"YELLOW BIRD" MAKING PROGRESS OVER ATLANTIC

FRENCH PLANE REPORTED SEEN BY STEAMSHIP

If Flying Boat Maintains Maximum Speed Should Reach Paris at 11 A. M.

NEW YORK, June 13.—(AP)—The monoplane Yellow Bird passed over the steamship Wytheville at 5:45 Eastern Standard Time...

Should the Yellow Bird follow the shorter of two routes, planned when it left Old Orchard, and if it maintains its maximum cruising speed of 150 miles an hour...

It was not believed that anything like maximum speed could be maintained over the entire distance of the route, however.

BAR HARBOR, Maine, June 13.—(AP)—The Egg Rock light station off shore from Bar Harbor reported this afternoon that a plane was heard at 11:30 a. m. (E. S. T.) traveling in an easterly direction...

OLD ORCHARD, Me., June 13.—(AP)—The Yellow Bird, Paris-bound, had been unreported for more than three hours at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon.

No fears were expressed for its safety, however, as when it passed over Mathews Rock light, 20 miles off the coast of Rockland, it was heading east, which would carry it away from the coast and out of sight of land.

One of two transatlantic airplanes got away to a good start for Paris today, but the second, headed for Rome, crashed before she left the ground.

The Yellow Bird, huge monoplane, manned by a crew of three young Frenchmen, made a beautiful take-off for Paris and sped away to the east accompanied by a coast guard amphibian.

The Green Flash, American plane, with an American crew, nosed over on the beach and swerved into a ground loop about midway of her run. Neither Lewis A. Yancey nor Roger Q. Williams, her crew, was injured.

The Green Flash nearly duplicated its accident of two weeks ago today, at that time one of the wheels dropped into soft sand and caused it to ground loop. Only the wheel and a few stay wires were damaged at that time.

The French plane got away two weeks ago was forced to return after 20 minutes because of a leak in the main fuel tank.

Bride Encourages Ocean Flyer

Unknown to his comrades of the "Yellow Bird," Jean Assolant, one of the French flyers, who plan trans-Atlantic hop to France from Old Orchard Beach, Me., courted and married Pauline Parker of New York in about ten days' time. While waiting for the weather conditions to permit the plane hopping off, the newlyweds, above, shipped away for a short honeymoon.

Greensboro Negro Comes To Grief Here on Thirteenth

Leroy Smith Bound Over to County Court On a Pair of Charges

Yesterday was the 13th day of the month, and although it didn't happen to come on Friday, the day was apparently an unlucky one for Leroy Smith, Greensboro negro. Smith came to grief here yesterday when he was bound over to county court under $200 bond on two charges, of larceny, and of carrying a concealed weapon.

The negro was arrested at the home of R. A. Watts on North John street by plainclothesman Chink Rhodes yesterday morning about 9 o'clock, a half hour after he is believed to have stolen a gold watch from the show case in Mr. Watts' repair shop.

According to the report made to police about 8:30 yesterday morning, the negro had brought a watch to Mr. Watts to have repaired. He left, saying that he would be back in a short time. After he had left the house, Watts missed a watch from his showcase and immediately suspected that the strange negro Smith had taken it. Officer Rhodes arrived at the Watts home at about the same time the negro returned for the watch he had left to have repaired.

Smith was accused of the theft, and while he was being searched by the local officers, the stolen watch dropped from his pocket to the floor. The search also revealed a small pistol. The negro was arrested and at a hearing before Mayor Hill in police court, was bound over to county court.

Federal Bird Haven Created by President

WASHINGTON, June 13.—(AP)—A haven for migratory birds, on soil which once echoed with the martial tread of soldiers, has been created by executive order by President Hoover at former Fort Keogh military reservation, Montana.

Fish culture operations will be carried on in a 20-acre artificial lake, while a third project on the same soil will be the work of a range livestock experiment station.

Fly Captured Here Not Fruit Fly, Said

The fly which was brought to the office of county farm agent A. K. Robertson by V. V. Thompson, local man, last Monday, was not the dreaded Mediterranean fruit fly as was at first suspected, according to report received from Dr. R. W. Leiby, state entomologist at Raleigh, yesterday. The fly, which was captured by Mr. Thompson while he was standing in the doorway of a local business establishment, was shipped to Raleigh for examination Tuesday.

