GERMAN ZEPPELIN STARTS FLIGHT TO UNITED STATES

LEFT GERMANY AT 3:29 A. M. THIS MORNING

Stowaway Discovered As Ship Flies But No Stop Made to Eject Him

EXPECTS TO REACH NEW YORK SUNDAY MORNING

Will Return to Friedrichshafen to Begin Flight Around World

FRIEDRICHSHAFEN, Germany, July 31.—(AP)—The dirigible Graf Zeppelin took off on her flight to the United States at 3:29 a. m. today.

The big ship got away 1 minute ahead of her schedule which had been set for 3:30 a. m. (9:30 Wednesday night Eastern Standard time) She described one circle over Friedrichshafen and then rapidly disappeared from the west her new motor taking the place of those which had failed on the last previous attempt to reach America making a steady hum.

The ground crew started to drag the huge airship from her hangar shortly after 2:30 a. m. At that hour the crew and passengers were ready to go aboard and they entered their quarters as soon as the ship was in the clear.

It was 3:25 a. m. before the dirigible was entirely clear of the hangar. As the ship was dragged from the hangar a stowaway was seen to jump from a beam to the top of the zeppelin and disappear into a ventilator into the interior of the big airship. A shout was raised and the crew quickly found him but the zeppelin was not halted to eject him and it sailed with the interloper aboard.

The craft expects to arrive at Lakehurst, probably circling first over New York City, some time Sunday, August 4, at the completion of a four day trip over a course of probably more than 4,000 miles.

The ship will remain at Lakehurst only three or four days, beginning there on August 7 or August 9, its round the world trip. Cruising eastward its first stop will be Friedrichshafen for three or four days, its next at Tokyo for four days, and the last at Los Angeles for four days.

"We expect to use 67 days for the flight itself, exclusive of stops," Captain Von Schiller, third in command, said. "The journey with the stops included, should take a little less than a month."

In crossing the Pacific the dirigible will not be able to fly above the Hawaiian Islands since it will take a great circle course from Tokyo for Los Angeles which would take it north of the Archipelago.

An important new safety contrivance has been added to the Graf's construction. An airtight rubber tubing of considerable size attached to the bottom of the passenger gondola it is believed will prevent the vessel's sinking should it be forced to alight on the water.

CUT TARIFF ON TOBACCO

Republican Senators Will Let Cheap Tobacco for Cigars Enter Free

WASHINGTON, July 31.—(AP)—Agricultural tariff rates received increases from the Republicans of the Senate finance committee in their revision of the House tariff measure today but the pruning knife was applied to lumber and tobacco schedules.

The duties proposed on milk, eggs and poultry were jumped above the increases voted by the house. The rates on cattle, sheep, swine and butter were kept at the house figure. The increase voted by the house on tobacco wrappers used in manufacture of cigars was eliminated and the tariff which has applied since 1922 on mogahony was repealed.

Senator Bingham, Connecticut, waged a determined drive for a retention of tobacco increases voted by the house. Tobacco growers of his state, Georgia and Florida, had urged this increase in opposition to the protest of the manufacturers of cheap cigars. Bingham was overwhelmingly voted down, however but repeated motions for increases in these rates were rejected by narrow margins.

LEGION RACE WAXES WARM

Raleigh Times Sees Freeman and Newell Leading With Bourne Dark Horse

The Raleigh Times says that Henry Bourne, Tarboro Legionnaire, who is now regarded as the "dark horse" candidate for commander of the North Carolina Department of the American Legion when the annual convention of the Legion is held in Raleigh August 25-27, may not be elected, but he may have considerable to do with electing whoever is elected.

Col. George K. Freeman, of Goldsboro, and Hodge A. Newell, of Henderson, are conducting a stiff battle for votes right now, and it is expected both will reach the floor of the convention with about an equal number of votes. How many Mr. Bourne will have is problematical, but he may have enough votes to put some man on the road to victory, of else he may benefit himself if Newell and Freeman get into a hopeless deadlock.

