Of the candidates not on both tickets, Mr. Miles Carpenter appears to have been the most mlar. While Messrs. Cornwell and Lewis came under the wire, with 2009 each, Mr. Carnter went them one better and scored even 2100.

All the Congressional districts in North Carolina are safely socratic except the tenth, where Gudger's claimed majority is amcomfortably small. Webb's ajority in this district will exceed 5,000.

This State is Democratic by 65,000.

In New York State a Republican plurality of 143,000 two years ago was reduced to 10,000 or 12,000.

DR. E. E. BOYCE DEAD

med Away Suddenly and Pencelulty Wednesday Morning Buried Yesterday in the City Compley-Brief Shots

At the dawn of day Wedner day morning the angels called for Dr. E. E. Boyce, and when they winged their way back to the shining gates of eternal sun rise they bore with them a kin dred spirit to their own. He did not know at what hour they would call, but he had been long expecting them. expecting them, was even looking for them daily, and when the call came he was ready; it found in him most beautifully fulfilled the prayer of one who wished to wear the girdle of the world about : loins

So loosely that a moment will suffice
To break the class and loy it down.

At last he knew the full meaning of these lines from a little poem he loved in life and had so often repeated:

I hear my liquior calling,
The logital hour has come.
Angel, bands are waiting
To guide us to our house;
When Christ my Lord shall gather
All this pedemond again
whis kingdom to injectic.

Dr. Boyce had been enjoying his usual health. Monday he dined at Dr. J. C. Galloway's and attended the minister's conference there that afternoon. Tuesday he appeared as well as usual, but in the afternoon while giving some directions to Thomas Kirkland, a colored man employed about the house, he became unsteady, stumbled, and would have fallen but for the hised man's prompt assistance. In a few moments Dr. Boyce quite recovered and said to the servant, "I shall not be with you much longer, Thomas." Tuesday night he gave these residents. day night he gave these parting directions: "Thomas, gather your tools together to-night, and in the morning, early, clear off my cemetery lot. I do not know how long I shall be with you, and I want to have everything ready. Clear it off early, Thomas, before you come in for other duties."

The faithful servant did as he was bidden, and when he came in at 9 o'clock and asked to see Dr. Boyce, he learned that he was dead had passed away even while the servant was clearing off the cemetery lot.

About 5 o'clock Wednesday

About 5 o'clock Wednesday morning Dr. Boyce sustained an attack of something like a paralysis of the brain, to which he had been subject. Mrs. Boyce was aroused and by her ministrations apparently brought him through the attack. He spoke a few words and was soon resting or ly. He continued thus to rest un-til about six o'clock, when a long drawn breath attracted Mrs. Boyce's attention. She went to the bed and the was still—the long drawn sigh was the tired body's farewell to the spirit.

The sorrowful tidings quickly sped over the town and there was sadness in every face and sped over the town and there was sadness in every face and sorrow is every heart.

Wednesday, Wednesday night and Thursday morning many of the family connections arrived. Messrs. Sam and Meek Boyce, sons, and Mrs. J. H. Kennedy, a daughter, were already in Gastonia. Wednesday night Rev. James Boyce, of Due West, the oldest son, with his wife and daughters. Misses Bessie and Jessie, and Mrs. Rebecca Widenson, a daughter, from Troy, S. C., accompanied by her daughter, Miss Jennie, from Due West, arrived on the train from the south. Other relatives also were present to attend the funeral; Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Boyce, of Lancaster; T. G. Boyce, of Lancaster; T. G. Boyce, Idaville, Tenn.; Miss Mattie Boyce, Due West; Mr. R. C. Bernan, of Greensboro; Mr. and Mrs. A. J. McGill, Kings Creek, B. C.; Mr. W. M. Psulkner, and Mrs. Margaret McElwee, Clark's Pork, S. C., Mrs. Violet Paulkner and son Robert, of Cloyer, S. C.; Mr. Jino. S. Donglass, Columbia, S. C.; Capt, and Mrs. P. the Associate Reformed church yesterday morning at 10 o'clock.
The active pall-bearers were the following: Juo. F. Love,
J. F. McArver, T. W. Wilson,
J. T. McDill, A. M. Whitesides,
Geo. W. Hanna, Dr. O. G. Palls.
There were twelve honorary pall-bearers, as follows: B. G. Bradley, A. M. Smyre, S. M. Morris, J. Q. Holland, R. C. G. Love, S. E. Stewart, Edward Whitesides, Thomas Wilson, Senior, Captain F. Dilling, Jno. A. Douglass, Dr. W. H. Hoffman, W. Meek Adams.

