A Letter to the Man About his Clothes

Dear Sir:
When sending your clothing to be pressed have you ever realized, and every clean minded man would shudder with disgust at the thought, that the cloth used to press his suit had just previously been used to press the suit of a man suffering from Disease, Filthy Habits, etc. The cloth in the interim being wetted and wrung out in a pail of probably dirtier water, especially so toward the end of the day's work.

To overcome this we have installed an up-to-date Sanitary Steam Pressing Machine, known as "THE HOFF-MAN". A garment that passes through this machine is disinfected; as no germs or microbes can exist under a temperature as high as the dry steam we inject; at the same time it removes any odor, takes away the grimy appearance, raises the nap, revives the colors and imparts to the garment that freshness desired by all dressers.

Now is the time to get out that last winter suit and overcoat and have us clean and press them—before cold weather arrives. Phone 2222 and we'll send for them. All work guaranteed.

If it's a new suit you want let us show you our new patterns and fabrics and take your measure to-day.

NOVEMBER.

Mr. Taft, who rules the nation, Offers this, his proclamation:

Whereas, Providence continues Blessing us from day to day, And the boon of independence Has, we take it, come to stay;

And whereas, Indulgent Nature Lavishes upon us still Bounty in excess of what the Weather and the bugs can kill;

And whereas, The old republic Couldn't be improved upon, Notwithstanding everybody Gets to run it off and on;

Therefore, I as delegated Now and for a short time hence President, decree that turkey Shall go up to 20 cents.

That's about all there is to it. Once the country raised its own, and the White House proclamation was not greeted with a groan. Father simply grabbed the hatchet, mother got the water hot, father read the proclamation to the turkeys in the lot, all the young and female turkeys promptly fainted from the shock, and after due farewells the gobble laid his head upon the block.

No one telephoned the butcher, asking what a turkey cost. No one in his deep resentment wished the Pilgrims had been lost. No one, while the feast proceeded, knew the torment of the rack figuring upon his napkin what the day had set him back.

Everybody was provided, as the founders pre-supposed. No one can be very thankful, if the truth should be disclosed, paying what we pay for turkey, and, for all of Heaven's gifts, feeling that the day was founded for the Armours and Swifts.

November gets its name from the Latin novem (nine), and was originally the ninth month of the year. This brought Thanksgiving around two months earlier than we have it now, and it became very unpopular. The insurgents, who constituted a majority in the agricultural districts, were bitterly opposed to it. They made two contentions: First, that young turkeys were not old enough to market; second, that crops had not progressed to the point where it was possible to make out whether there was anything to be thankful for or not. In 713 B. C. the storm broke. The insurgents carried Gaul, Britannia and 17 other doubtful States, and the Forum immediately assembled and made November the eleventh month of the year.

The festive colt will sniff the air and don his heavy underhair, and the frenzied candidate will jump and hop around upon the stump. He'll point with pride and view with fear, and suck and blow the atmosphere, and then, together with his cult, await with prayer the result.

Does reason haply hold its sway, or is it madness for a day will tell the people what to think and put the country on the blink? One cannot tell, but must abide the count that sees him justified in courage, confidence or doubt, according as it may turn out.

One thing alone is sure, it seems, and that is this: No one esteems a patriot in politics. We only trust him while he sticks to war, with all its thrill and throb. The moment that he wants a job somewhat conspicuous for pay, by Jove! we don't know what to say.

But whether we do ill or well, election day alone can tell, or whether love for us and fear did any good, will then appear. We have to judge men as we may, and where the candidates all say about the same thing in the end, one scarcely knows who is a friend.

At any rate, the snow will fly, and the wild duck spin across the sky with both eyes focused on the ground, and his tail-piece going round and round. The eager hunter will deploy and supplement the live decoy, and the pneumococcus, while he toots, will perforate his rubber boots.

A little shooting now and then is relished by a lot of men. They like to gallivant about and let the farmers run them out. It does them good to feel, by jing, that Morgan don't own everything, and if he came in consequence, and also tried to climb the fence, together with his dog and gun, he, too, would also get December desolate and gray, Will come to whistle through the cracks.

We wish to announce that we have just completed the erection of an up-to-date gin plant, consisting of three 80-saw gins, operated by electrical power. It is located near the Gray Manufacturing Co.'s mill at the intersection of the Pisgah and Kings Mountain roads and is well situated for the convenience of the farmers on these two roads. We have also erected a warehouse for handling seed and will keep a supply of cotton seed meal on hand for exchange purposes. This plant, together with the one situated at our mill, gives us a total ginning capacity of 75 bales of cotton per day, consequently we can assure our customers of the promptest and most efficient service.

November will be unusual this year for the reason that there will be no full moon. This is because there will be a total eclipse of the moon on the night of the 16th, when it would otherwise be full. This eclipse will be visible in the United States and in Wall street, and it will send bacon down a couple of points.

The breath of Winter will distill upon the outer window sill, and the chilling calf will hump his back and burrow deeper in the stack. The hired man, with wintry spurts, will put on both his undershirts, and the plutocrats who sell us coals will pry our bodies from our souls.

Then let us all embrace the chance and be as merry as we may, for whether we desist or dance, the fiddler is for all to pay. The gentle autumn-time will pass, the countryman will kill his hogs, the cotton-tall will weave the grass around the obfuscated dogs, the honging goose will ride the heights with that weird holloping of his, and the wolf will sit around o' nights and tell the moon how thin he is.

O woe is us that could enjoy the autumn-time for aye and aye, and what with growing soul employ its witchery from day to day. The phosphorescence in the sky, the quail soft-piping on the hill, the blackbirds ever bobbing by, and the wind soft-sighing where it will.

But happiness can never last, as Antony could apprehend, and holding Cleo to him fast, destroyed himself before the end. The summer cometh after spring, and winter, merciless withal, as truly must succeed the sweet and gentle blandishments of fall.

At any rate, upon a day, Discipled in the almanacs,
