NEWS NOTES State & General

Former United States Senator Edward W. Carmack, of Tennessee, has formally announced himself a candidate for Governor of Tennessee to succeed Governor Patterson.

The Whitney Reduction Company has announced that its central offices will be located at Salisbury and that Salisbury will be the distributing center for its power lines.

The trial of the famous Rowland case was begun yesterday in the Wake Superior Court at Raleigh. It is expected that the trial will last a week.

The postoffice at Taylorsville was robbed one night last week for the third time in the last eight or ten years. The robbers got away with about $125 in money and stamps.

Governor Cromer has called an extra session of the Alabama Legislature for November 9th. There are strong indications that a State prohibition law will be passed.

The general convention of the Protestant Episcopal Church will open in Richmond to-morrow and continue in session until October 22nd.

Three trainmen and an unknown tramp were killed Sunday morning in a collision between a freight and a work train on the Seaboard Air Line near Alamogordo, Ga.

Elliott Jackson, a negro 24 years of age, was killed by Officer Miller, of Rock Hill, S. C., Sunday afternoon while resisting arrest. Jackson started to draw his pistol, but the officer fired first.

John L. Heilig, aged 16 years, was caught in the machinery of a furniture factory at Salisbury last Thursday and suffered injuries from which he died Friday.

The American Bankers Association, which adjourned Friday after a session of several days at Atlantic City, N. J., recommended to the government that paper money of different denominations be printed in different colors.

Friday was "Prohibition Day" in Asheville. United States Judge J. C. Pritchard and Mrs. Lock Craig, candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor, both delivered addresses favoring the abolition of saloons.

Zolly C. Church, aged 32 years, son of a prosperous merchant of Wilkes county, committed suicide last Friday by hanging himself in his barn. Church had been an inmate of the State hospital for the insane, and had been discharged as cured a year ago. Insanity is supposed to have returned upon him, leading to his suicide.

Two ladies of Springfield, Mass., Mrs. Henry Holmes and Mrs. U. G. Munsell, were run down and instantly killed by a switch engine on Main street in Norfolk, Va., last Friday night.

President Roosevelt left Washington City Sunday night on a tour of the South and West which will occupy nearly a month. Yesterday he delivered an address at the dedication of the McKinley memorial at Canton, Ohio. To-day he starts from Keokuk, Iowa, on a trip down the Mississippi as the guest of the inland waterways commission.

New Jewelry Store.

Mr. W. E. Haynes, who recently sold his interest in the firm of Green & Haynes to Mr. J. I. Green, has opened a jewelry store and watch repairing department in the Ragan building on Main street, occupying a portion of the room of Adams & Kirby & Co. In addition to these lines Mr. Haynes will conduct a view and picture framing business. He has associated with him Mr. C. E. Hill, who will devote most of his time to making out-door photographic scenes. Mr. Haynes has had experience in all these lines and will no doubt succeed in his new venture.

LUTHERAN CONFERENCE.

Quarterly Session Held at Mount Holly Friday and Saturday—New Church Dedicated—Layman's League Discussed.

The North Carolina Conference of the Tennessee Synod of the Evangelical Lutheran Church met in quarterly session at Mount Holly Friday and Saturday. Rev. F. K. Roof, of Newton, presided over the sessions, which were well attended.

Though routine business occupied most of the time and attention of the conference, several matters of more than usual import were brought up and discussed. One of these was the proposed establishment at Hickory of a summer normal school for Sunday school teachers. A committee was appointed to take the matter under consideration and other steps were taken which, it is believed, will result in the establishment of this much-needed school.

Another matter which claimed the attention of the conference was the layman's missionary league. No formal organization has as yet been effected, though there are about one hundred members and the work mapped out is being carried forward steadily. This league is composed of lay members of the Lutheran congregations who pledge themselves to pay $5.00 per year for five years for the support of the missionary work the denomination is doing.

On Sunday the Church of the Good Shepherd at Mount Holly was formally dedicated, Rev. R. A. Yoder, of Lincolnton, preaching the dedicatory sermon. This church has been completed a little more than a year and is now free of all debt. It is a handsome brick edifice of modern construction and is a house of worship of which the Mount Holly congregation is justly proud.

BEST OF PROOF.

That Hyomei Will Cure All Forms of Catarrhal Diseases.

Testimonials could be printed by the thousands, many of them from Gastonia and nearby towns, that Hyomei is an absolute cure for all catarrhal troubles, but the best proof of its unusual curative powers is the guarantee that J. H. Kennedy & Co. give with every outfit that they sell. "Money back if Hyomei does not do all that is claimed for it."

Hyomei is not a secret remedy. Its formula is given freely to physicians who want to know what they use when they prescribe Hyomei. It is guaranteed under the Pure Food and Drug Law by serial No. 1418.

By breathing Hyomei, the healing medication goes directly to every nook and corner of the air passages where the catarrhal germs may lurk, and disinfects and heals. To be convinced of this you have only to give it a trial, remembering that if it does not cure, J. H. Kennedy & Co. will refund your money.

The complete Hyomei outfit costs but $1.00, and in most cases is sufficient to cure the ailment, making it not only a safe but also an economical. Get an outfit today from J. H. Kennedy & Co., if you have any catarrhal troubles. 1-8.

