DEPARTMENT STORE.

The people are fast finding out the difference between low grade goods at low prices and high grade goods at low prices.

Example: Mr. Brown bought of Morris Bros. a pair of $1.50 Shoes for his wife for $1.18, a pair of $1.25 Shoes for his daughter Mary for 98c, a pair of $1.25 Shoes for himself for 98c, two extra large and heavy $1.50 Counterpanes for his daughter Susan, who is to marry next week, for 98c.

Mr. Jones, not being so well posted, bought cise where, for his wife, a pair of 98c Shoes for 98c, for himself a pair of 98c Shoes for 98c, two flimsy, light-weight Counterpanes for 98c apiece, for his daughter Martha, who was to have been married last week, but the folly of the old man, thus wasting his money, so shook the confidence of the then prospective son-in-law in the old-man's ability to accumulate an estate that the wedding has been indefinitely postponed.

We will continue to sell high grade goods at low grade prices till everybody knows the difference.

Wealth Bid Not Spoil Him." Kows and Observer. 23ed.

Arthur M'Ewan, writing of the late John W. Mackay, who died a London on Sunday, uses these significant words: "He was very rich, bur wealth did not spoil rich, but wealth did not spoil him."

Does Mr. McEwan mean to say that wealth has a tendency to spoil men? Is it so great an evil as all that? The man elevated from the accessity of hard work to obtain his bread must meet with new temptations as the doors of new opportunities to mefulness are opened to him. As he enters that new door, it calls for more wisdom to use his did to amase his millions. There are so many ways to get rid of his money, there are so many professed friends who love his money, as to make him doubtful whether a very rich man can have gennine friends, and there are many avenues for the wise it employment of his money that small give him pany hours of real trial. Besides, the temptations to idleness and luxurious living see to be reckoned with.

"But wealth did not spoil him." That is the tribute to John W. Mackay. When it is remembered how many good and useful men have been spoiled by wealth, Mackay's career is one to be admired and commended.

Baltimore, Md., July 21.—Au air line from the Great Lakes to the South Atlantic scaboard is made possible by a deal which has been practically consummated by the Union Trust Company, of this city. The Union Trust Company has just completed arrangements to finance the extension of the Ohio River and Charleston Railroad from the coal fields of West Virginia to Lincolnton, N. C. It has been decided also, it is understood, to extend this road northward to Ironton, Ohio, where it will connect with the Detroit Southern, Samuel Hunt, president of the latter road, is also president of the Ohio River and Charleston, which was recently taken over by a new company, known as the South and Western. At Lincolnton the road will

The cost will be about 3,359,000, the plot alone—the old orphan asylum site—having cost Mr. Schwab $865,000 a year ago. It is its builder's aim to make it the most magnificent house in New York.

Mr. Schwab was asked why he bought on the Hudson when there were so many Fifth avenue sites offered.

"I wanted breathing space," he explained. "I've always been accustomed to plenty of air in the Alleghanies, and all that I can get here I am going to Politics in Wire Fence.

It has been suggested that barbed wire fence be built along the linternational boundary line in Northern Montana to aid the custom officials in patrolling the border and enforcing the tariff laws. As it is now cattle particularly cause trouble. They are worth about 20 per cent more on this side of the line than the other, and seem to know it, for it is said they have a way of drifting in this direction when human beings are not visible to the eye of the guardians against smuggling. But it is found that if the fence is built at the joint expense of the two governments. cxpense of the two governments it will be much cheaper to have Canada furnish the wire, even though it comes from the United States. This is because the steel trusts are selling wire to steel trusts are selling wire to outside countries at lower prices than are charged to home consumers. A sence constructed on those terms would be a fine illustration of how the trusts are working to undo the home market while the government is engaged in seneing it in.

York County Items.

Yorkville Enquirer, 22md A change of schedule went into effect on the Southern last Sunday, as the result of which the southbound train now passes Yorkville at 10:20 a. ut. and the northbound at 3:30 p. m.

The trustees of the Yorkville graded school have elected Mr. R. A. Abrans, of Newherry, assistant principal, vice Mr. G. S. Bryan, resigned. Mr. Abrams taught in the graded school at Hampton last year.

Miss Jessie, second daughter of Mr. J. D. Land, submitted last Sunday to an operation for appendicitis. appendicitis. The operation was performed by Dr. R. A. Brattou, assisted by Drs. J. D. McDowell, J. H. Saye and J. 1.

With good rains throughout until Sunday afternoon when lina teachers. there came a shower that served to lay the dust and cool the atmosphere. There was hardly enough rain, however, to be of a great deal of practical benefit.

Although the committee in charge has not been making any promises, the Confederate veterans who contemplate attending the re-union at Mt. Gallant, on July 30, may depend upon it that there is a good time in store for them. Every re-union that has yet been held under these same auspices has been a sucgeneral's report, the following citizens of York county have received their pro rata share of the artificial limb fund: W. B. Williams, W. E. Rrwin, J. B. Rawls.

J. C. Sparks was among the new applicants, but his claim was disapproved for the reason that he had not previously been on the list.

A letter from New Orleans, announces the marriage of Mr. J. Frank Hart, formerly of York-ville, but now of New Orleans, to Miss Cecelia Morrisey, of the last named city. The ceremony took place on July 8. Mr. Hart is the second son of Major James F. Hart, of Yorkville, and has many friends here who will be glad to congratulate him on his marriage.

Although ordered in what seemed to be ample time to bring them here by July 1, the mail boxes for Yorkville rural routes Nos. 1 and 2, have not yet been received. Mr. M. L. Carroll, who ordered the boxes, says the a side track somewhere between Goshen, Ind., the point from which they were shipped, and Yorkville. Every effort is being made to locate them.

When the plans now well under way are completed, the Victor Cotton Oil Company will have the largest and most convenient ginning plant that has ever becu established in York county. It is to include four 80-saw Pratt gins, a steam press of ample capacity, installed in a large two-story iron-clad, frame building. The plant is to be equipped with what is known as the Murray pneumatic system and is to be driven by a 57-horse power engine. The plant will easily be able to gin and pack 50 bales of cotton in a day of 12 hours, or 100 bales every 24 hours. ginery will be ready for business at the opening of the coming season.

There are four Negro lunatics in jail. They have accumulated during the past three or four weeks, and as Judge McCorkle has written several times to Dr. Babcock, of the state hospital for the insane, without receiving a reply, he is very much con-cerned about them. Captain Iredell Jones, of the board of hospital regents, has taken the matter up within the last day or two and promises to let Judge Mc-Corkle know what the trouble is as soon as possible. Sheriff Logan is also concerned about these lunatics. One of them is so violent that he has to be confined in his cell, and all of them are requiring attention that they can receive only at the state hospital.

A Shocking Attair.

Chicago has a teacher who objects so strenuously to being kissed by volunteers that she has sued a real estate fellow for $50,000 just because he attempted to do it—and failed. She screamed so hard that she scared the kiss clear out of him, and now wants to supplement that scare by squeezing $50,000 out of him as remnneration for the shock to her nervous system. With the $50,000 suit this will probably be shocking affair all 'round.

The statistics show that 730, 798 immigrants arrived in this country by water in the year ending with June last, and is is estimated that 160,000 came by way of Canada. The total 830,798, it is noted, far exceeds the record of any previous year. Most of the new arrivals came from southern Europe, and practical-ly none have come into the southern states.
