Entertained Philathea Class.

At the parsonage of East Baptist church on West Air Line avenue last Friday evening from 8 to 10:30 o'clock Mrs. J. J. Beach delightfully entertained the Philathea class of the East Baptist church. About thirty guests enjoyed her hospitality. The lawn was lighted with Japanese lanterns and the parlor and reception hall were decorated for the occasion. Music and games of different kinds afforded pleasant amusement, while delicious refreshments were served on the lawn. Each member of the class received a beautiful souvenir. This class was organized about six months ago and has a membership of thirty-four. Mrs. Beach is the teacher.

Will Give Away Piano.

The attention of our readers is directed to the advertisement in today's Gazette of the Bessemer Mercantile Company. This well-known and progressive firm is going to give away a handsome $350 piano to the person getting the largest number of votes between now and the last of December. Votes are secured through coupons which are given with every purchase at their store. The instrument is a handsome one and is on exhibition at their store in Bessemer City. They would like for everybody to drop in and take a look at it. It is certainly worth trying to get and somebody is going to have a mighty pretty and useful musical instrument as a result of this contest.

MEMORIAL DAY.

Appropriate Exercises by Daughters of the Confederacy in Memory of Confederate Dead—Stirring Address by O. Max Gardner—Annual Dinner to Veterans.

There was in attendance today at the exercises held under the auspices of the Gastonia Chapter, United Daughters of the Confederacy, a larger number of veterans possibly than was ever present at a similar gathering here, at least for several years. When the hour for the beginning of the exercises arrived the Gastonia opera house, where the service was held, was crowded to its capacity. The central section of the floor, reserved for veterans, was filled with soldiers of the lost cause from various sections of the county.

The exercises were presided over by Mrs. D. A. Garrison, president of the local chapter, Mrs. T. L. Craig, the honorary president, not being well enough to attend the exercises in the hall. After a number of excellent musical selections by the Clara Concert Band, which furnished music for the occasion, the program as published in The Gazette last week was carried out in full. After an opening prayer by Rev. W. E. Hardin and a song the roll was called by Capt. J. Q. Holland and about one hundred and fifty veterans answered to their names. The list of those veterans who have died during the past year was then read as follows:

Elias Anders, P. J. Biggers, A. J. Gamble, J. K. Hucks, Michael Kiser, A. M. McAllister, J. H. Propst, S. S. Smith, D. J. Wallace, J. L. Quinn, J. L. Johnson, Joseph Paysour, J. F. Craig, Emanuel Mauney.

Mr. W. R. Her rendered a most appropriate solo "The Boys in Gray Are Growing Old," following which Miss Janie Morris presented a handsome portrait of General Stonewall Jackson to the graded school. The picture was unveiled by Misses Lillian Watson and Lavinia Hunter, and Prof. J. B. Warren made the speech of acceptance. The next number was a violin solo by Miss Lillian Atkins, following which Superintendent

Joe S. Wray, of the city schools, in a brief but excellent speech of introduction, presented the speaker of the day, Hon. O. Max Gardner, of Shelby.

Mr. Gardner, who is one of Cleveland county's most prominent young lawyers, and who last week was nominated by the Democrats of his county for their representative in the State Senate, made a most highly pleasing impression on his hearers. The first part of his address he devoted to the life and career of Gen. Robert E. Lee, while in the latter part he paid a glowing tribute to the character and services of the rank and file of the Confederate army.

At the conclusion of the program the line of march formed and made its way to Oakwood cemetery to decorate the graves of the Confederate dead who sleep there. On the way the line of veterans marched past the home of Mrs. T. L. Craig, the chapter, who reviewed the line from her porch. Entering her carriage Mrs. Craig, who is now recovering satisfactorily from a long illness, accompanied the procession to the cemetery and witnessed the ceremonies there.

Upon their return from the cemetery the veterans were ushered to the second floor of the Love building, where a sumptuous dinner had been prepared for them. This annual dinner is always looked forward to by the veterans as a most pleasant occasion, but today, there seemed to have been made even more elaborate preparations for serving the veterans than ever before. The tables were well laden with delicacies and substantial provisions of all kinds, and there was an abundance for all who accepted the invitation to be present.

Ex-Teller Carraway, of the National Bank of New Bern, has been found guilty of false entries and misappropriation of funds, and not embezzlement and sentenced to five years in the Atlanta prison.
