Southern Railroads Advance Coal Rates.

Complaint has been filed with the Inter-State Commerce Commission by a number of cotton manufacturers in and near Spartanburg, S. C., against the proposed advanced freight rates on coal of the Southern railroad and the Carolina, Clinchfield and Ohio railroad. It is charged that these roads have illegally agreed to advance the rates on coal to points in the Carolinas, which will give the Virginia coal operators a monopoly in supplying the Carolina territory, while the Southern railroad will have a monopoly in the transportation of coal from the Tennessee mines to Atlanta and other Southern points, thus shutting out the Tennessee mines from the Carolina territory. The proposed advance is declared to be excessive and unjust compared with the rates in other coal consuming territories.

[The building of a new railroad line develops the country and adds to its wealth, but under modern conditions it does not mean cheaper freight rates. The building of the Clinchfield line was halted with joy by manufacturers, as meaning cheaper rates on coal. The above complaint is the answer.]

To Return Battle Flag.

A dispatch from Boston, Mass., says: "A Civil war battle flag carried by the Thirty-fourth regiment of North Carolina volunteers, and which has been for many years in the possession of a Plymouth, N. H., family now living in this city, is soon to be returned to the Southern State. While on a visit north, Mrs. R. H. Chesley, daughter of a Confederate officer learned that the flag was in this city and obtained it, offered it to the old regiment or the State of North Carolina. She has received a reply from Governor Kitchin, of North Carolina, stating that the flag would be greatly appreciated."

Big Crop of Budding Lawyers.

A report sent out from Raleigh says that when the North Carolina supreme court convenes on August 29th for the fall term of 18 weeks there will be one of the largest classes on record present to undertake the examinations for license to practice law in the courts of North Carolina. Wake Forest law school alone will furnish 33 applicants. Then there will be the classes from the University of North Carolina, Trinity College and other law schools of the state besides a number who have prepared themselves outside of the state.

Simpkins Buys Big Farm Near Wilmington.

Raleigh Cor. Manufacturer's Record. W. A. Simpkins of Raleigh has just purchased the 110-acre farm in the suburbs of Wilmington, known as the Chadwick farm, which is all tile-drained and irrigated by means of overhead piping. It has the largest irrigating plant anywhere in this part of the country, and Mr. W. N. Chadwick spent over $90,000 on the place, having grown lettuce there several seasons. Mr. Simpkins found a popular belief that cotton will not properly mature in that section, and will convert the place into a test farm for cotton and corn, using his own cottonseed and corn from the farm of John F. Batts. Both of these farmers last year smashed records, and are this year trying to make new ones. The farm Mr. Simpkins has purchased will be used as an object lesson to cotton and corn growers in the coast country from Norfolk to Florida, and will really be on the footing of a test farm, so far as these two crops are concerned; hence its general importance.

Mr. McNinch Declines Mr. Webb's Challenge.

Charlotte Observer, 24th. Mr. S. S. McNinch, Republican candidate for Congress in the ninth district against Mr. E. Y. Webb, the present Democratic incumbent, has declined the challenge to a joint canvass of the district which was tendered in an open letter several weeks ago by Mr. Webb. Mr. McNinch says that he can see no good accruing from such a campaign, but on the contrary is apprehensive of much strife and possibly bad feeling. The letter was mailed to Mr. Webb in Shelby yesterday. It is a very clear cut and precise document.

Party Unloading.

New York Evening Post. The Republicans are dutifully adding to their fine collection of Jonahs. Senator Crane, of Massachusetts, appears now to have become the expert authority for the administration on the subject of who is to be heaved overboard, and has been traveling from place to place to indicate who is next to be cast into the angry political waters. Speaker Cannon was long ago marked as the chief victim to be thrown to the "great fish" of the Bible narrative, popularly supposed to be very like a whale, but possibly a prehistoric submarine with excellent accommodations for politicians temporarily in retirement. Secretary Ballinger is about pretty generally agreed upon as bound for the same destination. And now it appears that Aldrichism, if not Aldrich himself, must, in Senator Crane's judgment, be similarly unloaded.
