

SIMMONS WILL CONTINUE FIGHT AGAINST RASKOB

Tariff Statement Not To Be Taken As Act To Burying Hatchet

Repeats His Stand on Party Control in Interview with Press

INSISTS RASKOB MUST BE DEPOSED AS LEADER

Claims That Raskob's Views Favor Tariff Bill Now Pending

WASHINGTON, July 11.—(AP)—Senator Simmons, Democrat, North Carolina, who opposed Alfred E. Smith in the last campaign, plans to continue his fight to overthrow the "control and domination" of the party by "Raskob, Tammany Hall and its affiliated organizations."

The ranking Democrat of the Senate finance committee made this assertion today in denying reports that his recent statement assailing the house tariff bill, issued through the Democratic National committee, had "any connection whatever with the controversy within the party over the control of its national organization."

He said he thought he had made this clear in his conversation with Charles Michelson, publicity director of the National Committee, who had requested the tariff statement, and who, he added, also had himself expressed strong opposition to the bill.

He had no other purpose he added, than to "promote the fight against a bill which he regarded as discriminatory, unfair and dangerous."

The senator added that his own views in the tariff were not the views to be entertained by John J. Raskob, chairman of the National Committee, nor were they the views expressed by Mr. Smith in his campaign speeches. He was gratified, therefore, he said, to find the Washington Democratic headquarters supporting his attitude on the tariff.

As for the newspaper speculation regarding the significance of the circumstances, Senator Simmons said there had not been and would not be "any abatement" in his contention and insistence that the control of the party national organization by Raskob and Tammany Hall "should cease or be overthrown."

He believes now, as heretofore, he went on, "the perpetuation of that control will not only be an obstacle in the way of present party harmony but a menace to the future prospects of the party."

Regarding a report touching upon a probable meeting between the senator and Joseph Shouse, chairman of the national organization executive committee, the North Carolina Senator said at the time Mr. Michelson visited him the latter inquired whether he would be willing to make Mr. Shouse and "I answered without hesitation that I would."

Both Mr. Shouse and Mr. Michelson are gentlemen of character and standing as men and Democrats," the senator said. "Both of them were interested, as I understood, in frank and mutual discussion with a view to composing as far as possible the unfortunate differences now existing in the party; and with that object in view I assume Mr. Michelson made his inquiry of me as to whether I would meet Mr. Shouse."

"For my part I can see nothing unusual or sinister in representatives of both sides of certain controversies meeting in an honest effort to bring about party harmony."

Wilson's Coolness Prevents a Crash

The why of an apparently "stunting" airplane low over Goldsboro Tuesday afternoon was explained yesterday, and the explanation revealed how the coolness of Donald Wilson, Mt. Olive pilot, prevented his Travelair plane from crashing with himself and two passengers, M. G. and N. G. Parker. Wilson was banking his plane while directly over the city when a gust of wind caught the ship on the turn and drew it into a dive. The machine had fallen about 150 feet when Wilson's frantic working of the controls pulled her out of the dive and onto an even keel.

KENNEDY RITES HELD THURSDAY

Founder of Kennedy Memorial Home at Falling Creek Dies At 84

Funeral services for William L. Kennedy, 84, "Father of Kennedy Memorial Home," Baptist Orphanage at Falling Creek, were held from Cedar Hill, home of the deceased, at 11 o'clock yesterday morning. Captain Kennedy died in a Kingston hospital Wednesday morning of infirmities of old age.

Dr. B. W. Spillman, Rev. W. H. Moore, pastor of the First Baptist church of Kingston, and Rev. A. J. Smith, pastor of the Goldsboro Baptist church officiated at the final rites. Interment was in the family vault at the "Home" in Cedar Dell. The vault was built by the deceased for himself and his wife several years ago. His wife preceded him to the grave about 12 years ago.

The work for which Mr. Kennedy was most widely known and the one for which he will be remembered was the endowment of the orphan's home at Cedar Dell at a cost of several hundred thousands of dollars. He had no children of his own. The only near relative surviving is a sister, Mrs. M. H. Wooten of Clayton.

