We are now receiving and marking new goods. The advance in prices so much talked of by the manufacturers and jobbers has no terrors for us, as we took time by the forelock and secured all our Clothing, Dress Goods, Dry Goods, Hosiery, Underwear, Shoes and in fact we left no stone unturned to fortify against any advance on any article of merchandise we handle. In addition to this we still have the cream of the Bankrupt Stock to offer you at way below cost of manufacture. This stock, as is generally known, consisted almost entirely of Fall and Winter goods; and you are entitled to your share of the saving in price if you will but come and get it. There is, we assure you, no such thing as matching prices on this stock.

Farmers' Union Deals With Public Questions.

Passing strong resolutions condemning speculation in cotton futures, asking for legislation reducing the tariff to a revenue basis only, opposing postal savings banks, the acceptance of gifts and emoluments from corporations by public officials, favoring physical valuation of railroads, telegraph and telephone companies and better education for country children, characterized the closing day of the National Farmers' Union, which ended its session in Charlotte Thursday. While the Union claims to stay clear of any politics within its organization, the members go home mindful of the resolutions on legislation and determined to know how candidates from their district stand on the issues on which they have announced themselves.

At the afternoon session Thursday a long telegram was sent to former Forester Gifford Pinchot at St. Paul, Minn., endorsing his work for the conservation of national forests and rendering him the thanks of 2,000,000 farmers for his efforts.

President C. S. Barrett, of Georgia, who was re-elected for the fifth time and the present secretary and treasurer, A. C. Davis, of Arkansas, was likewise honored, with R. Callicotte, of Colorado, who was elected vice-president.

The following compose the new board of directors, who will fix the time and place for the next meeting: W. A. Morris, Alabama; O. F. Dornblazer, Texas; H. L. Petty, Virginia; P. W. Cox, Washington; L. M. Rhodes, Tennessee.

—Mr. W. K. Wolfe, of Charlotte, is a Gastonia visitor today.

Doing the Ostrich Act.

Raleigh News and Observer.
The Gastonia Gazette says a hearing of McNinch's speech shows that "he is an extreme Standpatter," and adds:

"He does not even agree with President Taft that there should probably be a slight reduction in the present tariff in some of its schedules, but on the other hand advocates the highest rates the tariff will bear."

Everywhere else except in North Carolina the Republican leaders have heard the thunder and are advocating reducing the tariff. Here the Republicans, pretending to want light, are sticking their heads in the ground like so many ostriches.

PROMISES HAVE FAILED.

Republicans Soon Forget Their Promises and Obligations to the People —Something About Butlerism and Republicanism in General.

To the Editor of The Gazette.
If all the people would believe Mr. Marion Butler and The Caucasians (his organ) the Democrats would not be in it in this State. Everyone would be a Republican. But many only accept all of it as a slur on the intelligence of our good citizens. We are proud that a majority of the people of our mother State have sufficient intelligence that they lieving such falsity as set forth for lying such falsity as set forth for party interest, that have betrayed the people for many years through our National government.

Promises have been made until they have become as old sores. We are reminded of the same by the old scab being kicked off by repeated failures in promises made. We have lost confidence, boys, in the old shell; it will have to swallow that it has given us for meat. Many have become so disgusted with repeated failures to do the great things promised until the remedies can no longer be accepted.

Yet do they come with a brazen face, picturing great scare-heads of danger and corruption under a Democratic rule in the State, which has given the State the only good government it has ever had. Mr. Butler and the Caucasians would have the people believe that their party is the only source from which good government may be expected in this State. Why did they betray this confidence when they had a chance? Why do they not convince us of this fact where they are in full power? Why is our National government doing nothing for the betterment of the general public?

They ask further power to be given them, while the combined money powers, that they are ever ready to recognize in any assistance, are privately planning for a crash early in 1911. With all the truths that may be manifest, many will rally wildly to the support of their secret foes who will, as usual, turn on their simple supporters in scorn and contempt, after the victory is won—if they win.

