DOES YOUR BABY SUFFER FROM SKIN DISEASE?

He would be a heartless father indeed, who did not ally baby's suffering as did Mr. E. M. Bogan of Enterprise, Miss. He says:

"My baby was troubled with breaking out, something like seven-year itch. We used all ordinary remedies, but nothing seemed to do any good until I tried HUNT'S CURE and in a few days all symptoms disappeared and now baby is enjoying the best of health." Price 50c per box.

Needn't Go West—Go Under the Surface for the Rich Soil.

Monroe Enquirer.

In years gone by they left this section for the West, seeking a richer soil and more fertile fields. Lift up your eyes and see the crops now ripening in the fields! Our people no longer go for hundreds of miles and cut off old associates and the ties of home, seeking richer soil, for the great lesson has been learned that not hundreds of miles away to the Westward, but from 12 to 16 inches under the surface of these once considered poor hills is a soil capable of yielding harvests rich as any that grows out of the ground.

WOMAN'S HAIR.

J. H. Kennedy & Co. Knows of a Preparation That Makes Hair Fascinating.

Parisian Sage is the ideal hair tonic and beautifier of the present time.

It is compounded on the most advanced scientific principles, and nothing on the market today can compare with it.

It accomplishes so much more than the ordinary tonics, and does it so quickly that users are astonished. Parisian Sage kills the dandruff germs and eradicates dandruff in two weeks, or money back.

Parisian Sage stops falling hair; itching of the scalp and splitting hairs, or money back.

Since its introduction into America it has become a prime favorite with women of refinement.

Parisian Sage gives a fascinating lustre to women's hair and makes it beautiful. It makes the hair grow luxuriantly; it is the daintiest and most refreshing hair dressing that science has produced, and has not a particle of grease or stickiness in it.

A large bottle of Parisian Sage costs but 50 cents at J. H. Kennedy & Co's. and druggists everywhere. The girl with the Auburn hair is on every package. 16-30.

A NOTABLE POEM.

Langdon Smith's "Evolution" has been very widely copied.

Langdon Smith, the war correspondent and writer, died several years ago at Brooklyn. No New York newspaper man was better known than Smith, who could describe, equally well, a battle or a baseball game. But the thing that he wrote that will live the longest—because it is worth while—is his poem "Evolution," which has been reprinted all over the country.

The poem follows:

When you were a Tadpole and I was a Fish, In the Paleozoic time, And side by side on the ebbing tide We sprawled through the ooze and slime, Or skittered with a caudal flip Through the depths of the Cambrian fen. My heart was rife with the joy of life, For I loved you, even then.

Mindless we lived and mindless we loved, And mindless at last we died; And deep in the rift of the Caradoc drift We slumbered side by side. The world turned on in the lathe of time, The hot lands heaved again, Till we caught our breath from the womb of death, And crept into light again.

We were Amphibians, scaled and tailed, And drab as a dead man's hand; We coiled at ease 'neath the dripping trees, Or trilled through the mud and sand, Croaking and blind, with our three-clawed feet Writing a language dumb, With never a spark in the empty dark To hint at a life to come.

Yet happy we lived, and happy we loved, And happy we died once more; Our forms were rolled in the clinging mold Of a Neocomian shore. The eons came, and the eons fled, And the sleep that wrapped us fast Was riven away in a newer day, And the night of death was past.

Then light and swift through the jungle trees, We swung in our airy flights; Or breathed in the balms of the fronded palms; In the hush of the moonless nights, And oh! what beautiful years were these, When our hearts clung each to each; When life was filled and our senses thrilled In the first faint dawn of speech.

Thus life by life, and love by love, We passed through the cycles strange, And breath by breath, and death by death, We followed the chain of change, Till there came a time in the law of life When over the nursing sod The shadows broke, and the soul awoke In a strange, dim dream of God.

I was thewed like an Auroch bull, And tusked like the great Cave Bear; And you, my sweet, from head to feet, Were gowned in your glorious hair, Deep in the gloom of a fireless cave, When the night fell o'er the plain And the moon hung red o'er the river bed, We mumbled the bones of the slain.

I flaked a flint to a cutting edge, And shaped it with brutish craft; I broke a shaft from the woodland dank, And fitted it, head and haft, Then I hid me close to the reedy tarn, Where the Mammoth came to drink; Through brawn and bone I drave the stone, And slew him upon the brink.

Loud I howled through the moonlit wastes; Loud answered our kith and kin; From west and east to the crimson feast The clan came trooping in, O'er joint and gristle and padded hoof We fought and clawed and tore, And cheek by jowl, with many a growl, We talked the marvel o'er.

I carved that night on a reindeer bone With rude and hairy hand, I pictured his fall on the cavern wall

That men might understand, For we lived by blood and the right of might Ere human laws were drawn, And the Age of Sin did not begin Till our brutal tasks were gone.

And that was a million years ago, In a time that no man knows; Yet here tonight in the mellow light We sit at Delmonico's, Your eyes are deep as the Devon springs, Your hair is as dark as jet; Your years are few, your life is new, Your soul untried, and yet—

Our trail is on the Kimmeridge clay, And the scrap of the Purbeck flags, We have left our bones in the Bag-shot stones; And deep in the Caraline crags; Our love is old, our lives are old, And death shall come again. Should it come today, what man may say We shall not live again?

God wrought our souls from the Tremadoc beds And furnished them wings to fly; He sowed our spawn in the world's dim dawn, And I know that it will not die, Though cities have sprung above the graves, Where the crooked-boned men made war, And the ox-wain creaks o'er the buried caves Where the mummied mammoths are.

Then, as we linger at luncheon here, O'er many a dainty dish, Let us drink anew to the time when you Were a Tadpole and I was a Fish.

