Transient advertising must be paid in advance. For all other cards rates to be quoted on application. Contracts will be entered into by the year, three, six or twelve months, quarterly for regular advertising. Other terms of these or proportionate rates.

Local notices 10 cents per line for first insertion; 5 cents per line for each subsequent insertion. Notices of meetings, such as administrators', executors', guardians', commissioners' and trustees' sales, expirations to non-residents, &c., will be charged for at legal rates, except when they exceed a certain limit of space, in which case we reserve the right to fix our own prices.

If you miss a copy of THE GAZETTE, you couldn't please us better than by rubbing a dust rag making the air blue about it. It is our business to keep GAZETTE matters straight, and you want to do it.

The Fusion Legislature convenes next week. This paper will give you the news. Have you subscribed yet?

The Greensboro Patriot is sixty-nine years old. Full of years and full of honors, it has well earned its right to live.

The city of Atlanta has practically doubled her population in ten years. A correspondent of the Morganton Herald believes that with water works and paved streets that town can go Atlanta one better and triple her population in the next decade. A census of Gastonia will be taken next June, when we believe Gastonia will go about two better and show her population doubled in five years without the paved streets and waterworks.

We confess to a certain relish for our exchanges. We missed their familiar faces during the holidays, and it was with a satisfaction little short of delight that we opened the Lenoir Topic New Year's night. This is always the first of our weekly exchanges to reach us. To all our exchanges we express the hope that Christmas was to them as happy as it was welcome and that the New Year may bring them all the ability to work, the zest to love it, and the good fortune to profit by it.

Just Then Weather.

The excessively inclement weather of the week just past has doubtless kept many of our subscribers from renewing. It has kept us from seeing our local subscribers, and has likewise kept our out-of town subscribers from getting to Gastonia or even to their own post-offices.

Under these conditions we do not feel justified in cutting off without remedy for this week all those who have not renewed. Next week, however, our books will be revised. If any reader then fails to get his paper, it will likely be because he hasn't paid for it. No pay, no paper. The editor has no capital to enable him to indulge his subscribers on the credit system. We will not borrow. When the paper is no longer able to go on cash legs, it won't go. It doesn't want to go where people do not care enough for it to pay in advance and that is why a revision of the mailing lists will be made before next issue.

One dollar and a half will get the paper a year, seventy-five cents will pay for six months, and fifty cents will keep it coming four months. Remittances from our county subscribers may be safely made through the postoffice. Stamps are acceptable when other means of remittance is not convenient. All our subscribers are cordially invited to renew. But whether they are able to renew or not, the GAZETTE prints them one and all a Happy New Year and abundant blessings to basket and store for eighteen hundred and ninety-five.

A New Ice Enterprise.

The question of selling the public square is, we learn, under consideration by the town council. We sincerely trust that this property will never be allowed to pass out of the possession and control of the town authorities.

Sentiment, pride, and patriotism are all against such a proposition and there are no pressing business considerations to demand it. Sometime ago we suggested in these columns the idea of making a flower and grass plot of this public square and of erecting thereon a monument to the memory of Gaston county's brave Confederate dead. That idea of the use to which this square should be consecrated grew on us with the thought of it. In wisdom appropriation we have found the idea growing on others.

No county furnished braver soldiers to the Confederate cause than old Gaston. No soldiers made a more brilliant record as fighters or won in a higher degree the entire confidence of their commanders than did the brave boys who went from Gaston, many of whom now sleep in soldier's graves in far distant States. Gaston's sons were present in the storm of shot and shell at Gettysburg, and some of her sons are living to day who sealed those fiery heights and reached the enemy's lines. Her sons who fell on the field of battle and those whom Heaven sent back home are worthy of our remembrance. Yet nowhere does any shaft rise imperishable to the sacred memory of Gaston county's enthralled dead.

But it ought to rise. Some day it will rise in perpetuation of their memory. And when this Confederate monument does stand upon its base, let it stand in Gastonia upon the public square, where by day and by night, in storm and in sunshine, it may tell to the stranger and the passer-by, its mute story of the bravery of our dead and the affection of our living.