Secretary War Taft landed at Yokohama last Friday, on his tour of the East.

MAGAZINES.

The Taylor-Trotwood Magazine, edited by Senator Robert L. Taylor and John Trotwood Moore, and published in Nashville, Tennessee, enters upon its third year with the October number and is keeping up its record of making each number better than the last. While every number deals largely with the South and Southern affairs, the current number is distinctively Southern in its tone. Editor Moore contributes chapter XXV of his series on the Historic Highways of the South, describing the battle of Chattanooga. From the same pen there is also a dialect poem, "The Race at Reece's," which is realistic and racy of the soil. The regular departments are up to and above the standard heretofore set and the fiction is stirring and full of human interest.

McCall's Magazine is not only an acknowledged authority on the subject of fashions, but contains many pages of interesting fiction, poems and articles of general interest, making it an all round home Magazine. It is published by the McCall Company, 236 West 37 St., New York, subscription 50c a year. The following poems, by A. G. Taylor, which appears in the current issue, is given as an illustration of the varied usefulness of McCall's.

"What can I do? What can I do?"
Cried golden-headed Beth,
Rushing in the sewing-room
Completely out of breath.
"I fell upon the croquet lawn
And got my dress all green;
It surely is the vilest stain
I ever yet have seen."

Her mother, not a little vexed,
Sat for a moment quite perplexed;
Then, laying all her mending down,
With face bereft of every frown,
She smiling, said to her child,
In accents tender, sweet and mild:
"Dear Beth, I don't mind that at all,
I'll just consult last month's McCall."

"That magazine's the greatest book,
The very best I ever took."
Not only for its patterns neat,
Which by no other can be beat,
But for its 'Household Hints' as well,
The blessings of I can't half tell;
There's not a thing I want to know
But to that magazine I go.

"So bring your dress, and I've no doubt
We'll find something to take stains out."
A short time later Beth was seen
With happy face and dress all clean.
"Oh, ma," she said, I wish that book
Could be in every home and nook;
It is so full of rare good sense,
And may be had at slight expense.
It seems as if each woman grown
Would want to have it for her own."

The fiction in the October Appleton's includes the final instalment of Robert W. Chambers serial, "The Younger Set," which reaches a series of dramatic and wholly unexpected climaxes. An article of very timely interest is the characterization of Judge Landis by J. T. McCutcheon. An article by Mrs. Workman on her experiences in climbing the Himalayas is illustrated with photographs taken under great difficulty among the dizzy heights of the world's loftiest range of mountains. Admirers of Whitman will appreciate the work of Horace Traubel, who has collected a number of the "Good Gray Poets' comments on his contemporaries who have since come into public prominence. These are only a few of the features which make the October issue well worth buying and reading.

In the contents of Uncle Remus's Magazine, edited by Joel Chandler Harris and published by the Sunny South Publishing Company at Atlanta, the most interesting title to the serious-minded reader is the sketch of the great scientist, Helmholtz, by M. A. Lane. But there is no lack of variety, for a glance through its pages shows a number of bright poems, including "The Hired Man's Dog Story" by James Whitcomb Riley, and a selection of stories and essays to suit every taste. W. C. Jones contributes a very severe criticism of Thomas Dixon's latest book, The Traitor.

The Chicago and Wheeling express train on the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad crashed into a freight train on a siding at Bellaire, Ohio, Saturday afternoon, killing eight persons and injuring 20 or more. The operator failed to throw a switch.

—In the article entitled Gaston's War Record in our special edition an error was made in copying. We wrote Captain W. A. Stowe, when it should have read Colonel W. A. Stowe. Colonel Stowe did not surrender Company M, as the article states, but was in command of the entire tenth regiment at the time it was surrendered. Company M was surrendered by Lieutenant H. F. White.

The pain in Ma's head is gone,
She's as happy as can be,
Her health is right, her temper bright,
Since taking Hollister's Rocky Mountain Tea at night.

RANGE QUALITY.

"Of the making of many ranges there is no end." There are all kinds of ranges—good, bad and indifferent—and then there's the best.

There's only one best and the way it's spelled is F-A-V-O-R-I-T-E. We have handled several makes of ranges but the one that gives all-round satisfaction is the FAVORITE. Our personal guarantee of satisfaction goes with every one of these ranges we sell.

If you have not a range already, you are including in your plans for the future the purchase of one. When you do buy you want the best, so come in and let us show you the Favorite and point out to you the superiorities it has over the other kinds. We shall take pleasure in showing you even if you are not ready to buy right now.

Never Thought of Insuring Your Horse's Life, Did You?

All good business men protect their buildings and stocks of goods with insurance. The same should apply to all who own good stock. Live stock insurance is also a great protection to the man buying stock on time, protecting both himself and the seller.

We represent the Southern Live Stock Insurance Co. of High Point, N. C., a company having a paid in capital of $50,000.00 managed by successful business men.

This company writes two forms of policies, one granting indemnity in case of death from any cause, the other from disease only. The rates are reasonable and the company reliable.

This is a new line of insurance in this field and we have succeeded beyond our expectations in introducing it. IF INTERESTED, CALL OR WRITE.
