TUESDAY, NOV. 26, 1907.

The new members of the Sixtieth Congress who have been gracefully wearing their political honors as M. C.'s since last November without an opportunity to actively exercise their genius for "saving the country" will now have their inning, beginning next Monday. When Speaker Cannon gets through with them at the end of the long session it is probable that they will be wiser but sadder men and not so sure of their ability to run the government single-handed and alone.

The shooting of Chief Goforth, of the Newton police force, by a negro burglar last Saturday night was a most deplorable occurrence. It suggests the thought that the public probably does not appreciate as it should the bravery and courage of the men who willingly risk their lives in upholding and enforcing the law. Every citizen who considers the inestimable benefit he receives from the law and its representatives should in every way possible aid and respect the brave and efficient men who are sworn to enforce it.

The morning papers contain a dispatch from Washington which shows another instance of President Roosevelt's wonderful versatility and resourcefulness. The two senators from South Dakota being unable to agree on a plan of distributing federal patronage, both presumably wanting to put their favorites into the fattest offices, the President cut the Gordian knot by tossing a coin to see who should make the appointment to the office of first importance and allowing the disagreeing senators to draw for the others. The dispatch states that both senators seemed to be satisfied with the results of the lottery. The incident is probably of little real significance except as a side-light upon the character of our strenuous President, but it will almost certainly bring on much profitless discussion, the friends of the President being likely to claim that it is but an instance of his genius for getting things done, while the opposition will likely hold up their hands in horror that so important a question as who shall represent the majesty of the federal government should be settled by the mere tossing of a coin.

Simple Home-Made Treatment Said To Overcome Rheumatism Without Injuring Stomach.

When an eminent authority announced in the Scranton (Pa.) Times that he had found a new way to treat that dread American disease, Rheumatism, with just common, every-day drugs found in any drug store, the physicians were slow indeed to attach much importance to his claims. This was only a few months ago. Today nearly every newspaper in the country, even the metropolitan dailies, is announcing it and the splendid results achieved. It is so simple that any one can prepare it at home at small cost. It is made up as follows: Get from any good prescription pharmacy Fluid Extract Dandelion, one-half ounce; Compound Kargon, one ounce; Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla, three ounces. Mix by shaking in a bottle and take in teaspoonful doses after each meal and at bedtime. These are all simple ingredients, making an absolutely harmless home remedy at little cost.

Rheumatism, as every one knows, is a symptom of deranged kidneys. It is a condition produced by the failure of the kidneys to properly filter or strain from the blood the uric acid and other matter which, if not eradicated, either in the urine or through the skin pores, remains in the blood, decomposes and forms about the joints and muscles, causing the untold suffering and deformity of rheumatism.

This prescription is said to be a splendid healing, cleansing and invigorating tonic to the kidneys, and gives almost immediate relief in all forms of bladder and urinary troubles and backache. He also warns people in a leading New York paper against the discriminate use of many patent medicines.

Chief of Police J. I. Goforth, of Newton, was shot and perhaps fatally injured Saturday night by a negro burglar. He lies at the point of death and there is small hope of his recovery. A posse was formed and went in pursuit of the negro out so far he is still at liberty.

Special Sermon to Juniors.

Last Sunday night at the First Baptist church, Rev. W. H. Reddish preached a special sermon to the members of the Junior Order United American Mechanics. GEN. J. S. CARR ON INSURANCE.

Now Has $600,000 on His Life—Insures Lives of Men Who Owe Him Money.

Gen. Julian S. Carr, of Durham, N. C., who was at the Raleigh, a few years ago had the reputation of being the most heavily insured man in the United States. At that time he had his life insured to the amount of $1,500,000. Of this $300,000 has since been paid. He now has $600,000 on his life, he says. General Carr fought in the Confederate army, coming out of the war without a cent, and got into the tobacco business. He at first did the work of planting alone, then engaged three or four men, and, finally 800 men before he sold out to the American Tobacco Company in 1898 for $1,500,000.

"Yes," said he last night, "I have always believed in life insurance. I have had large policies on my own life, and my wife was the first woman in the United States, and, therefore I suppose, in the world, to be insured for more than $10,000. She was insured for $50,000. Today either John Wanamaker, of Philadelphia, or George Gould, of New York, is the most heavily insured man in the country; how much either carries I do not know. Both were among the twelve, myself included, who were first considered for policies of $500,000 each. At that time I was said to be physically perfect, so far as health was concerned. I have not only insured my own life but the lives of men who have owed me money. Not long ago a man gave me his note for $3,500. He did not meet it. I insured his life for $5,000, and a few years later he died. I made $600 on the investment.

Life's journey is a heavy burden. With a constantly aching back. With urinary disorders, diabetes. With any kidney ill. Doan's Kidney Pills relieve and cure.

J. H. Robinson, bricklayer, of 915 N. Tryon St., Charlotte, N. C., says: "For a long time I suffered with a bad back, undoubtedly due to disorders of the kidneys. The secretions were all out of sorts, very dark and full of sediment. I heard of Doan's Kidney Pills and got a box at a drug store, and gave them a thorough trial. They restored the secretions to their natural color, made the secretions normal and strengthened my back so that it does not pain me at all. In fact, I have not had an ache since I used the remedy."
