Important Word to Advertisers

We wish to remind advertisers that copy for change of advertisements in The Gazette must be in this office not later than 8 a. m. on Tuesdays and Fridays in order to be sure of insertion in the papers of those days. Otherwise we cannot insure insertion. When it comes in later than this it is impossible to give it the proper attention if it can be handled at all. Advertisers who get their copy in by noon on Mondays and Thursdays will secure better displays and more satisfactory service in every way as we will then have more time to devote to them. It is as much to the advertiser's interest as it is to ours to have a neat, well-displayed, correct advertisement and to this end we ask your cooperation by getting copy in early and giving us sufficient time in which to properly handle it. New business will, of course, be handled as well as possible and as late as possible before going to press. Penny column advertisements can be handled as late as 1 p. m. on Tuesdays and Fridays. These regulations are necessary because of the constantly increasing demand on The Gazette's advertising department. Mr. Advertiser: Help us to give you the best possible results by giving us plenty of time on your copy.

Purest Flour

"Of the various qualities of flour obtained from the same wheat, the lower grades are those most contaminated with grease, dirt, and objectionable bacteria; the freedom of flour from these, increases with its purity."

The purity of William Tell flour is due to the costly equipment and exceptional care to keep the grain and flour clean.

The wheat is stored in hermetically sealed tanks at the big mills of Ansted & Burk Co.

Neither grain nor flour ever touches anything but the bright, clean surfaces of dust-proof machinery. Even the flour bags are sewed up by machinery.

William Tell comes to you from the mills with all the brilliant bloom that only Ohio wheat can make. Ask your dealer, and insist on having—

TOO LATE.

'Tis said that the words, "It might have been"

Are the saddest of tongue or pen; But to me there are others sadder still,

And we hear them again and again.

Sometimes 'tis the work of a careless mind,

And again 'tis but cruel fate; But the saddest words now known to me,

Are these: Too late! too late!

When I think of one—a dear sweet girl,

A stillness o'er me creeps; For while I know her slender form

Beneath a fresh mound sleeps. I seem to hear that weakened voice,

As she once did watch and wait Saying, do you think she'll ever come?

For soon 'twill be too late.

"I'll go" I said, "some other day"

To see this friend so dear; Forgetting that to all of us,

Eternity may be a day.

But days passed by and time sped on

At an ever-rapid rate; And the news I had from "Lizzie" next,

Said plainly: 'tis too late.

Now all I have, is vain regret;

The cup is mine to drink; But may this teach a careless mind

To glance above, and think. May others never taste the gall,

Or need to mourn their fate. But rise and go when duty calls

Don't put it off too late.

CATARRH CAN QUICKLY BE CURED.

A bottle of Hyomel, a hard rubber pocket inhaler that will last a lifetime, and simple instructions for curing catarrh make a Hyomel outfit.

Into the inhaler you pour a few drops of magical Hyomel (pronounce it High-o-me).

This is absorbed by the antiseptic gauze within and now you are ready to breathe it over the germ-infested membrane where it will speedily begin its work of killing catarrh germs. Hyomel is made of Australian eucalypt combined with other antiseptics and is very pleasant to breathe.

It is guaranteed to cure catarrh, bronchitis, sore throat, croup, coughs and colds, or money back. It cleans out a stuffed up head in a few minutes.

Sold by druggists everywhere, and by J. H. Kennedy & Co., Complete outfit $1.00. And remember that extra bottles if afterwards needed cost only 50 cents. Breathe it, that's all.

To break up cold in head or chest in a few minutes, pour a teaspoonful of Hyomel into a bowl of boiling water, cover head and bowl with towel and breathe the vapor.

THE PLANETS.

They All, With Their Satellites, Exhibit Phases Like the Moon.

We are likely to regard the moon as the only thing in the heavens that exhibits phases such as the quarter, the half and the full. As a matter of fact, all planets and their satellites exhibit separately such phases, and most of them can be easily seen with a small power telescope. Thus Mars and Venus, which are comparatively close to the earth, show through the telescope at times a beautiful crescent, at others a half planet fully as brilliant, considering the distance, as does our satellite. At times also the planets suffer eclipse, just as the earth, the moon and the sun, and these eclipses are foretold with as great accuracy.

As to just what causes the phases, say of the moon, is easy to comprehend by a homely analogy. If one stands in a corner of a room, places a globe of some description in the next corner and a light in the third corner the phenomenon of the half moon is seen. The light, representing the sun, shines of course on half the globe representing the moon, but the observer in the corner sees only half of the surface toward him illuminated. If now the light be placed behind the observer and a little above his head a full moon will be seen, the "sun," however, shining on the same area of surface as before, merely allowing this time a view from the "earth" of the whole amount of illumination. All the phases can be demonstrated in this manner by moving the "moon" directly outward from its corner.