Don't sell the public square. Erect on it a granite monument to Gaston county's brave Confederate dead.

The State's Finances.

The committee appointed to examine the books, etc., of the State Treasurer and Auditor has completed its work. The statement of receipts and disbursements is as follows.

For 1893, receipts of public fund, $1,491,467.97; of educational fund, $89,686.03. Disbursements for 1893, of public fund, $1,284,694.41; of educational fund, $88,909.77. Balances December, 1893, public fund, $207,862.86; educational fund, $39,766.25. For 1894, receipts of public fund $1,446,-908.71; educational fund, $51,823.25, both these amounts including surplus from the year previous. Disbursements, public fund, $1,143,749.33; educational fund, $43,784.63. Balance in treasury, December 1, 1894, public fund $303,309.36; educational fund, $8,087.72.

The committee recommends that the unusually increasing balance, now amounting to a surplus, be used annually in retiring the 4 per cent. bonds of the State, and the next Legislature take steps to convert it into a sinking fund for this specific purpose. It appears further from the report that during the present year an apportionment of $98,094.20 was made by the State board of education among the various counties of the State, thus reducing the balance of that fund by 27,642 in 1893 to 1894. This shows a net increase of the accumulations during the year of $6,441 64.

It appears from the committee's report that the management of State Treasurer Tate has been admirable in all respects, wise and economical and that no Treasurer has managed the State's finances in a more brilliantly successful way. He has accumulated and covered into the State Treasury $8,371.63 clear profit.

Attention is called to the fact that the fees paid into the Treasury from the office of the Secretary of State have aggregated nearly enough to pay all the running expenses of the State government. The salaries of the officers in the executive and judicial departments, including the railway commission and entire servant hire and stationery account, have been almost wholly paid from this source. These fees are mainly derived from the fees of insurance companies and the organization of corporations.

Discontent as a Cause.

Durham Sun.

Depression continues, and why? Here are some of the reasons: Every manufacturer wants to be a millionaire, every working man wants to be "skilled" and receive fancy wages, every merchant wants to be a merchant prince, every doctor wants to be a specialist and get rich fast, every lawyer wants to be the attorney of a great corporation, every preacher wants to be a D. D. and have charge of a city church, every farmer wants his land converted into town lots and most of them "corner lots," every railroad company wishes to span the continent and kind ocean to ocean, every girl wants to be leader in society before she leaves her teens, and every boy wants to be a man before he reaches his. Are we extravagant in saying every one? Well, let's change it to most every one, and what's the result? Universal unrest, wide-spread disappointment and profound depression. Remedy: Call a halt. Go slower. Having food and raiment therewith be content. The contented are the rich after all.

Newspapers in the Schools.

Des Moines Register.

The suggestion made by a Register correspondent a few days ago of newspaper readings in the country schools is very sensible, and also feasible. The newspaper stands for life, for the world in its varied and various interests. It is an expurgated edition of the preceding day's history. Children who are brought into daily contact with the news of the world learn to discriminate and to accept even revolting news as matters of fact. They are misleading only to those to whom such things are new. Parents who have to trust their children to the world need not be afraid to trust them to the newspapers. How many schools are there in the State where the fact, the bare fact, of a war between China and Japan is fully known to-day? How many such schools in which the teacher has pointed out on the map the country in which hundreds of Christians were recently slaughtered by the Turks? How much the study of geography would be improved if matters of present interest were woven into the lessons. It is no more demoralizing, or distracting, to know what is going on in the neighborhood, for gossip and scandal are worse than wars and murders and the other gross crimes which newspapers chronicle in excess.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

Christmas at Tuckaseege.

The Children Delighted with the Christmas Tree—The Committee—Wants Christmas Every Month—Mr. Linebarger a Model Mill Manager.

To the Editor of The Gazette:

TUCKASEEGE, Dec. 31, '94.—For weeks before the time came for a grand Christmas tree, our people began to prepare for it, and, as all know, Tuckaseege people don't do anything by halves. But the tree was a surprise to all who saw it. It was said to have about $300 worth on it, and oh, how many and how nice the presents were! Some for old folks, some for young people, and some for sweethearts.

