As we understand it no more than two schools in a county are to be allowed to receive the benifit of the $50,000 appropriated by the State, unless some of the counties fail to comply with the requirements to be fixed by the State board of education, in which event the per county distribution will be more liberal. The Bethany high school people, we understand, are eligible for a than two schools in a county are we understand, are eligible for a part of the appropriation, and Community Given Over to Free will no doubt take steps to procure what is coming to them. It is to be hoped that York county will not allow any of her part of the fund to go by default.

once each year.
The book catalogues 23,819 newspapers, magazines and trade and class publications. A very valuable feature of the book is the circulation figures. Wherever a signed or sworn statement has been executed these figures are given, otherwise the editor of the Annual has estimated the circulation from the facts at his command.

—From every view point the farming class of this county is in better shape now than at any period since the civil war. More people own their own homes and little farms; more are free from the yoke of bondage inflicted by burdensome debts; more are becoming independent each year by making a com-

The Southern has checked up there and has found that one are not satisfactory you can rehundred cars of coal have been received but remain unaccounted for From the vigorous efforts being made, it appears that there will be a solution forth-coming soon. It is a unique wholesale theft, practiced by nobody knows whom. The coal was shipped, received, but delivered to whom?—well, that's another question. Five deanother question. Five de-tectives have been at work upon every bit of evidence that was to be had as an aid to the convic tion of the guilty persons. They have examined bank accounts, queried coal dealers, used every device of the smart detective, but suspicion is about all that has resulted so far.

It can be seen that the disappearance of one hundred cars charge for the service or the goods.

It is in this way that J. H. Kennedy & Co., sell Hyomei, for they have so much faith in present, but they expect to

"The Story of the Old North State," and is perpared for use in the public schools, being sutiable for about the fourth or fifth grades. There was much need that such a work should be need that such a work should be done and there was no one in the State better qualified to do it than Mr. Connor, an earnest student of North Carolina's his-

We note are waking up to the publications, agricultural and religious papers, together with all the trade and class publications in their proper groupings. While the book is large and contains a vast amount of information, it is in tabulated form with every thing in plain figures.

The advertisers' Telegraph Code appears in the book for the first time. It is designed to facilitate telegraphic communication between advertisers and advertising agents, and newspapers and every newspaper publishers and representatives.

Anyone dealing with newspapers and every newspaper publishers will find the American Newspapers Annual a daily help. If there is more are becoming independent in them Mr. Connor, an earmest student of North Carolina's his tory and a pleasant writer. We hope that he will write a book for grown folks also.

> -Why is it, a careless seven-vear-old kid can drop a half burned match in an alley and burn up all the barns in a block, while an able bodied man has to use up a whole box of matches to get a wood fire started in a heater that has draft enough to draw all the furniture up the stove pipe?

> -The more pleasing and pleasant our government can make farm life the better it is for the government. Our cities are over-crowded with worthless loafers that might be honorable and respectable farmers. The rural route is one of the things that has been provided to make farm life more desirable and attractive, and as we all have to live off the farmers nothing should be left undone that could be done to make the farm

Rather than to cast a reflection against the honesty of a subscriber to pay a small debt, it is next to a necessity for a home paper to continue sending the paper after the time has expired. It is not necessary for the city dailies or weeklies to follow this rule, as their subscribers live at a distance and are not personal friends as is the case with a majority of our subscribers. Our subscribers should deem it an honor to know that we do not doubt their integrity and continue to send them the paper after their time has expired. Should any desire their paper discontinued they should notify us and remit to date if they have not already done, so.
