YORK AND YORKVILLE. 6º

What's Doing Among our Neighbors Just Acress the Line.

The Yorkville dispensary has about disposed of its cheaper grades of whisky; but people continue to buy so long as they can raise the price.

The result of the voting in Florence gives rise to a sus-picion that probably the whole movement must have been in the hands of the dispensary people from the beginning.

It is well to be on the lookout for footpads, safe blowers and burglars. There seems to be no doubt of the fact that this section has been invaded by large numbers of criminals of this kind from the north.

Several people who brought cotton to market last Wednesday morning expecting to sell it at 10 cents or 10% cents, on finding that they could get only 934 decided not to sell. Some stored their cotton in the warehouses and others carried it

York county policy holders in the State Mutual Hail Insurance company are getting together to demand an accounting from the head officers before paying their notes. There is a general feeling that the assessment that has been levied is larger than is warranted by the losses that have been incurred.

Cotton farmers around Rock Hill are signing an agreement not to sell their cotton for less than 10 cents before January 1, next. The Record of yesterday prints a list of siguers, more than a hundred in number.

Judge Purdy has granted a new trial in the case of John B. Moore vs. the Catawba Power company. Moore while in the employ of the Catawba Power company as quarryman, was frightfully injured by the de-layed explosion of a blast. He sued for damages and the case has been before two juries, both of which returned verdicts in his favor. The last verdict was for $10.700. G. W. S. Hart and D. W. Robinson for plaintiff; W. B. Wilson, A. G. Brice and C. W. Tillet for defendaut:

Suspended from a wire in midair was the unusual predica-ment in which Chief Kidd, a brakeman on the Union and Glenn Springs railway, found himself late Monday afternoon. Kidd was on the train as it passed under the trolley wire near the coal chute at Buffalo, and finding that he was about to be pulled from the moving cars, he caught hold with his hands and let the train pull from beneath him. He hung suspended until his strength was exhausted, when he fell a distance of about 20 feet, and maryelous to say, was only slightly bruised.

A number of citizens gathred in the court house last Wednesday night to discuss the question of converting the Kings Mountain Military school property into a high school for boys and girls. Mayor Lowry was called to the chair and the subject was discussed in a gen-eral way from the floor. It developed that there was no particular plan of procedure, and the matter was turned over to a committee consisting of John B. Carroll, chairman, W. W. Lewis, T. P. McDow, L. W. Jenkins, C. E. Spencer, W. B. Moore, W. G. White, J. A. Tate, H. A. D. Neely. Members of this committee met in bers of this committee met in the office of Mr. Carroll yesterday afternoon, and drew up a subscription paper pledging the subscribers to pay the amounts opposite their names for the purpose of purchasing the K. M. M. S. property and turning it over to the county if the county would agree to maintain the school. If a satisfactory ar-rangement cannot be made with the county, then an offer will be made to the township.

Over One Hundred Cases of Diphtheria.

The Black Mountain Eagle says during the past month there have been over one hun-dred cases of diphtheria in Yancy county and perhaps a dozen deaths from the disease, In most cases, however, the malady has been of a mild type. As a result, the primary departments in both schools at this place suspended last Friday until the conditions are im-

Dr. R. S. Lynn, one of Rock Hill's most prominent and be-loved physicians, died at his home Sunday afternoon, and was buried at his old home, Edgemoor, on Monday, in Union church cemetery.

From Lebanon to Consan. respondence of the Charita.

From Lebanon I journeyed to Canaan. The land of corn and wine according to the scriptural version of the name does not apply in the case of Canaan, N. H. However, the fact that this is a dry town does not argue that one may not have his wine, occasionally. Corn, in the sense that a North Carolinian speaks of "corn," would necessarily be lacking, for, as a matter of fact, no one in this section ever heard of old corn," to say nothing of drinking it. In this, however, nothing has been lost.