But the prettiest sight was the little children. Many were the glad little hearts that were there, made merry by the presents they received.

Long before the hour arrived for the opening people began to throng the church, and in a few minutes after the door opened, the house was packed to overflowing. When the curtains were removed, oh, what a sight! And when old Santa Claus came out to distribute the presents, how sweet the smiling faces looked!

We had music for the occasion by Messrs. Gordon and Leek Harris, who know how to handle the harp and guitar and the banjo. It made us wish that Christmas would come every month.

The success of the event is due to the committee who had it in charge, consisting of W. R. Harris as foreman aided by Mr. A. C. Linebarger, Mr. Ave Mauney, and Mrs. I. W. Baumgarner, with Miss Dora Harris, Miss Carrie Hipp, and Miss Lonnie Sanford. It was a grand time, one that will not soon be forgotten by the good people of Tuckaseege.

Mr. A. C. Linebarger, General Manager of the mill, deserves great credit for the interest he takes in his hands. He wants them to have a good time and does all in his power to make them have a good time.

But the pleasant occasion is past and gone and gone forever. God bless the good people of Tuckaseege. May they live long and die happy. God grant that Tuckaseege may keep its good name until the end of time. When I looked at that beautiful tree that night it seemed to me that Tuckaseege must be the garden spot of the world.

HONESTY.

The Third and Seventh Judicial Districts.

Fayetteville Observer.

The result of the vote for solicitor in the Third district stands: John E. Woodard, 9,597. Claude M. Benard, 9,464, Claude N. Bernard, (in Manning's township, Nash county) 342; Claude H. Bernard, (in Wilson county) 79.

That for solicitor in the Seventh district thus: N. A. McLean, 11,839; H. F. Seawell, 9,749; Robert F. Seawell, 1,091; H. L. Seawell, 2,987.

The board of canvassers accordingly issued certificates to Messrs. Woodard and McLean as solicitors. Senator Charles A. Cook, the Republican on the board said: "The board could not do otherwise than it has done. It had no power to correct returns. The whole board would correct them if it had power; but its duties are strictly prescribed in the statutes."

[Messrs. Woodard and McLean are both understood to have declined to accept the offices thus adjudged to them. It was plain that all the votes for "Bernard" and for "Seawell" were intended for Claude M. Bernard and H. F. Seawell, the fusion candidates. The action of Messrs. Woodard and McLean is in the highest degree creditable to them.]

Carlton Cornwell, foreman of the Gazette, Middletown, N. J., believes that Chamberlain's Cough Remedy should be in every home. He used it for a cold and it effected a speedy cure. He says: "It is indeed a grand remedy, I can recommend to all. I have also seen it used for whooping cough, with the best results." 25 and 50 cent bottles for sale by Curry & Kennedy, Druggists.

A Years Newspaper Writing.

Exchange.

How much does a newspaper man write in a year? An old newspaper worker has sat down and figured it out. He figures that he writes an average of a column and a half every day, except for his Sunday paper, when he contributes three columns. This makes twelve columns a week, and, allowing for two weeks vacation, he has fifty weeks in a year. An ordinary book of short stories contains about 40,000 words, therefore his year's labor is equivalent to twenty books. At this rate of comparison the feat of Marion Crawford in publishing two books per annum, does not strike the newspaper man as an incredibly hard task, even allowing for the extra amount of thought involved in story writing. Mr. Howells considers a thousand words a good day's work. Thomas Janvier is satisfied with 400 words, or a little over a quarter of a column.

Superstitions of New Year's Eve.

Country folk study the weather very closely and draw auguries therefrom, for the winds of New Year's eve have portentous qualities. Hence:

If New Year's eve night wind blow south,
It betokeneth warmth and growth;
If west, much milk and fish in the sea;
If north, much cold and storms there will be;
If east, the trees will bear much fruit;
If northeast, 'tis a prosperous year.

