Associated Press Report Tells of Farmers Turning Tags on Wilson Floors

Sale of approximately 176,000 pounds of tobacco on Goldsboro warehouses yesterday brought total sales for the first two days of the 1929 season on the local market to 484,730 pounds. While complete official figures were still lacking, it appeared that the average for the first two days would be about 12 cents. Warehousemen were satisfied that the averages here were equal to the average, if not higher, than that on any of the markets in Eastern North Carolina, but admitted that the price was lower than had been anticipated on the basis of reports of sales on the Georgia and border markets.

Sales on the Goldsboro floors during the first two days were approximately 342,000 pounds greater than sales on the first two days of last year. On the second day last year a serious flood practically isolated Goldsboro from the adjacent rural sections and only 15,000 pounds were sold.

While reports from Wilson indicate that the average there was one or two days last year, the average Tuesday and Wednesday in Goldsboro were about one half cent greater than the average a year ago. On the opening day last year the average was only $1.23, and on the basis of accurate figures, though incomplete of yesterday's sales the average was $1.36.

Wednesday's auctions were started with completing that portion of tobacco on the Curran warehouse at the end of Tuesday's sales, and then the sale moved to Yelverton House.

Official figures available yesterday showed that the Tuesday sales were 303,922 pounds and the sales yesterday totaled 176,638 pounds.

The auctioneers worked about 30 minutes overtime yesterday afternoon to complete the sales.

Today a new round of auctioneering will be started with a new drawing for place. The rain starting yesterday afternoon, however, was expected to hold the arrival of tobacco in any considerable quantity and a light day was expected.

Turning Tags at Wilson WILSON, Sep. 4.—(P)—Prices failed to rally on the local tobacco market today and it was estimated that growers received an average of 12 cents a pound for the 1,250,000 pounds sold.

Yesterday's block was off to a good start and indications were for light sales again tomorrow as a storm this afternoon prevented the growers from bringing their offerings to the market.

Official sales figures made public by Bennett Hooks, supervisor of sales revealed that yesterday's opening was the biggest ever experienced, but that the average was considerably lower than was predicted. Growers received $12.11 per hundred pounds for the 1,510,546 pounds, a cent lower than yesterday's estimated figures. Yesterday's average was more than a cent lower than the $13.28 average of last year's opening day.

Discouraged over the prices paid for their tobacco many growers are turning their tags and are moving their weed from the warehouse floors.

NEGRESS SAYS SHE WAS SHOT

Argument About "Boy Friends" Climaxed When Leo Isler Used His Pistol

Leo Isler, 39-year-old resident of L. street, will face charges of assault with a deadly weapon when he appears before Judge D. H. Blain today over a day's work. Isler was arrested at his home yesterday morning about 5:30 o'clock by officer F. E. Rouse on the complaint of Esther McDaniel, negress, that Leo has shot at her with a pistol Sunday evening.

The McDaniel woman told officers that she and several others were in one of the rooms at her home Sunday talking together when the conversation suddenly switched around to the subject of "boy friends." The talk continued to wax fiercer until finally an argument came into being. Isler became rough, according to the story told by the woman, and proceeded to use a chair, causing the women to run out of the room.

Isler was then said to have gone to his home nearby and returned a few moments later with a pistol. The McDaniel woman told the police she was standing in the yard and that as Isler approached he fired at her. Another woman who came with her, however, to make the complaint declared that the man fired at the ground merely to frighten the girl. As a result of questioning by Chief of Police Ed Tew, it developed that this second woman was one of Isler's "girl friends."

Chief Tew finally decided that the entire mix-up should be given an airing in county court and ordered the witness to report at the court house Monday morning.

Eight People Killed As Lightning Strikes Mammoth Air Line

One Squirrel Costs $60.50

Game Warden H. A. Pike Starts Campaign of Enforcement of Hunting Laws

The sum of $60.50 may be a rather high price for one squirrel, but that is what the little animal cost W. Arthur Wadsworth of Edison and R. L. Wadsworth of Tench's yesterday morning. When arraigned by county game warden H. A. Pike before Esq. W. G. Britt, Sr., yesterday morning the men entered a plea of guilty to a charge of shooting squirrels out of season and were fined $25 and the costs, the total bill amounting to $60.50.

Reports had reached Game Warden Pike that hunters were violating the state game laws in shooting squirrel in Grantham township. Yesterday morning early he drove to the point where the trouble had been reported. Here he found an automobile parked in a man's yard and the people of the house said that the owners of the car were down on the river. Locking the car and taking the key, Mr. Pike went searching for the hunters. He missed them, but when he returned he found the owners of the car awaiting him. They admitted having violated the state game law said they had bagged one squirrel and begged to be let off as light as possible. The law provides for a fine of as high as $50 and costs for hunting out of season but upon recommendation of Mr. Pike the amount was set in the case as $25 and costs.

The open season for squirrels does not begin until October 15 and yesterday's arrests and convictions were the first in a campaign inaugurated by Mr. Pike to see that the law is obeyed in Wayne County. There are 100 deputy wardens in the county and they are actively cooperating in reporting evidences of violation of the game laws in their communities.

"The game laws" said Mr. Pike yesterday "were adopted by the state with the idea of protecting our wild life to the end that it may not be exterminated to the end that there may be hunting from year to year. The state department of conservation has given careful thought to the matter of open seasons on various wild life, and they have set definite times in which hunting is allowed. It will not be a pleasure for me to have to enforce these laws, but it is my sworn duty and I shall do my best to carry it out. The deputy wardens are cooperating nicely in reporting violations, and this office will proceed to act whenever the evidence is at hand. It will be much more pleasant all the way around if hunters will confine their activities to the open seasons, and it should be remembered that even then a license is required."

Mr. Pike said yesterday that a number of reports of squirrel shooting had come to him from various parts of the county and that he was acting just as rapidly as possible in making investigations in each case.
