Lowell vs. Bell's Park.

Bell's Park took the second game of the series from Lowell Saturday afternoon of last week by a score of 3 to 4. The feature of the game was a three-bagger for Bell's Park by W. Price. The batteries were Farrar and Price for Bell's Park, Leonhardt and Gaston for Lowell.

Married at Clover.

Two couples of East Gastonia young people drove to Clover yesterday afternoon and were united in marriage by Squire Sifford. The contracting parties were Mr. Joe Lynn and Miss Mattie Whisnant, and Mr. Dave Glover and Miss Emma Bell. They were accompanied by Mr. George Whisnant and Miss Laura Bell, Mr. John Lynn and Miss Etta Saunders, and upon their return to Gastonia a supper was served to each of the couples at the homes of the bride's parents.

Woodmen of the World.

There will be a meeting in Bradley Hall at the Loray Mill tomorrow, Saturday night, at 8 o'clock for the purpose of organizing a camp of the Woodmen of the World. Mr. D. A. Hargett, the local organizer, has a good number of applicants who are anxious to join the order. The public is invited to attend, and especially those who are interested in woodcraft. Mr. W. S. Charles, of Charlotte, the District Deputy, will be present and confer the obligations on the new candidates.

To Locate in Oklahoma.

The following item from this week's Lexington Dispatch will be read with interest here: "Bismarck Capps, Esq., of Salisbury, who recently announced his marriage in February last, announces that after casting about in search of a location for the practice of law, he has decided on the new State of Oklahoma, which has drawn so many young Tar Heels during the last few years." Mr. Capps was married on February 18th to Miss Mattie Moore, of Gastonia, but the young people succeeded in keeping their marriage a secret until a few weeks ago when Mrs. Capps joined her husband at Salisbury and wrote the news of her marriage to her relatives here.

The Reynolds Tobacco Company, of Winston has purchased a $50,000 building in Richmond and will erect a $100,000 factory.

GAG-RULE METHODS.

Censorship Imposed on Government Employees by Taft Administration Savors of Russian Despotism—All a Man's Job is Worth to Even Give Out Legitimate Information—Other Washington News.

WASHINGTON, June 9.—Government by stealth, as a fitting expression to describe the gag-rule methods inaugurated under Mr. Taft. Not merely the average employee of the government, but the highest officials are afraid to give newspaper men information as to what is going on. Employees are being made to feel that they owe no fidelity to the public, but that they are mere personal servants of the coterie of men now in charge of the government.

As a result of the discharge of Pinchot, Glavis, Kerby and other interior department employees, the average government worker today feels that it is worth his position to discuss even matters of public record with a newspaper man.

The following official order signed by George Otis Smith, director of the United States Geological Survey, gives an idea of the Russian-like censorship that has been established over government information:

"Rule 2. That no interview shall be granted without securing from the person soliciting the same a promise that he will before submitting the material to his publication office, present a copy of his manuscript to the director (George Otis Smith) for approval."

So far as is known among newspaper men in Washington, nothing so drastic as this in the way of press censorship has ever been attempted before in America.

In 1890, under Cleveland, the total annual appropriation for the expenses of the national government was $340,000,000, or $6 for every man, woman and child. In 1900 our expenses had increased to $600,000,000, or $8 for every man, woman and child. The last Congress appropriated the colossal sum of $1,044,401,857, or nearly $12 for every man, woman and child. This Congress threatens to spend $17,000,000 in excess of last year's appropriation.

Republicans appear reluctant to concern themselves much about government expenditures in relation to the cost of living. But one thing is certain, the government does not pick up these hundreds of millions of dollars in the street. This money comes out of somebody's pocket. Unlike city and state governments, the national government has but one way of raising revenue to meet expenses, and that is by taxing things eaten, worn or used by the people. Hence it is that increased cost of living is marching hand-in-hand with increased Republican extravagance.

"I am sorry," said Senator Bristow, of Kansas, while discussing the railroad bill, "that the Senator from West Virginia, (Elkins) has deserted the chamber, and I am sorry the Senator from Rhode Island (Aldrich) is not here, and that the Senator from Massachusetts (Lodge) has also disappeared." A survey of the Senate showed that the railroad Senators, after having outlined the kind of legislation they had decided should be enacted, had fled from the chamber without waiting to hear those who disagreed from the railroad viewpoint. "Those of us who are here might possibly be instructed," suggested a Democratic senator, upon noting Bristow's chagrin, "but if the senator from Kansas imagines that anything he can say will influence those senators he is wasting his time and breath." "I am afraid the senator is right," answered Bristow. Then he went on addressing the Democrats and the empty seats of the standpatters.

