Dr. James A. Holmes, a North Carolinian, has been appointed by President Taft as director of the newly created bureau of mines. There would have been nothing significant in this fact had it not been that Secretary Ballinger of the Interior Department opposed the appointment. And why? For no other reason than that Holmes was a friend and active supporter of the conservation policies of Gifford Pinchot, deposed head of the forestry bureau. There was no disputing the fact that Dr. Holmes was perhaps better fitted to fill this position than any other living man. But because he stood with the forces which oppose the greedy grafting gormandisers who would swallow up the country's forests and mines and other natural resources, he met the opposition of that gang's friends in the cabinet. Thus is tardy justice done. Dr. Holmes, the people have been given an expert official and Ballinger has received another blow which sends him just a little further down hill toward the end of his row.

To Buy Sanitary Drinking Fountains.

At a meeting of the Gastonia Women's Betterment Association held at the Central school building Tuesday afternoon it was decided that the association would contribute half of the expense involved in installing sanitary drinking fountains in all the city schools. The total cost will be about $200, of which amount $100 will be paid by the association and $100 by the board of city school commissioners. This is a great forward step and has the unanimous endorsement of the association as well as of practically all, if not all, of the patrons of the schools. Prof. Wray has samples of these fountains here now in operation and it is expected that within the next few weeks they will be installed in all the school buildings of the town.

No Action Taken.

At the regular September meeting of the Gaston County Medical Society at the city hall Wednesday afternoon the matter of the charges made against the North Carolina Medical College by the Forsyth County Medical Society, set forth in a circular letter recently sent to all the county societies in the State and reference to which has previously been made in these columns, was up for discussion. No action was taken further than that a committee was appointed to make an investigation and report back to the society with recommendations as to what action should be taken. As previously noted the Forsyth County Medical Society has petitioned the State board of medical examiners to refuse examination to holders of certificates from this institution. Their letter sent out last week created a sensation all over the State. The college is located at Charlotte.

Y. M. C. A. Meeting.

At a meeting of the Young Men's Christian Association held Wednesday night the new charter was received and accepted and ordered recorded. The following officers were elected: Dr. C. E. Adams, president; W. H. Jenkins, first vice-president; J. Q. Holland, second vice-president; J. K. Dixon, third vice-president; H. B. Moore, secretary; J. E. Page, treasurer. Committees on by-laws and on property were appointed, and the officers of the association were elected to constitute the board of directors.

Cabarrus county's first bale of 1910 cotton was sold at Concord Wednesday by Mr. A. B. Pounds and brought 13.50 cents. During the season ending September 1st, 7,500 bales were sold on the Concord market as against 9,500 the year previous.

Look these up and read them. They contain figures that will interest all our business people.

—A Gastonia gentleman advertised in Tuesday's Gazette that he had $800 to loan. It cost him 12 cents. Wednesday he had a number of seekers for the loan and placed the money satisfactorily. Another gentleman advertised some real estate for sale. The next day he had quite a number of inquiries. Scores of evidences are brought to our notice every week that advertising in The Gazette pays. We know it pays—and the cost is very little. Try it. We're not afraid of the test. We'll welcome it.

Sometime ago Mayor J. B. Lee, of Spartanburg, S. C., gained some notoriety by fining a man $16,600 for storing 166 pints of whiskey, did another stunt Wednesday when he imposed a fine of $600 upon a man for resisting arrest.

Ex-President Roosevelt spent Wednesday in Milwaukee but that city's Socialist mayor, Emil Seidel, roasted him in an interview and refused to have any part in entertaining him. The Milwaukee Press Club had the colonel in hand.

Mrs. Louis G. Utley died at her home Wednesday morning as the result of drinking carbolic acid Tuesday with suicidal intent. Her mind had become deranged by worry over the unfaithfulness of her husband who had deserted her for another woman.

Jim Tillman Critically Ill.

James H. Tillman, former Lieutenant Governor of South Carolina and the slayer of Mr. N. G. Gonzales, former editor of The Columbia State, was taken to Asheville Wednesday from Edgefield, S. C., in the hope that the mountain climate may prolong his life. He is suffering from tuberculosis and was carried on a stretcher to Asheville.