Getting More Live Stock on Your Farm.

Progressive Farmer. The plant feeds on the soil, the animal feeds on the plant, and the fertility goes back to the soil. This is the Almighty's trinity—the plant, the animal, the soil—over and over again in unending cycles, if the earth is to be kept fruitful. Any sort of farming that tries to exist with only two of the three—the soil and the plant—flies in the face of Nature and of Providence and can only end in failure and poverty.

And true as this is for other sections, it is even truer for the South. The Western farmer, whose land is rich, may grow live stock if he chooses. It's a matter of choice with him. But the Southern farmer whose land is poor, must grow live stock if he is to prosper. It's a matter of necessity with him.

Doubtless you do not wish to go into general stock raising now, Mr. Average Farmer, but you ought to have more hogs than you are raising. There's a market for pork and bacon—and ham prices are out of sight—and more money in hogs than in cotton.

You ought to have more cattle, too. Our average farmers in the South don't keep even half as many milk cows as they should, to say nothing of market cattle. Milk and butter makes up about the cheapest as well as the most healthful of food products, and a farmer should be ashamed to be without an abundance of either.

Then, we ought to have more horses—more horses to work improved farm machinery, and more brood mares to raise high-priced colts. Our average farm worker in the South is using only one-fourth or one-fifth as much horse power as the average farm worker in the West.

So let's not try to deceive ourselves into thinking it is not practicable to get more stock on our farms. We shall fail about as badly as we do trying to deceive Nature with a soil-plant team instead of a soil-plant-animal team.

Few Southern farmers after full investigation will deny the advisability of getting more hogs, more cattle, and in most cases more horses, for their farms. Make up your mind then to begin adding these until you have a properly stocked plantation—and the best stock, too. Work away from scrubs just as rapidly but steadily as possible.

Cloninger Pardoned.

Governor Kitchin on Tuesday issued a conditional pardon to John Cloninger, who was convicted at the February term, 1908, of manslaughter and had served about three fourths of his two-year sentence on the roads. Among his reasons for granting the pardon the Governor states that all the jurors living in Gaston county who tried the case, with the exception of one, recommended the pardon, as well as the attorney who aided the solicitor in the prosecution. At the same time Governor Kitchin pardoned Fred Brown, of Iredell county, serving a five-year term on the roads for larceny.

SYSTEMIC CATARRH.

MR. C. A. LANDGRAVE.

Mr. C. A. Landgrave, Box 25, Coatsburg, Ohio, writes: "I had been a slight sufferer for a number of years, but paid little or no attention to it, until the spring of this year, when my sufferings became very severe.

"I had pain in the head, back, spine, liver, chest, and various parts of my body, besides indigestion that caused me much trouble and anxiety. I often thought when I retired at night I would not live through it. I tried medical aid, but to no purpose.

"Not knowing what was my main trouble I wrote to Dr. Hartman, after reading of his treatment, for advice, telling him of my various ailments, and he notified me at once that I had systemic catarrh.

"After using the first bottle of Peruna I felt relief, so I continued to use it until I had taken four bottles, when I felt entirely cured. I recommend it to all others, believing that they will experience the relief that I did."

Pe-ru-na as a Tonic.

Mr. William F. Hawkins, 12 West St., Westerly, R. I., writes:

"I wish to give my testimony in favor of Peruna as a tonic. I have used the same for catarrh, and can recommend it to all who are troubled in that way."

Hooper Nominated in Tennessee.

At the State convention of the Independent Democrats at Nashville Wednesday the expected happened when this wing of the Democratic party nominated for Governor, Capt. Ben W. Hooper, the nominee of the Republicans. As noted in Friday's paper Gov. M. R. Patterson, the nominee of the regular Democrats, withdrew last Saturday. This leaves only one candidate for Governor in the field. This action was the result of a coalition between the Independent Democrats, Statewide prohibitionists and Republicans, the other two factions having previously assisted the independents in putting through the anti-Patterson judicial ticket. This agreement had reference only to the Governorship. The last Republican Governor in Tennessee was Alvin L. Hawkins, in 1881-82.

Mr. D. J. Carpenter was Wednesday acquitted of a charge of complicity in the burning of the warehouses of the Newton Hosliery Mills, of which he was proprietor. The trial was held before a magistrate in Newton and was hotly contested. Carpenter was arrested on the evidence of a man named Rador who claimed that Carpenter had induced him to set fire to the buildings. Rador's assertions were not substantiated and his character was proven bad.

GOOD WAY TO USE HYOMEI FOR CATARRH.

Besides breathing through the inhaler a few times a day, many catarrh sufferers write that they find inhaling HYOMEI (pronounce it High-o-me) from a bowl of steaming water each night before retiring a great aid in curing stubborn cases. Try it; it's very simple; gives quick relief and makes you breathe easier.

Fill a bowl half full of boiling water pour into the water a teaspoonful of HYOMEI, cover head and bowl with a towel, and breathe through nose and mouth the pleasant, medicated, antiseptic and healing vapor that arises. This method relieves that stuffiness at once, and makes your head feel fine.

You can get a bottle of HYOMEI at druggists everywhere or at J. H. Kennedy & Co's. for only 50 cents. Ask for extra bottle HYOMEI Inhaler.

But bear in mind that a HYOMEI outfit which includes inhaler and bottle of HYOMEI costs $1.00.

But, as stated before, if you already own an inhaler, a bottle of HYOMEI costs but 50 cents. HYOMEI is guaranteed by J. H. Kennedy & Co. and druggists everywhere to cure catarrh, sore throat, coughs, colds, asthma and croup, or money back. Try it on that generous basis. 16-30.