Being the host at the convention, Raleigh Post, No. 1, has just about decided to divide its vote between Newell and Freeman, with Bourne probably getting a scattering vote here and there. Newell and Freeman both have a large number of friends in the Raleigh post.

While the men are wrought up over the Newell-Freeman-Bourne contest, the women of the Legion Auxiliary are also warring. The principal contenders for office of president, of the auxiliary are Mrs. R. S. McGeachy, of Kinston, and Mrs. John K. Stear, of Charlotte.

Major General Charles P. Summerall, chief of staff of the United States Army, and Colonel Patrick J. Hurley, Assistant Secretary of War, will be principal speakers during the convention.

FIGHT FOREST FIRES

TRANDON, Wis., July 31.—Along a flaming battle front nearly 1,000 men fought tonight to save Wisconsin timberlands menaced by new forest fires.

"We caught seven of the big fellows in all, Col. Hardenburg of New Jersey caught one—and I was glad because he is one of the gamest old young gentlemen I have seen in days. Mary caught one, and Mr. Moore, local attorney, caught the other. He called justly for help when the fish struck."

"I still maintain that this is the finest place for tired business men in the world, I believe that Dr. Cobb will back that up also, even without today's fishing. He came down here hunting for violet rays and leaves here in the morning loaded."

"Mrs. Cobb has revealed in historic lore and outlaced a few cannibalistic mosquitoes—non malarial. She and Miss Nelly and Miss Lella saw the Doctor fight the big drum to the finish. "Will tell you all about it when I get back. The beautiful part of it is that it's all truth."

DR. CATCHES A FABULOUS FISH

Dr. W. H. Cobb Yanks in Drum As Big As Himself at Oregon Inlet

"Fish may not be biting in some places—but not so around Roanoke Island," writes Col. John D. Langston from Manteo to a friend in the city. Dr. W. H. Cobb and wife and two sisters, Miss Nellie and Miss Lella went over to Oregon Inlet today with my family and sister, Mrs. E. R. Thomas, and a few local friends and caught nearly 200 pounds.

"The trout were not doing so well so we dropped out across the bar through the inlet and tried our luck with the big drum. Of course they were not doing as well as usual, but the first thing I knew, Dr. Cobb yanked in a drum nearly as big as he was. That put me on my nettle and I proceeded to entice three over the side of the boat. My largest one (actual weight) was fifty pounds and two others about twenty apiece. I reserve the right to amend these figures in ordinary conversation with the general public. I shall let Dr. Cobb furnish his own figures when he gets home and shall take great pleasure in verifying them, expecting of course reciprocity. Pictures will arrive later."

Europe Masses Troops To Prevent Communist Riots Asked By Russia

Rockefeller Would Not Take Payment

Friends in the city are chuckling over the experience of Mrs. Lionel Well upon her arrival for the summer in the mountains of New Hampshire. It seems that the Well summer home is some distance from the railway point. Mrs. Well is described as having looked about anxiously for a "Taxi" or "For Hire" sign on an automobile, but failing to find one, asked a young man at the station if he could drive her and her little daughter to their destination. He agreed, and the Well home reached. Mrs. Well offered him money for the service. "No, thank you," he remarked, and refusing the money, he tipped his hat and drove away. "Who was that?" Mrs. Well asked of an acquaintance. "Why that is a member of the Rockefeller family," was the reply.

DICK REYNOLDS FOUND GUILTY

Sentenced to 5 Months in British Prison for Accident Fatality

LONDON, July 31.—(AP)—Richard Joshua Reynolds, son of North Carolina tobacco family, was in Britain tonight starting to serve a sentence of 5 months imposed upon him today by a jury in old Bailey which found him guilty of manslaughter in connection with the death of Arthur Graham, a motorcyclist in an automobile accident last May.

Besides having to serve his time in prison, Young Reynolds was assessed the cost of the proceedings. He has already made liberal provision for the widow of Graham.

There was no motion of "hard labor" in the sentence and beginning tomorrow, Reynolds will be assigned to light work.