One of the greatest discoveries of science is due to observation of the eclipses of Jupiter's moons. It was found that when the earth was in the part of its orbit nearest to Jupiter these eclipses occurred sixteen minutes earlier than when it was in the farthest part, whereas by all rules of astronomy they should have occurred at the same minute each time. It was deduced from this that light was not instantaneous and consequently took sixteen minutes to traverse the diameter of the earth's orbit, a distance of about 200,000,000 miles, thus giving to light a velocity of 186,000 miles a second, which was accurately shown later by other experiments.—St. Louis Republic.

WATCH SPRINGS.

Not Surprising They Break Considering the Work They Do.

The mainspring of a watch does not unwind at a uniform rate, but intermittently. It is subjected to a sudden jerk at every tick—four times per second for my watch. This makes 345,600 times per day and over 126,000,000 times per year. This operating condition is analogous to others discussed in Kent's "Mechanical Pocketbook" under the heads of "Relation of the Elastic Limit of Endurance Under Repeated Stresses" and "Resistance of Metals to Repeated Shocks." Among other things it says: "Another long known result of experience is the fact that rupture may be caused by a succession of shocks or impacts none of which alone would be sufficient to cause it. Iron axles, the piston rods of steam hammers and other pieces of metal subject to continuously repeated shocks invariably break after a certain length of service. They have 'a life' which is limited."

Wohler found in testing iron by repeated stresses (not impacts) that in one case 400,000 applications of a stress of 500 centners to the square linc caused a rupture, while a similar bar remained sound after 48,000,000 applications of a stress of 300 centners to the square inch. One centner equals 110.2 pounds. The mainspring of a watch is not only under a considerable tensile stress, but also under a bending stress when suddenly released, then immediately stopped by the escapement mechanism. It is then probable that its molecular cohesive power deteriorates in a manner similar to those quoted.—Scientific American.

Von Bulow of Gentle Nature.

When first Von Bulow was introduced to me I almost avoided him on account of the many stories of his irascibility, his erratic disposition, his offhand treatment of the public, his brutality toward musicians and many other crimes of this sort. On closer acquaintance with the great pianist I experienced some astonishment to find him a man of strong mind, yet gentle nature, enthusiastic, artistic to the finger tips and well bred, though of an exceedingly nervous temperament. Irascible he might have been at times, but I am sure that the moments of ungovernable anger were always provoked by people's stupidity or by some unpardonable mistakes in musical execution.—From "Modjeska's Memoirs" in Century.

MR. MANGUM'S CLAIMS.

Loyal Friends in Gastonia Present His Name for Nomination by the Democracy for the Office of Solicitor.

(Cleveland Star, April 12th.)

Gastonia, April 6, 1910.—The Democratic Convention, which will nominate a candidate for solicitor in the Twelfth Judicial District to succeed the present incumbent, is sufficiently near to demand the earnest and serious consideration of the thoughtful Democrats of the district. To which of the five counties—Cabarrus, Cleveland, Gaston, Lincoln, Mecklenburg,—comprising the 12th Judicial District, shall the nomination go? Cleveland has been honored with the judgeship, and one of her sons served as solicitor for the term preceding that of the present incumbent; and, again, Cleveland is not asking for the nomination, Lincoln has been taken care of by placing one of her gifted sons upon the Supreme Court bench; Mecklenburg now has the solicitorship, and in addition to this honor one of her sons is a judge upon the Supreme Court bench; Cabarrus and Gaston have heretofore given away to the claims of their sister counties without dissent or complaint, and, as yet have been without a share of political honors apportioned to the district. Cabarrus is not asking for the nomination. Gaston does desire the nomination this time, and is earnestly requesting that her claims be given a fair and just consideration in the district. Heretofore she has stood loyally in the party ranks and has cheerfully given her support to the sons of sister counties in the district asking for preferment,—and for herself or her sons has not sought honors, but at this time she feels strongly that as she is the only county in the district asking for the nomination which now has no share of the political honors allotted to the district for distribution, that her sister counties ought and will recognize the justice of her request and claims, and in a spirit of equality and fairness will honor one of Gaston's sons with the nomination for solicitor.

Believing that such sentiment will dictate your course in making a choice in the convention, we, the undersigned, representing a few of the friends interested in the candidacy of Mr. A. G. Mangum, of Gastonia, present his name to you for consideration as the candidate from Gaston. Mr. Mangum has been a resident attorney of Gastonia for the past sixteen years, and has been practicing his profession during this period with ability on both the civil and criminal side of the courts in the district and State, and is well and favorably known to the bar of the district. His friends and acquaintances throughout the county recognizing his high qualities both as a man and a lawyer, unhesitatingly ask you to support him for nomination feeling confident that his capacity and powers will measure up to the full demands of the high office sought, and that he can fill the same impartially, with ability and dignity, reflecting honor upon the district and State.

In the interest of the public good it is highly expedient that a lawyer having long experience as well as one having ability and skill, should be selected for this high post. These qualities should be combined to insure a strong and effective public service. Mr. Mangum, we confidently believe, possesses these requisites, and we cordially ask you for a generous consideration of Gaston's claim, and your support of Mr. Mangum as its nominee.