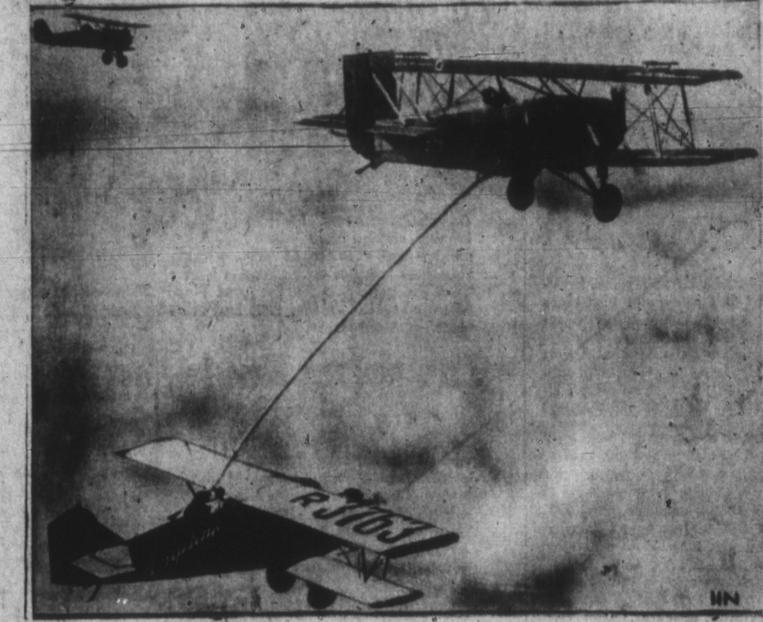

In the early life of Kingston and this part of the state Mr. Kennedy played a prominent part. Cedar Dell, about six miles west of Kingston, is typical of the ante-bellum mansions seen in several sections of the south and reflects the success which greeted the early efforts of Mr. Kennedy as a farmer and general business man. He was a member of the group founding the First National Bank of Kingston and was for sometime a director in the institution.

Although not a member of any church, Capt. Kennedy worshipped with the Baptists and was generally considered as one of that faith. In addition to helping in the founding of the Kennedy Home the deceased erected a church on the grounds.

California Wins Endurance Record Honors

Picture above is the "Angelino," being refueled in which R. H. Reinhart and L. W. Mendell broke the most recent refueling endurance flight record. Just what the final record will be depends on how much longer the two flyers and the motor can stand the strain. They have been flying for 10 days over Culver City, Cal.

Culver City Plane Nearing 300 Hours Steady Flying

CULVER CITY, Calif., July 11.—(AP)—The question of whether man or machine will crack first under the strain of sustained flying, a drawn verdict in recent noted tests appeared from an answer today in the supreme battle between flesh and metal developed in the record endurance flight of L. W. Mendell and R. H. Reinhart.

On their tenth day in the air, the pilots showed no signs of weakening and the single motor of their biplane was humming along despite what the airmen thought what might be a sign that wear and tear was having its effect.

In a note dropped to the airport the men said it was believed the motor was getting "a trifle noisy" but they added there was nothing seriously wrong.

No further mention was made of the oil pump which caused some difficulty last night.

Near the 225 hour, aloft, it appeared that Mendell and Reinhart, who have rightfully established claims to being "tough hombres" as they all themselves, might reach the 300 hour mark and possibly exceed it.

A message from Mendell said: "Motor running fine. Send up 100 gallons gasoline 8 p. m. Send us some window shades so we can have privacy. Tried take bath but four airplanes flew by and had to quit. See you next week—Mendell."

JINETTE SEEN IN MT. OLIVE

Abandon Search in River for Missing Man After Report Received

Preparations to begin dragging Neuse river south of the city in a search for John G. Jinnette, carpenter, who disappeared from his home on Slocumb street Tuesday morning, were abandoned yesterday when news was received that Mr. Jinnette had been seen in Mt. Olive Tuesday. Report from relatives that he had visited Mt. Olive allayed the fears of members of his family that he had done himself bodily harm. Where he went after leaving Mt. Olive is not known, and no direct word has been received from him.

John Moxingo, of near Mt. Olive, talked with Mr. Jinnette in the nearby town Tuesday. It was learned, but being busy about loading some produce said only a few words to him. Mr. Moxingo sought to locate him after he had finished his work but could find no trace of him.

At the request of Mrs. Jinnette, relatives had yesterday morning secured boats and gone to the Neuse river south of the city to begin dragging in an effort to locate the missing man. Word from Jinnette that her husband had been seen in Mt. Olive recalled them from their task.

The local carpenter left his home before breakfast Tuesday morning.

HANCOCK TALKS FOR HIS BILL

Issues Statement Answering Criticisms of Dr. Hunter of Cullowhee

The News Bureau By M. E. DUNNIGAN RALEIGH, July 11.—Breaking a silence maintained since he argued effectively and convincingly in behalf of his measure through many days of the last General Assembly session, Frank W. Hancock, Jr., of Oxford, has come to the defense of the Hancock school bill, now the State's school law, in a statement answering criticisms aimed at four features of the law by President H. T. Hunter, of Western North Carolina Teachers College, to a group of summer school teachers at the Cullowhee institution.