The custom of drawing water from the dead and living ford Usque-Castriorid is still followed in some parts of the highlands. This water when drunk acts as a charm against the spells of witchcraft, the evil eye, etc. The highlanders, too burn juniper branches and fill their houses with smoke to purify them and prevent harm entering them during the coming year.—Selected.

Many stubborn and aggravating cases of rheumatism that were believed to be incurable and accepted as life legacies, have yielded to Chamberlain's Pain Balm, much to the surprise and gratification of the sufferers. One application will relieve the pain and suffering and its continued use insures an effectual cure. For sale by Curry & Kennedy, Druggists.

A Card.

To whom it may concern:

I do not usually trouble the general public with any defense of myself, preferring to let my conduct speak for itself. But since the late election certain parties around Belmont, N. C., have sought to destroy my influence by the circulation of certain groundless charges filed by the attorneys of certain members of Phalanx Lodge of Masons in Charlotte, which members I had sued for damages in 1890 for giving publicity to a malicious letter written by an enemy of mine in Texas, who, knowing that I was not a Mason, sought thus to stab me in the dark. The charges presented in the answer which was filed by the attorneys for the Masons to my suit were furnished by this same malicious party.

After making inquiry from outside and disinterested parties in Texas the defendants were not willing to go to trial on these charges, and for weeks besieged my attorneys for a compromise. In order to secure this compromise the defendants gave my attorneys the following retraction and paid all the costs of the suit.

NORTH CAROLINA, }
Mecklenburg County. }
M. P. Matheny
vs.
W. M. Crowell and others.

We, the undersigned defendants in the above entitled action, state that the letter which is the ground of complaint in said action, was directed to the Master of the lodge of Masons to which we belong and was apparently on official business, that it was read as a part of the routine business, and in no action of ours predicated thereon did we intend to endorse said letter or in any wise to reflect upon the reputation of the plaintiff.

That in reference to certain charges made in the answer heretofore filed in this cause, we state that we have no personal knowledge of the truth of the same, and do hereby withdraw the same so far as they in any wise reflect upon the reputation of the plaintiff.

W. F. GRIFFITH, J. S. BOYKE, W. T. BRAMAN, W. N. PRATHER, W. M. CROWELL, J. K. PUREFOY, J. K. P. NEATHERY.

I make this publication because I have gone to the parties who procured the copy of this answer from the court records and asked for it that I might show their falsity, and the deacons of Belmont church, which I serve as pastor, sent two of their number for the same purpose—all of which requests were denied. The document has been carefully kept from my membership but secretly circulated among other people in order to destroy my influence among them.

A Creditable Sentiment.

Biblical Recorder.

Rev. W. B. Morton and Judge elect R. W. Timberlake of Louisburg were pleasant visitors to our office last week. It has been told of Rev. Timberlake that when on the campaign he was urged by his political friends to spend some money for whiskey, he declined, saying that he preferred to be defeated by whiskey more rather than win by whiskey. So much for honor and religion.

Famous for Its Canoes.

Tilghman's island, a part of Talbot county, Md., and connected with the mainland by a bridge, is famous in the Chesapeake region for its canoes. The island is about three square miles in area, and is densely populated by a hardy race of eastern shore men, who gain their living in the waters of the bay. When ice or the laws of Maryland interfere with their ordinary pursuits, the Tilghman's islanders build canoes, and do it admirably well. The true Chesapeake canoe is still a dugout. Sometimes two or three logs are hollowed for the purpose and joined together. The result is a remarkably staunch boat, good in all waters, and almost indestructible.

The founder of the Japanese navy was an Englishman named Will Adams, who went to the eastern seas as a pilot of a Dutch fleet in 1598, and was cast away in Japan a couple of years later. He became a Japanese noble and constructor of the navy to the tycoon, but was never allowed to return to England. He died about twenty years afterward, very ingeniously leaving half of his property to his wife and family in England and the other half to his wife and family in Japan. After his death he was deified. A few years ago his tomb and that of his Japanese wife were discovered.
