MIL HARVEY WILSON DEAD,

Departed this Life Christmas Morning at Spencer Mountain Mill-Funeral and Burial at Charlotte-A Young Man Well Known and Sincerely Mourned in Gastonia.

When the tidings came Christmas morning that Mr. Harvey Wilson was dead, there were many sad hearts in Gastonia, for he was well known here, possessed many strong friendships among our young people and was unipossessed versally liked.

The cause of his death was typhold fever with which he was stricken down two weeks before. The disease was of two weeks before. The disease was of a violent type, and it soon became known that his physician, Dr. R. M. Reid. of our town, regarded the case as a desperate one. Dr. Irwin, of Charlotte, was called in but saw no hope for the young man's recovery. At 8:15 s'clock Christmas morning he calmly breathed his last. His mother was with him and attended him day and night.

was with him and attended him day and night.

The following we copy from the Charlotte Observer:

Harvey Wilson was the oldest son of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Wilson. He would have been 22 years old in February. Few young men of the day could show a better record than he. He pussessed the dignity, ability and stability of a man of twice his years. In manner he was retiring, but he stirank not from doing or saving what. strank not from doing or saying what he believed was right. He was a fine character, a noble, lovable man. The funeral services take place this afternuon at 3 o'clock, at the First Presbyterian church, of which deceased was a prember.

The pail bearers will be: Mears. A. L. Snith, H. L. Sanders, A. Graham, Jr., J. H. Beatl, DeLaigle Sadler and Zeb. Moore.

Zeb. Moore.

These who came in with the body besides Mr. and Mrs. Geo. E. Wilson and Mr. Hamilton Wilson, were: Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Wilson, and son, Mr. Frank Wilson, Mr. Laban Lineberger, half brother of deceased, Misa Nellis Bankin and Mr. John Rankin.

The funeral services over the remains of Mr. Joseph Harvey Wilson, Jr., took place Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the First Presbyterian church, Rev. Dr. Howerton conducting the service. By request the services were short and simple. After the hymn, "Asleep in Jesus," Dr. Howerton read a passage of Scripture, then apoke of deceased, paying a feeling and beautiful tribute to him. He spoke of his Christian walk and character, his faithfelness in every affair spoke of his Christian walk and character, his faithfulness in every affair of life; the great responsibilities which had been laid upon him, and the ability with which he had borne them.

The hymn, "Nearer My God to Thee," was sung, after which the lody was borne from the church, and the funeral procession wended its way to Elmwood. The casket was covered with beautiful floral tributes, which with beautiful floral tributes, which were placed on the new-made mound.
A number of relatives and friends came from Mt. Holly and Spencer Mountain to attend the funeral.

Baber.

The Traders National of Lowell. Mass., kept its doors open Friday evening from 7 to 9.30 o'clock, for the purpose of accommodating its patrons The bank also announced that it would receive deposits from merchants who were not customers but who might wish to avoid the responsibility of carrying large sums of money in their store safes over Christmas and Sunday. The privilege being granted of withdrawing these deposits Monday. It is little things like this which tend to build up a bank's business, and the custom could be adopted with good effect in other cities.

Referring to the above from the New York Financier, it might be noted that the First National Bank of Gastonia is not only similarly secommodating at Christmus, but has for a number of years opened its doors regularly on Saturday nights to receive the deposits of its patrons.

McApenville, Dec. 28—Christmas passed off quietly, but with much good cheer and merry making. There was a large audience at both Methodist and Baptist churches Christmas eve night and the choice programs rendered were greatly enjoyed. Several numbers on the program rendered at the Methodist church were enthusiautically encored, but the length of the program forbade responses. One number, a beautiful duet, "If Sin be Your Burden" by Herbert, rendered by Miss Jesse Wilson, and Mr. J. B. Jones, was repeated by special request. There were many nice presents on the trees, at both churches. The little folks were especially remembered and all was joy and happness.

McAden Mills gave the usual gift to their employes, a nice Christmas turkey to each family. This has been a custom here for years, and their kindness is much appreciated by the people.

The McAdenville Band gave their usual open air concert Christmas eve. A choice program was rendered including several new selections. The Band rendered three beautiful selections in the Methodist church Christmas eve uight, taking part with the choir in the Christmas tree exercises. The Band is looking forward for a very prosperous year during 1898, being well prepared for all kinds of business, and constantly improving.

prepared for all kinds of business, and constantly improving.

An occasion of rare pleasure and enjoyment was the elegant syster supper, given Christmas eve night, by Messra. B. R. Ray, H. M. McAden, and S. N. Buyee, to their gentleman friends, at the hotel kept by the Misses Webb. The large dinning room was brilliantly lighted, and there were few vacant chairs. The systers were elegant and served to the queen's taste. The company was a representative one. Wit was not lacking, and with many a jest, music, and entertaining conversajest, music, and entertaining converma-tion, the bours sped rapidly away. The company broke up with the cries of "Merry Christmas," as the clock was striking the bour of twelve and unherstriving the bour of twelve and unher-ing in the glad Christmas day. Your correspondent voices the sentiment of the assembled guests, in thanking the mauagers for the rare pleasure and en-joyment afforded. The occasion will long be pleasantly remembered by those present.