The church was through and

The church was thronged and many gathered about the win-dows outside. Dr. Galloway an-nounced after the singing of two psalms, and the scripture lesson read by Rev. J. S. Moffat, that there would be no funeral ser-mon, but instead, the brethren of him who was mourned by so great a gathering would be per-mitted one after the other to speak as their hearts should give them utterance.

Dr. R. G. Miller, from Sardis, the birth-place of Dr. Boyce, Dr. G. R. White, Rev. W. M. Hunter and many others paid brief and loving tributes to the memory of the dead.

Rev. J. S. Moffat quoted a sentiment uttered by Pather Boyce.

timent uttered by "Father Boyce" at the Presbytery in Kings Mountain last spring: "Our chief business in life," said he, is to learn how to live."

Dr. P. Y. Pressly said: "He was in truth a son of consola-

Rev. C. B. Betts, of Lancas-ter, S. C., with much feeling re-ferred to himself as being now the oldest minister in the Synod; the departure of his beloved brother caused him to feel sortowful and lonely.

Rev. J. M. Garrison had found in Dr. Boyce one who was wonderfully near to God in his inner life. While Dr. Ross could tear up the Scriptures by analysis and lay them clear before the eye, Dr. Boyce seemed to make them clear by turning to make them clear by turning on a flood of light. It was equal to a sermon of exposition to hear him read the scriptures.

And how he could pray!

Rev. A. T. Lindsay, pastor of Pisgah, spoke often with this departed Prince in Israe! He often said. "I am just weiting."

AND often said, "I am just waiting." Rev. J. W. Carson said: I can truly say that Dr. Boyce was my spiritual father. He baptized me, he received me into the church, and he was my beloved spiritual counsellor. Rev. A. G. Kirkpatrick loved the companionship of Dr. Boyce and sought it. I never talked with him without getting some with him with thing from it.

Dr. E. P. McClintock, of Newberry, S. C., led in a farment prayer. The 27th with the fervent prayer. The 27th Psalm, a favorite with the deceased, was sung, and then followed the last look at the calm kind face in the casket.

Dr. Boyce greatly loved his brethren in the ministry and was greatly loved by them in return. Though Rev. C. B. Betts was the oldest minister of the Synod present at the funeral, the oldest now in the Synod is Rev. I. G. McLaughlin, of Query's who is perhaps a year older than Dr. Boyce. He and Dr. Boyce had Boyce. He and Dr. Boyce had made a loving covenant years ago that the one who should outlive the other would conduct the funeral of his departed brother. Though Mr. McLaughlin was notified, he perhaps failed to get the sad message in time or was unable to come.

In the cametery the body was laid to rest, and over the grave banks of roses and sweet flowers were laid by loving hands. After the benediction by Dr. Galloway, the people turned serrowfully away.

Ebenezer Erskine Boyce was born at Sardia, in Mecklenburg county, Dec. 12, 1820, a son of Samuel Boyce and a grandson of James Boyce, who came from North Ireland to Pennsylvania, thence to North Carolina.

He was aducated at Providence Academy near his home and at Jefferson College, Cannonsburg, Pa., where he graduated in 1844. He rode horse-back to this school, sold the animal, completed his course in two years and rode horse-back missionary work in what was then called the West-Kentucky and Tennessee. He made this trip also on horse-back.

In 1849 he became pastor of Bethany and Old Pisgah. In 1850 he married Miss Margaret Simonton, of Fairfield county,

S. C., who, with her infant, was buried a year later.
On May 11, 1854, he married Miss Rachel McElwee, of York county, who survives him. To them were born eight children, of whom the living have been named above. Two sons died at Bethany under six years of age, and a beloved daughter, Mrs. Maggie Bernau, lies buried beside her father in the cemetery. In 1865 the degree of Doctor of Divinity was conferred by his alma mater, Jefferson College (now Jefferson and Washington College), and also by Erskine College. About this time the Cleveland branch of Pisgah built Nebo church, which so greatly widened his field that he asked that his work he reduced. Nobe that his work be reduced. Nebo was dropped from his pastorate. Afterwards Nebo divided into Bethel and Kings Mountain pas-

The "Boyce farm" a few miles south of Gastonia, where Dr. Boyce lived so many years, is well known. It was sold a few years ago, and is now owned by Messrs. Alex Crawford and J. F. Pursley. To gain better school facilities, Dr. Boyce moved to Kings Mountain. Later he moved to Gastonia where his remaining years were spent. In December 1893 he retired from his pastorate, by reason of the weight of years. In January 1894 his work was taken up by the present pastor Dr. J. C. Gal-

The field in which Dr. Boyce began his pastoral work in 1849 now embraces four pastorates, and the two churches of Bethany and Pisgah have grown into eight: Kings Mountain, Bethel Bessemer, Crowders Creek, Gas-
