Halley's Comet and Part It Has Played In Human History. IDENTIFIED BY EDMUND HALLEY (1656-1742), who predicted its return in 1758, fixing the period of its revolution in its orbit at seventy-five to seventy-nine years. This was the first recorded prediction of a comet's return.

Previous appearances identified as far back as 240 B. C. Sir Robert Ball identifies it as the comet that appeared in 2616 B. C., the year of Methusehah's death.

Conjectural diameter of the head. 9,000 miles; length of tail varying. present estimates ranging from 20,000,000 to 46,000,000 miles; present speed about twenty-five miles a second.

Its orbit, inclined to that of the earth at an angle of 18 degrees, extends beyond that of Neptune, the outermost planet of our system, to a distance of about 3,300,000,000 miles from the sun. Its speed is greatest near the sun and diminishes so rapidly as the distance increases that half of its period is spent in that part of its orbit lying beyond Neptune's.

SUFFRAGIST FLAG ON GRAVES

Memorial Day Tribute For Dead Warriors in the Cause. All the graves of women suffragists are to be decorated this coming Memorial day. There is a little suffrage flag of blue with the words, "Votes For Women," in the center in white and with four white stars, one in each corner, which will be placed upon the grave of every warrior who died during what the suffragists call the great civil war for woman suffrage.

There was a big blue and white "Votes For Women" flag across the end of the room where the platform was raised, and at the side the American flag, with many of the small blue flags, facsimiles of the large one, held in place by "Votes For Women" buttons. It was the first time the flags had been seen in New York, and Mrs. Belmont when asked about them let the secret slip out.

THE STRETT PIONEER OF ENLARGED TYPE OF TORPEDO BOAT DESTROYERS. That grim old sea fighter Commodore Andrew Strett would have swept the Mediterranean clean of Barbary pirates if he had had under his feet so speedy a craft as the torpedo boat destroyer which, bearing his name, plunged down the launching ways at Quincy, Mass., the other day.

SPEEDY FIGHTING CRAFT.

When the Strett receives her equipment and takes on board a dozen or so of those long, destructive torpedo tubes it is a question of naval science whether she could make that final dash and deal a fatal blow to so formidable a fighter as the United States battleship Florida, which also made her maiden plunge on the same day.

WHICH IS WHICH, KING OF ENGLAND OR CZAR OF RUSSIA?

The striking similarity of Great Britain's new ruler, George, and the czar of Russia has been frequently commented upon, and a glance at the portraits of the two monarchs leaves the average person in doubt as to which is which.

The beads worn by both men are chiefly accountable for the similarity. They both seem to have the identical expression of reserve or repression, both being serious minded men, upon whom the weight of responsibility does not rest lightly.

There is a strong hereditary reason for a similarity of appearance, the mother of the czar and the mother of the king being sisters, daughters of the late king of Denmark.

Close study of these two men from original photographs and not retouched shows many facial characteristics totally dissimilar. The eyes in portrait No. 1 are round and bulging, the upper part of the head is round, and the under lip is heavy. There are traces in the face of the comfortable, placid German type. In portrait No. 2 the eyes slant a trifle, suggesting the craftiness of the Asiatic; the upper lip is heavy, the nostrils broad and thick.

Portrait No. 1 is that of the king of England. No. 2 is that of the czar of Russia.

ALL HEALING SPRINGS. Well-Known Resort Open for Summer Boarders—Location at Foot of Crowders Mountain With Beautiful Mountain Scenery in Easy Reach.

Rev. A. T. Lindsay, president and proprietor of the Linwood College property, long and well known throughout this section as All Healing Springs, announces in an advertisement in this issue of The Gazette that the college buildings are being opened this summer to boarders. The medicinal properties of the springs have been well known for years, and the accommodations are now of the best.

The following item, clipped from The Charlotte News of last Thursday, gives some idea of the beauties of the location.

"Very few of Charlotte people know that in 25 miles of here within an hours ride, they can enjoy a mountain climb with rugged scenery that equals almost any in North Carolina.

"Mr. J. B. Ivey, who made the climb on Tuesday, is very enthusiastic over the scenery on Crowders Mountain. Only about 20 minutes walk from Linwood College is the summit of this mountain, about 2,400 feet above sea level, and 1,600 feet above the college. There are dozens of fine views, sheer precipices of several hundred feet, and an unobstructed view in all directions. The Southern Railway trains can be seen in plain view from South Carolina until they are near Charlotte. Yorkville, Charlotte, Gastonia, Clover, Kings Mountain, Gaffney, etc., are in plain view.

"Those who have seen Blowing Rock, Lookout Mountain, Grandfather and other noted mountain views claim that here in sight of Charlotte are views that equal, and in some ways surpass any of these views."