Causan may not be a land of corn and wine, but it is a pretty little village of 1,000 inhabitants, located in the beautiful Mascoma Valley at the foot of the snow-capped White mountains about 50 miles from the capital city Concord. The town har-bors a clever, hospitable people. Several shops here. The principal one being an overall shop where overalls are manufactured. The country surrounding is well adapted to farming, mostly trucking. Dairying and poultry raising is the principal money producer. The land is of a rich loamy soil and if the seasons are favorable will produce most any kind of crop. While in conversation with "a man about town," I happened to mention the fact that I was from the South. I was at once taken to task to know from which State I hailed. "North Carolina, sir, at your service". You don't say. Shake. That is where Vance is from. Any man from the same State as Vance is welcome to anything in my house. If you are from North Carolina, you are my friend." By this time several had joined the little group as we stood in front of the corner grocery and post office as well As each new-comer came up, I was introduced as "the man from the same State as Vance." I had the temerity to venture the question if he knew Vance. "Know him, why young man, every body knows of Vance." For the next 30 minutes I was flooded with questions about the different old landmarks and the many changes that have taken place in the political horizon during the past ten years. My old friend would slap me on the back and say 'this young man is from the Southfrom North Carolina, I want you to meet him". It was all very pleasant aud made me feel prouder than ever that I came from the "Old North State." It seems that my acquaintance, whose name was Gordon, has for the past 20 years been one of the door-keepers in the U.S. Senate and knew all the "old timers." I told him that in some parts of the South the name Gordon, was a name to hundred bushels at least. conjure with. He knew Vance. Ransom and most of the others, including ex-Senator Pritchard, Senators Overman and Simulous. Small, Kitchen, Klutz and others. We grew reminiscent for the next hour or so, until it began to grow late and was time for a night-hawk like myself to seek my virtuous couch. With a parting, "I will see you again, North Carolina", I wended my way to my boarding place, think ing as I went of the words of the Poet, which run like this: "The evil that men do lives after them, the good is oft enterred with their bones." In this case, me thought, it is a case of the good that men do living after them. So it will be with the Immortal Vance. His fame will continue to live on nntil "The Elegy in a country church yard may be forgotten; the sublime song of Paradise Lost may perish; the North Star ceasing to guide the pilots of the sea, shall, following in the track of the constellation of the Country of the Country of the constellation of the Country of the Country disappear from the gaze of men beyond the everlasting ices of the Poet; and the Bedouin of the desert shall halt his camels upon the disintegrated dust of the loftiest pyramio, ere the name of Vance shall be forgotten.

the constellation of the Cross, disappear from the gaze of men

An explosion like a muffled pistol shot was heard a day or two sgo, and to the surprise of every one in the yicinity, a puff of smoke was seen hanging above a lone and innocent looking bicycle standing by the curbing on the court house square. A crowd collected and it was discovered that the noise like a young cannon was only the bursting of a tire. Not only was the tubing toru up but the heavy wooden rim as well had been splintered. The lot sun doubtless had caused gas to form in the wheel.

A COLONY FOR AIKEN COUNTY. Russian and Polish Farmers to Settle There this Winter.

Columbia, October 5.— Com-missioner Watson has received a telegram from Aiken to the effect that the purchase of 2,200 acres of land near Montmorence has been concluded, the land to be settled immediately—as soon as the present crop is off-by Polish and Russian farming families. Last week Commissioner Watson went to Aiken with Messrs. Charles Weintraub and Morris Latterman, whom he succeeded in interesting in South Carolina last spring. These gentlemen were the representatives of "The Incorporated Agricultural Association," an organization formed for the purpose of colonizing the many larmers who are leaving Russia and Poland, expecting never to return, and bringing their all with them. These gentlemen selected land owned by the Messrs. Coward, and it has been purchased by the purchased by the representa-tives of the Association.

The colony proposes to engage in general farming, trucking, fruit raising and poultry raising. Being located within seven miles of Aiken, there will be excellent local markets. The land obtained is admirably suited for the purpose and the pur-chase, which was concluded today, carries with it the purchase of all farming implements, horses, etc. on the place. The land is to be divided into small tracts and will be operated upon the most approved colony

Sweet Potato States.

The Southern States grow the sweet potato to the exclusion of others-New Jersey excepted.

The following are the principal sweet potato States, with their production in bushels, as furnished by the last Govern-

These States, with the others of the Unioa, produce in round numbers 44,000,000 bushels a Vermont, Rhode Island and Montana raise no sweets, while Wyoming furnished but five bushels and New Hampshire but six; North Dakota's crop aggregates but forty bushels, and all the other States and Territories of the Union raise one

The canned sweet potato is finding au appreciative market in all parts of the country to an Nansmond is the variety many. Nansmond is the variety most used for this purpose. The yield of this variety is satisfactory in all of the Southern States. It is the best shipper to Northern and Western markets because its Western markets, because its desh is firm and mealy. The very sugary kinds of potatoes are not relished by any but our Southern markets.

Comptroller General Jones, of Comptroller General Jones, of South Carolina, has discovored that J. T. Patterson, treasurer of Edgefield county, is short in his accounts something over $4,000, and the governor has removed Mr. Patterson pending further investigation. It is not thought that there is anything criminal in Mr. Patterson's criminal in Mr. Patterson's shortage; but that it is rather a matter of incompetency.

Four Car-Loads

By Wednesday, the 11th

We expect to have more than fifty head of good Tennessee horses, mares and mules. Among them will be some extra nice pairs of both mules and horses.

And by that date we will have received also two car-loads of unbroken mares and horses from the west. The mares will be good size, sound and young just the kind for the farmers to raise from. You can buy one of these animals cheap and break her to your own notion and save money.

Come and see our stock and if you want anything we believe you can be suited both in stock and price. Don't forget we promise to show you more than one hundred head of stock in our stable at one time. This alone will be well worth your trouble to come around.

Watch for next advertisement and oblige.
