Very few business changes were made here Jan. 1st. Mr. W. E. Adams sold his grocery business to H. P. Jackson, who consolidated it with the business he already owned, and moved into the building in which Mr. Adams was doing business, the Campbell building. Mr. J. G. Enlos sold his grocery business to Mr. Boyce Hagans, who will continue the business in the same building, the Fairis store room. Mr. J. G. Ralos has rested one of the Smith rooms recently vacated by H. P. Jackson and will open a beef market in it during this week.

Mr. S. A. Sifford and the Gastonia Hardware Company have made a deal by which Clover will have a hardware store by the first of February. They will occupy the large corner building owned by Capt. Smith. This is a thing Clover has needed for quite a while, a first class hardware store and we feel safe in saying that this company will do a nice business here.

Mr. R. C. Adams of Gastonia came down Saturday and apent until to-day with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Adams

The mole is a most provoking, clumsy fellow. Evidently he has a grievance against man and on that account digs his dungeors in field, garden and lawn. He is accused of destroying whole rows of corn and ruining great spaces of sprouting grain. Farmers have a wholesale grievance against him. It seems there is no good in him and all his works are evil. Noah Webster defines a mole as "A small animal 200 which, in search of food, worms and "A small animal * * which, in search of food, worms and insects forms a road beneath the surface of the ground. Notice the phrase Noah Webster uses "In search of food, worms and insects." The inference is that the mole does not get vegetable life. The mole belongs to the burrowing class of animals and in adapted to getting his food by capturing insects in the soil. By nature he is a carnivorous animal, his teeth are long and animal, his teeth are long and slender, not broad and flat like a herbivorous animal. By study-ing his teeth we find that he never eats plant food. Moles are said to destroy large amounts of corn, and perhaps they do. But they do not eat corn. Corn is planted in rows and the soil is cut by the shoe subsoiler of the cut by the shoe subsoiler of the planting machine so that a loose place is made in the field in line with the seed that is dropped and when a mole strikes that loose, half made tunnel, he turns into it because it is easy digging. Of course if there is a plant in the way he clips off the root or showels it aside, which would break the feed roots of the plant killing it. We often hear people say the We often hear people say the moles took up every hill of corn, which is incorrect. Field mice following in the moles' runs are responsible.

The new town council recentify elected, namely W. T. Beamguard, Mayor: E. B. Price, N. B. Stroup, Z. M. Neill, S. A. Sifford, J. L. Grice, and M. L. Smith, Warden, met in the council chamber one night last week and took the oath of office and organized by the election of S. A. Sifford, secretary and treasurer; W. B. Stroup, Mayor pro tem.

The following board of health was appointed by the new council: Dr. J. W. Campbell to serve 5 years; F. E. Clinton to serve 4 years; Dr. E. W. Prensly to serve 3 years; Thos.

T. B. Williams to serve 2 years; John Knox to serve 1 year. Mayor Beamguard is out of town now. He has the coutract to erect a new church building for the Reth. Shills concording to truth. This worm acts chemically as well as mechanically. The chemical action on the soil is the result of the dirt passing through the worm as food. In this process the soil expresses the soi town now. He has the contract to erect a new church building for the Beth-Shilo congregation on the Yorkville and Charlotte road.

Jim Pitchett and Joe Thomas returned home from Davidson College last Saturday night.

Small-pox has made its appearance in and around Clover, it doesn't cause the excitement it did 3 or 4 years ago. People seem to get used to it. X. Y. Z.

THEODORE THOMAS STORIES

Receive in the Career of the Well Receive Orchester Conductor.
The personality of the late Theodore Thomas, the uninent orchesters conductor, was especially interesting from the fact that his peculiarities were of a hind more frequently frund among greet generals, political leaders and experies of inductry than among musicians, mays the Endfale Express.