Let us forget, only nine of the 218 Republicans of the national House of Representatives are in a position to stand before their constituents and report that they voted to unseat Cannon as speaker. Page 3490 of the Congressional Record shows that on March 19, all but nine Republicans voted against the Bristow resolution which would have unseated Speaker Cannon and made it possible to elect a new speaker. Every Democrat voted to unseat "Uncle Joe."

Senator Robert M. LaFollette, of Wisconsin, sometimes thinks of the most unheard of things. For instance, in the Senate the other day in discussing President Taft's railroad bill, he said: "There is not one line in the statute to give the people reasonable railroad rates. All that has been accomplished is to afford a means of giving equal rates to the shippers." Now who except LaFollette or some other Democrat would think of that?

Death of John M. McGinnis.

From The Cherryville Eagle we learn that Mr. John M. McGinnis died at his home near Crouse on Monday, June 6th. Mr. McGinnis was born July 5, 1841, and hence had reached the advanced age of nearly 69 years. He was married in 1867 to Miss Margaret Rudisill, daughter of Wiley Rudisill. To them were born eleven children, two of whom are dead. Mr. McGinnis was a life-long member of St. Mark's Lutheran church, where his funeral and burial were conducted Wednesday at 11 o'clock by the pastor, Rev. J. C. Dietz. The following eight Confederate veterans acted as pallbearers: Messrs. Jacob Eaker, Bert Rutledge, Michael Carpenter, Marcus Carpenter, Polle Rudisill, John Aderholdt, Peter Eaker and John Carpenter.

ACOMIA.

Many Men Have It and Most of Them Worry About It.

ACOMIA—It's a magic word—what does it mean? Simply absence of hair.

A baldheaded man has ACOMIA—A million more men will have ACOMIA a year from now if they do not get rid of disgusting dandruff.

Dandruff is caused by a germ. This germ is a persistent sort of germ. He lives on the vitality stored in the hair roots, and the longer you tolerate his presence the surer you are of growing bald.

Kill the dandruff germs; that's the only way to keep from growing bald. Any capable doctor will tell you.

Parisian Sage is the most pleasant and invigorating hair dressing in the world. It is not sticky or greasy. It will make women's hair soft, silky and luxuriant in a few days. The girl with the Auburn hair is on every bottle. Fifty cents a large bottle at druggists everywhere and at J. H. Kennedy & Co's. who guarantee it. York and Yorkville.

What's Doing With Our Neighbors Just Across the Line.

Enquirer, 7th.

Miss Emma Neil, of Clover, is visiting friends in Newport and Nashville, Tenn.

Mr. John M. Smith, Carrier on Clover R. F. D. No. 2, reports that Mr. T. E. Brandon, who lives on his route, has about 10 acres of the finest wheat he has seen in years. He estimates that the yield ought to be something like twenty bushels to the acre.

The contractors have completed the erection of the C. & N.-W. station at Yorkville, and the building is now ready for occupancy with the exception of a few finishing touches. Mr. Long, the agent, hopes to get into his new quarters this week.

Mr. John W. Miller, carrier on Yorkville R. F. D. No. 6, has purchased an automobile with the intention of using the machine in delivering the mail. Mr. Miller's machine is a Brush, purchased from the Yorkville Furniture Company.

Mr. J. Meek Pursley died at his home in the Bethany neighborhood last Saturday morning from complications arising out of a prolonged attack of pleuro-pneumonia. Mr. Pursley was attacked by pleurisy in the spring and was confined to his bed for a number of weeks, during which his condition was desperate. He recovered, however, sufficiently to get up and about again, and family and friends had good reason to hope that complete recovery was only a matter of time. But a relapse came recently, and Mr. Pursley's condition grew steadily worse to the end. Mr. Pursley was a son of the late Warren Pursley, and was born July 1, 1871. He was a consistent member of Bethany A. R. P. church, a useful and highly esteemed citizen and well thought of by all who knew him. He has held the position of road commissioner in Kings Mountain township, and was an unusually efficient official. He leaves a widow, who was Miss Emma McGill, daughter of Mr. L. A. McGill and two children. The funeral took place at Bethany on Sunday, the services being conducted by Rev. Dr. R. M. Stevenson, and the ceremonies at the grave by the Woodmen of the World.

PIANO AND ORGAN TUNING.

A concord of sweet sounds is music. Pianos in proper pitch and well tuned, inspire, and give new zest to all the finer feelings—when run down—low pitch—injured by moths and action rattling, they paralyze, and some times kill.

For ten days you can leave orders for work in this line at the store of A. J. Kirby & Co., and your work will be done promptly and properly.

An experience of twenty years among the best colleges and the most prominent people of the State, entitles me to believe that I can please you. References: State Normal College, Greensboro Female College, Elon College, Guilford College, Davenport College and Linwood College.