With good conduct he has a chance of earning a small remission. Also since the sentence dates from the beginning of the trial at Old Bailey he will be released before Christmas.

LONDON, July 31.—(AP)—Richard Joshua Reynolds, rich young American of Winston-Salem, N. C., today was found guilty of manslaughter on charges of an accident in which his automobile was involved and a motor cyclist was killed last May.

The old Bailey jury deliberated less than an hour after the defense had concluded its final address and the case had been given to it. Arthur Graham, the motor cyclist, was killed on the Bath road at night when Reynolds was driving back to London from an outing at Hurley. The prosecution alleged the defendant was drunk at the time.

Reynolds was sentenced to five months in prison.

August 1 Demonstration Scheduled on Birthday of Soviet Republic

TWO REPORTED KILLED IN RIOT AT SARAJEVO

Paris Mobilizes Army of 22,000 To Be Able to Prevent Serious Trouble

(By Associated Press)

Police of European cities and in some instances large bodies of troops were massing last night in preparation for the August 1 communist celebration of the birth of the Soviet Republic. A world wide call for communism to make a show of strength today in the honor of the date and also as a protest against the Chinese attitude toward Russia was sent out sometime ago from Moscow.

Paris was turned into an armed camp and Berlin, Brussels, Stockholm, London and other northern European capitals were prepared for possible rioting.

Southern Europe especially the Balkans, showed the most threatening situation, reports to Belgrade capital of Jugoslavia told of arson and rioting at Sarajevo, the town in which occurred the assassination of an Austrian archduke, setting fire to the timber of world war. Several deaths were reported in that place.

VIENNA, July 31.—(AP)—Dispatches from Sarajevo, Jugoslavia, the cradle of the world war, tonight said that two workmen were killed and several others wounded when police fought with communists who had set fire to the railroad shops in that city and had tried also to ignite other buildings.

A dispatch from Agreb, capital of Croatia, said that communists had distributed dynamite bombs among the workers of that center of the Croatian separatist movement.

PARIS, July 31.—(AP)—The suburbs of Paris today looked for vast entrenched camp with 22,000 soldiers, gendarmes, and police gathered at strategic points ready to deal with any attempt of communists to carry out threats of violence tomorrow when world wide communist demonstrations are expected.

Perfect of Police Chatelet conferred with subordinates throughout the day completing plans to prevent trouble. Opinions divided as to whether there will be serious rioting. The official organ of the communist party continues to exhort the workers to go into the streets and show their strength but the aggressive tone of posters and pamphlets seems to have been toned down since the arrest of 120 agitators and search of more than 300 houses by police.

Police operations have developed the fact that communists have imported military documents as well as information concerning the telephone system of Paris which they are not entitled.

E. E. Griffin Goes Parading Down Street in His Pajamas

The pajamas-for-street-wear for men movement penetrated to Goldsboro yesterday. E. E. Griffin paraded in a cream and pink suit from My Haberdashery to Hicks and Hawley, shaking hands en route.

Mr. Griffin went in for the new style in complete fashion, insisting that "Snake" Roge's of My Haberdashery put a nice crease in the pink trousers before he donned them. Then there was much ado about how the sash should be tied. Some wanted it in a bow knot, but fastidious Mr. Griffin insisted that it should be allowed to drape, and it did drape.

"You can't say there is anything indecent about this," remarked the pajamas convert as he surveyed himself questioningly as he entered upon Walnut street, now lined with spectators to whom word of the proposed parade had gone out. Swinging his cane he started on the half block tour. "Why that looks all right," remarked a woman who was having a drink at Hicks and Hawley's, and who had heard that Mr. Griffin was coming. "I thought I was going to see something. He's got on several times more stuff now than most of the girls who come in here."

It was after John Edwards had purchased him a cigar that Mr. Griffin really missed his pants. Inadvertently his right hand reached for his trousers pockets in search of a match. "Oh, that's right, these things don't have pockets," he said. "Somebody give me a match."

He started back along his route, pausing at the corner of Walnut and Center while pictures were taken for The News. Goggle-eyed spectators to whom word of the proposed parade
