERS AND APPLAUSE

Raskob Warns of Centralization of Power As Practiced by G. O. P.

WASHINGTON, June 11.—(AP)—John J. Raskob, chairman of the Democratic national committee, told the party leaders gathered here tonight at a banquet honoring Jonett Shouse, the new chairman of the executive committee, that he had no intention of resigning.

"I hope my remarks tonight will set at rest all doubt about my continuing," he said, diverging from his prepared address as the men and women attending the dinner arose applauding and cheering.

He added that when he took the chairmanship he did so because he believed in the principles of the Democratic party.

The chairman announced that Mrs. Nellie Taylor Ross of Wyoming would be a member of the executive committee with Mr. Shouse and in charge of Women's activities. He also stated that Charles Greethu of Indiana would continue as secretary of the committee and James W. Gerarda treasurer.

An indirect reference to former Governor Alfred E. Smith of New York, party standard bearer in the last presidential campaign, brought many of the Democratic men and women to their feet, and vigorous handclapping.

The reference was made by Representative Byrns, chairman of the Democratic Congressional campaign committee, who assailed the Republican party for what he characterized its lack of policies in dealing with many problems confronting the United States.

The dinner was given by the Jefferson Association of the District of Columbia in honor of Mr. Shouse who has been made chairman of the executive committee of the national committee. It had aroused unusual interest because of the attitude of some of the Southern leaders in refusing to attend.

The national chairman spoke especially of centralization of authority in Washington asserting that "such a course might well result in revolution."

Mr. Shouse served notice here that party headquarters here would refuse to be concerned over candidacies; assailed the pending tariff bill as "reprehensible"; denied the Democratic party was a free trade party, and told his fellow partymen that he would await the operation of the new farm relief bill before attempting to criticize it.

In speaking of concentration of authority, Mr. Raskob said the tendency of the Republicans would result in the establishment of "a power so colossal as to be unwieldy and incapable of administration."

"The lack of respect for such a government," he added, "and the tyranny under which our people will have to live in consequence thereof may well result in a revolution which will divide this country into two or three republics and our prosperity will then suffer the ill which the countries of Europe have suffered through jealousy, standing armies, lack of trust, etc. for countless generations."

Chairman Raskob said that he confidently expected a further reduction of the $550,000 party deficit to under $300,000 during the current month and added that it was the plan to raise an additional $250,000 to cover the expenses of building and conducting a national organization.

Bright Jurney, Mount Olive man, is in the Goldsboro hospital suffering with severe bruises and shock, while Will Byrd, also of Mount Olive, and E. S. Jacobs, of Raleigh, escaped injury as the result of an automobile accident which occurred at the Walters Creek Bridge about five miles east of Goldsboro Sunday night about 8 o'clock. The coupe turned over two times as it skidded from the impact with the other car, according to the reports.

Mr. Jurney was placed in the car of a passing motorist and was brought to the Goldsboro hospital here for treatment. According to attending physicians, no bones were thought to have been broken, but the man was suffering from bruises cuts, and the shock of the accident.

Both cars were hauled in to the Stoney Creek service station. The left side of the Dodge was said to have been badly smashed, while all the windows, the top, and the fenders and wheels of the Ford were crushed beyond repair.

HEAVY DOCKET IN CO. COURT

Wife Beaters, Drunken Drivers and Routine Cases Occupy Court

Milton Gurley yesterday afternoon appealed to Superior Court after he had been convicted of assaulting his wife and of non support and sentenced to serve terms totaling 14 months on the county roads by Judge D. H. Bland in county court. Bond was fixed at $500.

The cases against Gurley and the one charging assault with deadly weapon against Emmett Deaver—not Danny—highlighted a busy session of Wayne county recorder's court. The court had not completed the Deaver case at 6 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

William Stanley testified that Deaver had cut his throat with a butcher knife and laced only a hair's breadth slashing the jugular vein. He told the court that the attack was entirely unprovoked and came after he had been called to come to the home of Ernest King, near Sleepy Creek, in Indian Springs.

Ernest King, Mrs. King, and Deaver, however, declared that Stanley got his throat cut after he had taken his fist and broken down the door to the King home and after he had slapped Mrs. King down.