While Dr. Hunter enumerated several features of the law which he considered excellent, he mentioned four which are objectionable to the educational forces of the State. In his statement, Mr. Hancock takes up these four objections and defends the power (Continued on Page Two)

REPORTS MADE TO BOARD HERE

135 Who Should Be In Hospital Cannot Be Taken For Lack Room

Due to lack of room at the State Hospital for the colored insane here there are 135 persons confined in county homes and jails of the state who should be in the hospital, it was reported to the board of trustees of the institution in session here Wednesday.

The total number of patients on the hospital roll now is 1798, it was reported—1677 in the hospital and the others out patients.

Data submitted to the board on the cost of operating the hospital, revealed that the per capita cost per day is 42.5 cents, of which 17 cents goes for food and the remainder for food, medical attention and all other items.

Report of Superintendent W. C. Linville showed that the hospital has 1450 acres of land most of which is in cultivation. Sixty different articles are produced on the hospital farm which is worked by the patients of the institution. There is also a dairy farm.

Another interesting fact brought out was that the hospital not only lives within its income but actually has turned back into the State treasury in the last 100 years about $38,000.

Members of the board of directors here today were Dr. J. E. Hart, Wadesboro; Dr. G. W. Paschal, Wake Forest; Dr. John D. Robinson, Wallace; C. P. Aycock, Pantego; L. M. Blue, Gibson and W. J. Boyd, Greenville.

The four projects totaling approximately $1,300,000. Work will begin in the next week and will be completed within a year.

The Rose company is now completing the second unit of two construction jobs at Camp Bragg, totaling $715,000. It has well under way the erection of a veterans hospital at Oteen, N. C., under a contract of $436,000.

FAISON SELLING LIMA BEANS NOW

Prices of $3 to $4 a basket Prevailed on Market Yesterday Morning

While the cucumber season is dwindling away, the lima bean season is opening on the Faison truck market. The News was told yesterday.

"Lima beans were selling down there for $3 and $4 a basket yesterday," remarked J. F. Williams of Mt. Olive.

"I guess they had already sold 300 baskets during the short time that I was there, and they were expecting to ship two cars during the day. A whole lot was going by express and more going out by truck."

Grand Master Phoenix and Superintendent Proctor Make Addresses

MILL CREEK OFFICERS INSTALLED AT PICNIC

Grand Master Asks Former Falling Creek Members to Join Elsewhere

Addresses by Grand Master J. F. Phoenix of Greensboro, by C. E. Proctor, Superintendent of the United Germanic, and the installation of officers of the Mill Creek Lodge, Bentonville, featured the Masonic picnic at Worrell's Mill in Grantham township yesterday afternoon. Some 200 members of the Goldsboro and Wayne Lodges, with their families, and members of the Eastern Star were in attendance at the occasion.

Rain probably cut down the attendance by one-third. Showers which set in early yesterday afternoon turned to a steady rain and many Masons took a look outdoors and decided the affair wouldn't be held. Their attending, however, reported that they found very little rain had fallen in the Falling Creek section of Grantham, where the picnic was held, and at Mr. Worrell's Mill, only a drizzle came to bother the picnickers.

In the course of his address Grand Master Phoenix extended a special invitation for former members of the Falling Creek Lodge, which for various reasons has been rendered inoperative, to become affiliated with some other Lodge.

The financial report of the Grantham Lodge has now reached a total of $100,000 and that this sum is being administered through 33 institutions of higher learning in North Carolina. The money is available to be expended for loans to worthy young men and women who are putting themselves through college.

The Greensboro man, an interesting talker, congratulated this district on the fine work it is doing and declared that Masonry is growing steadily and substantially.

Mr. Proctor, superintendent of the Orphanage, since his resignation of the Rocky Mount Methodist church, pastored, told of the work which the Masons of the state are doing for the fatherless. There are now 600 children at the Orphanage, he reported, and the institution is the oldest in the State. He pleaded with every Mason present to pay a visit to Oxford for the purpose of inspecting the home, saying that it would give new inspiration as to the practicality of Masonic principles.

The members of the Mill Creek Lodge, Bentonville, attended the picnic in a body and they requested Grand Master Phoenix to install their newly elected officers. The impressive ceremony was held in a grove near the old mill site at the site.

Following the addresses, a barbecue and picnic supper was served, which left nothing more to be desired.

Frequent expressions of gratitude toward Mr. Worrell for having permitted the use of his place for the affair were heard.
