TELEPHONE Subscribers MUST

Call for Numbers and NOT Names

To avoid confusion and that we may be enabled to give our subscribers more satisfactory service the following regulation has been made to go into effect on and after Wednesday, December 7th, 1910, and will be rigidly enforced: Subscribers, when asking for a connection must call by number and not by name. The operators have instructions not to make connections unless the caller gives a number. Every telephone subscriber has a phone list or can obtain one by notifying the chief operator who will send or mail one promptly. The only deviation from the above rule will be in the case of subscribers who have taken phone service since the last directory was published and whose names do not appear in the directory. When calling for such person state to the operator who answers you that the name does not appear in the directory and she will give you the connection.

This notice is given by reason of the fact that all operators (often new operators) do not know the numbers any better than subscribers and the operator has not time to look it up. Again, owing to the similarity of names of families and business houses there are useless errors made when connections are given on name-calls instead of number calls

A new and up-to-date directory will be issued January 1st, 1911. Remember: Do not call by name but by number.
