—Miss Ona Long, of Monroe, returned to her home yesterday after spending Easter here as the guest of Miss Mattie Moore.
—Attention of our readers is called to the new advertisement of Haithcock's Real Estate Agency on page five of this issue.
—Miss Lucy Boyce returned this morning to the Presbyterian College at Charlotte after spending the Easter holidays with homefolks here.
—Dr. and Mrs. T. A. Wilkins are now occupying the residence at 319 South Oakland street, which they recently purchased from Mr. W. C. Abernethy.
—Attorney Lucius J. Holland and Dr. George Holland arrived from Bluefield, W. Va., last night and went to Dallas to visit their mother, Mrs. Julia Courts Holland.
—Mr. Louis H. Balthis left this morning to resume his studies, at the Patterson School, Yadkin Valley, after spending the Easter holidays with his brother, Mr. W. L. Balthis.
—Mr. J. D. Rudisill, a successful farmer and well-known citizen of the Crouse section of North Gaston, spent a part of yesterday in Gastonia on business.
—Mrs. C. H. Robinson, of Charlotte, and Misses Hazel, Geane and Ruth Robinson, were the guests for several days last week of Col. W. G. Morris and family, at Dallas.
—Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Love and Mr. and Mrs. William Moore, of Spencer Mountain, were here Sunday to attend services at St. Mark's church.
—Mrs. Janie Smith, of Spartanburg, S. C., was the guest last Thursday and Friday of Mr. and Mrs. J. P. McSwain. She was en route home from a visit to Charlotte.
—Bishop Junius M. Horner, of Asheville, will preach at the Episcopal church at Bessemer City on Sunday, May 1st, at 11 a. m.; at St. Mark's church here, at 7:30 p. m. on the same day; at St. John's church, High Shoals, on Monday, May 2nd, at 7:30 p. m. The apostolic rite of confirmation will be administered at Gastonia and High Shoals to large classes.
—Mr. Ollie Grist, of Yorkville, was in Gastonia a short while Sunday. He came up Sunday morning and went to St. Mary's, returning home on the afternoon train. Mr. Grist is one of the Grist trio who produce The Yorkville Enquirer, one of the best and surely the most handsomely printed papers one ever sees. Mr. Grist is an expert pressman and has few equals and no superior in this section at least in his special line of work.
—Six car loads of cattle will be shipped from Gastonia this week, most of them going to Richmond, Va. These will bring the total number of cars shipped from this point this season to twelve, which is an unusually good record for this section, which makes no especial claims to be a cattle-raising country. Most of these cattle were brought here last fall from East Tennessee and have been fattened here principally on cotton seed hulls and meal.
—Workmen are putting the finishing touches on the old Wilson house which formerly stood on the site of the new court house and which was purchased by the A. R. P. church. The house was rolled to the East end of the church's property and fronts on Franklin avenue. It has been thoroughly overhauled and remodeled. A new roof was put on, bath rooms added and other modern conveniences installed. It looks almost like new. It contains eight rooms and is a most desirable piece of residence property.

AN EXCELLENT CONCERT.

Lowell Audience Highly Pleased With Entertainment Given Saturday Night by Home Orchestra—Special Mention of Some Selections.

Correspondence of The Gazette.
LOWELL, March 29.—The Lowell Orchestra, composed of nine pieces of real musical talent, played to a large house here Saturday night and the lovers of music and of a high-class entertainment are loud in their praise of the management and each member of the orchestra.
The following numbers were especially enjoyed by the audience: Selection, William Tell; Nightingale's Song from La Tyrolle; trombone solo, "Rocked in the Cradle of the Deep," Mr. Claud Wilson, master of the trombone, rendering this piece to perfection; the soft notes of this piece brought the audience to their feet with hearty cheers; overtures, "Evening Slumbers;" cornet solo, "Love's Old Sweet Song;" cornet solo by Mrs. Palmer Titman, this piece seeming to reach the pinnacle of musical perfection and to open the windows of the music heaven and cause the weary-worn soul to loose its hold upon the weary things of a troubled life and to look with renewed hope into a brighter future.
The violin solos by Miss Lillian Atkins were the most captivating pieces of the entertainment. Those old Southern melodies, "Dixie," "My Old Kentucky Home," and "Listen to the Mocking Bird," brought the house to an uproar of applause and Miss Atkins was recalled time and again; and, to add sweetness to the mellow strains of her violin, the piano accompaniments were played by Miss Bertha Long in a most artistic manner.

The Lowell Orchestra, composed of home talent, each member doing his full part to make it the equal in every way to the higher-priced orchestras, along with the manager, Mr. J. M. Wilson, deserves the hearty co-operation and good will of a musical-loving public.

For Visiting Young Ladies.

At the spacious Gray home on South street last Friday night Miss Blanche Gray entertained with a delightful informal affair in honor of her charming Easter holiday guests, Miss Martha Wilburn, of Lexington, Miss., and Miss Ruth Matson, of Lebanon, Ky. There were present about fifty of Gastonia's younger social set and the occasion was in every respect a most delightful one. Refreshments were served in two courses. Miss Gray and her guests, who made many friends in Gastonia during their brief stay here, left this morning for Lynchburg, Va., to resume their studies at Randolph-Macon College for Women.