Dr. Leiby, in his report, declared that while the insect sent to him was not the Mediterranean fly, it was an insect of the fly variety. "Your interest in our fruit fly work is very much appreciated," the entomologist stated.

POOL WILL NOT BE OPEN TODAY

Edmundson Hill Swimming Pool And Playground Will Open Monday Instead

The Presbyterian swimming pool will not open today, as had been previously announced, but will open instead next Monday morning at 9 o'clock. R. C. Robinson, director of playground activities in the city told The News yesterday. The change in the date of the opening became necessary when it was found that overhauling work on the pool would not be completed in time, it was said.

A cement walkway is being constructed around the pool, to replace the old wooden walk. It was said: The wood boardwalk was becoming badly worn in places, and it is believed that the concrete walk will be much more convenient, and safe than the other.

The Edmundson Hill playground will also open for the summer Monday morning, at the same time the swimming pool is opened, Mr. Robinson stated. The person to be in charge of the playground has not been decided upon definitely as yet, it was said, and this will be announced later.

Graduation Exercises See Close of School Session

Superintendent A. T. Allen Delivers Graduation Address at High School

A large crowd braved the heat and discomfort of the unfinished auditorium at the Goldsboro High School last night to hear Dr. A. T. Allen, superintendent of Public Instruction, deliver the commencement address, and to witness the graduation of the class of 1929.

Dr. Allen chose as his subject, "The Promise of Public Education." In the course of his speech, he traced the value placed upon individual from the time when a little body of countrymen met at Palestine and began to revolutionize the religious beliefs of that time up until the United States entered the World War in order to make the world safe for democracy, a democracy based upon the creed that all men are created free and equal. Dr. Allen said that America had realized the value of the individual more than any other country, and it was out of this realization that the public school system was borned. He stated that the efforts of the public school were to make out of each student an individual, to make each student a self-determining person, to teach the individual to corporate participate in our democratic institutions.

The diplomas were presented to forty-five members of the graduating class by W. E. Stroud. Following this W. A. Dees presented the prizes.

Miss Martha Parsons was awarded the Well Scholarship prize, which is given each year to the senior girl making the highest scholastic average. The average must be above ninety, and since no boy in the class had attained the required grades, the Well prize for boys was presented to Miss Zelma Minter. Miss Parsons' and Miss Minter's averages were 91.6 and 91.2 respectively. The Royal Essay prize was won by Newbern Piland.

The seniors held their annual class day exercises at eleven o'clock yesterday morning in the high school auditorium.

The entire class was seated upon the stage with a background of pines, with red and white flowers, emphasizing the class colors. Alexander McLean, president of the Senior class, presided.

First on the program was the school song followed by the welcome address by McLean. Billy Simmons reviewed the class history, and then, Nina Hines recited the class poem. "The Prophecy" was rendered in a very unique manner by William Privett. He carried out the idea of the various seniors broadcasting over station G. H. S. twenty years hence. Newbern Piland read his prize essay, "My First Airplane Ride." Joe Parker gave some humorous "last wills." These various readings were interspersed with several songs having original words and familiar tunes.

SOVIET TROOPS ARE REPORTED ON THE MARCH

Soviet Russia Believed to Be Exacting Reprisal for Recent Raids

LONDON, June 13.—(AP)—The Express printed a dispatch from Peking today saying that Soviet Russia has launched its first direct war move against China, following the recent raids by Chinese troops on Soviet consulates in Manchuria. Soviet troops were reported to have crossed the Siberian border and to have established at points east of Manchuria.

The Soviets are said to be rushing reinforcements in special trains over the trans-Siberian railway to the points being established.

Chang Hsiao-Liang, dictator of Manchuria in succession to his father, the late Chang Pu-Lin, was said to have sent an urgent appeal to Nanking, advising that measures be taken to protect his territory. A session of the central executive has been convened hurriedly to consider the situation.

The Express says that outer Mongolia may be already considered the diplomatic ally of Russia, whose next move will probably be the occupation of a part of Manchuria, to be held until satisfaction for the recent raids is received, and until the question of ownership of the Chinese Eastern railway is settled.