This is in evidence for the past fourteen years. Is it not reasonable that it should continue so? They will promise you a morsel of false stuff for support, and if they win they will want eight dollars out of your nine dollars earnings. Is it good for them?

They want to make it very impressive to the people that the farmers owe their success to the Republican party, that it has done it all—without them nothing has been accomplished of any value. I would ask, really, what has the Republican party done, either State or National, for the prosperity of the farmers or any other laborers? The farmers of the South organized and, with the assistance of some of the Southern bankers, have made success possible in creating a demand and controlling the price of cotton, which is their great money crop. Who would be so ignorant or silly as to believe the Republicans had anything to do with it. But it is a fact to be clearly seen that the high price of cotton has indirectly been an injury to the cotton mill working class through the present system of management. That is usually the result; as the success of one class or faction is injurious to another. We expect that the next good thing that happens will be by the demand of the people. There is no one man or party that can boast of being either the author or father of all the good things. The demands of the times will bring or produce that which is to its purpose in the fullness of all things.

We are not surprised that Mr. Butler came over to help Mr. McNinch up a little in the campaign as we have every reason to believe he needs some more able political ele-

WOODROW WILSON NAMED.

President of Princeton University Nominated for Governor by New Jersey Democrats on First Ballot.

The Democratic State convention of New Jersey, which met at Trenton, N. J., yesterday, nominated Dr. Woodrow Wilson, president of Princeton University, for Governor on the first ballot. He received 40 more votes than was necessary to nominate him.

The platform adopted by the convention was specific in its demands for reforms. It declared, among other things, that the Republican party, through the present tariff law, is largely responsible for the high cost of living and demands an intelligent revision downward. It also demands a Federal corrupt practices act and declares for the election of United States Senators by popular vote.

If elected, as he most likely will be, Dr. Wilson will resign as president of Princeton University.

A Ten Million Bale Crop.

Before the National Farmers Union meeting, held in Charlotte last week, adjourned the committee on short staple cotton reported that after a thorough canvass of conditions it was led to the conviction that the total crop this season would not exceed 10,000,000 bales on account of the spotted conditions reported at present. A report was submitted covering the conditions and prospects by States.

The report said: In North Carolina we find an increase in acreage over last year of about 2 per cent, but on account of the deterioration of the last three weeks which has been remarkable we place the condition at 65 per cent of the normal crop, or approximately 400,000.

phant to carry him through. It looks very much like he fears to approach Mr. E. Y. Webb on a challenge, perhaps he remembers the result of the campaign of 1908 with Mr. Webb and Smith.

OBITUARY.

DAVID RAMSEY.

David Ramsey, of Stanley, N. C., was born September 22, 1846; was married to Nancy A. Jenkins March 29, 1869.

He was for years a loyal devoted member of the M. E. Church, South, and as long as his physical strength permitted, his place was seldom vacant at Sunday school and church. He loved and honored his pastor and was a cheerful and liberal supporter of the institutions of his church.

He was called from labor to reward September 13, 1910, at the age of 63 years, 11 months and 21 days.

While the hand of affliction lay heavily upon him through a long protracted illness, yet, he never murmured nor complained, but with the courage of a true soldier of the cross, over which even death had no power, and with a simple, child-like faith and Christian fortitude, beautiful to behold, he battled against the ravages of disease, but finally fell, as becometh a valiant soldier of the cross with his face to the front; and we have every reason to believe that he has now passed out into that greater life and larger service to which the faithful are called in the Spirit Land.

He not only left behind him the testimony of an exemplary Christian life, for the instruction and consolation of his friends and relatives but months before his departure, he spoke to his pastor and others of his readiness and willingness to go and be at rest with God. He leaves a wife, two brothers and a host of friends to mourn their loss.

His funeral services were conducted from the Stanley M. E. Church, South, by his pastor, Rev. B. Wilson, and his body was laid to rest in Stanley cemetery September 14, 1910.

The esteem in which he was held by his church and community was attested by the large congregation which gathered to pay their respects to this man of God.