If Jasper Farmer is not out of the county by June 15 he goes to the roads, for 12 months for carrying a concealed weapon and either event he loses the pistol.

Fred Newsome will contribute $50 and costs for reckless driving, and Horace Brown will work the roads for four months for larceny. An assault cost Louella Harris $15 and the costs. Evidence did not warrant a conviction and Albert Battle was freed of a charge of having materials for the manufacture of whiskey.

Ralph Price was convicted of reckless driving and if he does not pay the costs and behave himself he will do 6 months on the roads.

W. T. Honeycutt and Estell Rivenbark entered a plea of nolo contendere to a charge of prostitution. They will pay the costs and if the court hears from them again will serve 12 months each.

Ben Cunningham, captured by Deputy Smith after a chase through Edgewood several days ago with a load of liquor, was fined $100 and costs and given a suspended sentence of six months.

J. E. Thornton will pay $50 and the costs and keep his hands off his automobile wheel for the next ninety days or he will do 90 days on the roads. He was convicted of driving drunk.

Bob Fort was found guilty of selling whiskey and received a sentence of 90 days. Will Johnson was declared not guilty of selling whiskey.

Oscar Aetis drove his automobile while drunk and he will pay $50 and the costs, not drive in the next three months or serve a three months term on the roads. Horace Smith will work the roads for one year for larceny.

Sgt. Woodward was connected with the 59th Service Squadron, U. S. A., stationed at Langley Field, Va., and had been in the services for 12 or 15 years.

Not more than three months ago had a thrilling escape from death when his plane fell into a river, while he was assisting in flood rescue work in Alabama. He saved himself by swimming to a tree when his plane crashed into the river, and for 20 hours he clung to the tree before he was rescued. He was almost dead from cold and hunger when finally rescued.

Says Greatness Depends On Appropriating Character-Building Material

GOD MAY BE REVEALED IN MANY WAYS, STATES

Class Day Exercises and Annual Address Thursday Will End Commencement

Did you ever stop to think that the advice "to be a man" means no more or less than an advice to be like God? asked Rev. E. W. Baxter of St. Timothy's Episcopal Church, Wilson, delivering the baccalaureate sermon at the Goldsboro high school Sunday evening. The high school commencement will be continued with class day exercises Thursday morning and the annual address Thursday night with Dr. A. T. Allen, State superintendent of education, as the speaker.

Rev. Mr. Baxter took for his subject a discussion of the Biblical phrase which describes man as being created in the image of God.

God may be revealed to man in many ways, declared the Wilson minister. To some he is revealed through books, to some through the blue skies, to some in the babbling of a brook, to some through science, the graduating class was told. And the most matchless of all his revelations comes through the life of Christ, Mr. Baxter stated.

"Every man carries about with him a whole court—judge, jury and prosecutor. You may not have thought of this but this court is a man's conscience and it acts a guide and warning to man in all his acts.

Greatness, declared Mr. Baxter, depends upon one's appropriating the character building material that is at hand, and here the Wilson minister recalled the disciple Peter who denied his master at one time. Six weeks later this same Peter, he recalled, is found scourging most mercilessly those who have persecuted Christ. "How was this possible?" he asked. Simply that Peter in the few weeks that intervened from the time when he had denied his Master and the time when he took up active defense of him had appropriated the character building material with which he had come in contact.

"If man is not a spiritual being, then let us envy the animals; if man is not a spiritual being then his mind and conscience is liability rather than an asset," Mr. Baxter declared.

In concluding his sermon, pointed by frequent witticisms tending to keep the audience ever on the alert for his next point, Mr. Baxter declared that it could not be proved in black and white that there was a God but that he liked to remember and to quote the poem on that point, a poem in which a man "bets" that there is a God because of the light he sees in his mother's eyes.

Wearing caps and gowns, the seniors had entered the auditorium as Warren's professional "Go of Our Fathers" was played and taken seats in the middle tier, facing the speaker. The girls glee club served as a choir for the event and was directed by W. O. Frederick.

Rev. W. V. McRae, pastor of St. Paul Methodist church, delivered the invocation and presented Mr. Baxter. Rev. Tenyson Lewis of the Friends church spoke the benediction.