Punctuality was one of ale most conundenness traits. So answerving was he in this perticular that his licenturants and those members of his organfaction most ambitious to stand high in his regard adopted the rule of heing on hand fifture minutes in advance of the appointed time at all important engageanests in which Mr. Thomas was personally uncoursed. It is said that one member of the orchestra determined to exhibit the novel distinction in the course of an annual tour of arriving at the rallway existen, ready for departure, before Mr. Thomas should appear.
Several times he attempted that fact,
but he always found the leader there before him. This time, however, he walted into the station thery minutes before starting time. But there, inside the waiting room, was Mr. Thomas' before starting time. But there, inside the waiting room, was Mr. Thomas!

At a musical festival in a south city, says Everybody's Magazine, a lecal charms was to take part with the Chicago orchestra directed by Theodore Thomas. One number had an orchestral prelude, the chorus to come in at a certain phrase. Four hare before the a certain purses. Just a somewhat similar, and when that was reached the chorus being possibly overwrought or select by some panic mania for blundering, promptly came in—four bars ahead of the proper piace.

A frightful discord arose, and the manager, standing in the wings, literally tore his hair. The whole performance seemed falling about his ears in hopeless ruin.

But the next moment he found, to his amazement, no more discord, but or-chestra and chorus moving along so amicably that only those familiar with the score suspected the imminent ship-wreck. So to the end it went, smoothly and perfectly.

When it was over, big eyed and still mopping his brow, the manager angelt Mr. Thomas

Mr. Thomas.
"Say," he gasped, "I wish you would tell me how you did that?"
"Oh," said Mr. Thomas easily, "I just Jumped the orchestra ahead four bars; that was all." But no one yet knows

NATIONAL GAME PRESERVE.

The proposition to convert the national forcet reserve in the Wichita mountains, in southwestern Oklahoms, into a national game preserve in meeting with such encouragement that already the plans for its maintenance are being considered, says a dispatch from Guthrie, Okia. It will be the first ne game preserve in the entire United States.

Fifty-four miles of meshed and barbed wire funce will be used to inclue a twelve mile square tract of land, within which will be dams that will cover 8,000 acres with water. In addition to this large tract will be the adjoining Fort Sill military reservation of 58,000 acres, now covered by the national game laws. The preserve the national game laws. The preserves boundary line cuts in twein Mount Scott and Mount Sheridan, two of the leftlest peaks in the Wichitan, and it is hoped to get the consent of the general land department allowing these two mountains in their entirety to be incioned.

The originator of the plan to establish such a preserve in Oklahoma is & C. Cooper of Fort Sill, a typical western sportunan of the old type, who has porcemen or the ord type, was an and each Port Sill his hendquarters for ourteen years. He began his service here as a United States infantryman and humbed all over the Wichitz mounted and hunted all over the whoma neutraline in the days before any of Oklahoma was opened for settlement. He conceived the idea of converting the na-tional forest preserve into a game pre-serve, and with a commission empower-ing him to act Gooper took the matter up with the National Sportsmen's league in their annual convention last Petruary at Columbus, O., and so in-terested the delegates that a hill was immediately drafted. This bill has passed the house and in position to the passed the house and is pending in the Already within the confines of this proposed preserve, which is effect will be a national breading farm, there are many wild animals and birds. They exist entirely off the natural products of the land, such as access, have and grotworms. It is planned do ing the first year of the preserve to sow the valleys to Raffir dres and conflowers, products which will seed the ground and insure an annual crop without replicating. These will furnish an additional big food supply to the game.

thoughts I am conscious of a hand. Whatever touches me, whatever thrills me, is as hand that touches me in the dark, and that touch is my reality. You might as well say that a sight which makes you glad or a blow which brings the stinging tears to your eyes is unreal as to say that those "impressions are unreal which I have accumulated by means of touch. The delicate tremble of a butterfly's wings in my hand, the soft petals of violets curnog in ti leaves, or lifting sweetly out of the meadow grass, the clear, firm outline of face and limb the smooth arch of a horse' neck and the velvet touch of his nose—all these, and a thousand resultant combinations, which take shape in my mind, constitute my world.
