BESSEMER BRIEFS.

(Crowded out of last issue.)
Correspondence of The Gazette.
BESSEMER CITY, July 24.—Albertus Burgin, who was killed here Sunday night by No. 30, which struck him while he slept on the track, had a sister who was drowned in the memorable flood at Clifton, S. C., a few years ago. The last that anyone ever saw of her she was on the roof of a house floating down the river singing.

The exceedingly small baby of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Barrett, concerning which mention was made in this correspondence last week, died Saturday and was buried yesterday.

The Children's Day exercises at Concord church next Sunday will be followed by revival services to be held throughout the week. Pastor Armstrong will be assisted by Rev. R. R. Caldwell, pastor of the A. R. P. church of Bessemer City.

Misses Beattie and Veva McGill, of Columbia, S. C., are visiting their aunt, Mrs. M. Wolfe. Miss Annie Kennedy will spend the week with Miss Lura Falls near Tate's Chapel church and will assist in the music. Mrs. Barbara Kiser and Mrs. W. C. Kiser are spending a week with Mr. and Mrs. Luther Kiser in Spencer. Mrs. M. M. Wells, of Greensboro, S. C., and Mrs. J. W. Whitesides, of Augusta, Ga., are visiting Mrs. R. R. Caldwell. Misses Fannie Thornburg and Kate Wiley are spending this week in Mooresville, the guests of Miss Tula Moore. Mr. and Mrs. Moses Stroup, of route one, spent Saturday and yesterday at Kings Mountain visiting friends. Mr. Sam B. Hovis, of route one, will leave within a few weeks for Trinity College, Durham, where he expects to spend the year in school. Mr. J. R. Linker and daughter, Miss Bertha, of Concord, have been visiting Mrs. J. E. Hornbuckle since last Thursday. They left for their home this afternoon.

The Man at the Auto Wheel.

Richmond Times-Dispatch.
Six fatal automobile accidents of the ten days may be traced to the neglect of the driver in each instance to fix his attention on the steering wheel.

In New Jersey the other day the driver of a speedy car turned loose the wheel to brush some cigarette ashes from his coat. In the next instant, the car smashed into a tree and the three passengers were thrown out and seriously hurt. A man speeding along the highway from Buffalo turned his head to ask his wife if she needed a wrap, and the car was ditched. Both man and wife were killed.

Here are two accidents out of many that can be connected directly with carelessness in steering. The man who cannot fix his attention on the wheel and the road ought never to drive a car. The man who neglects even for a moment the wheel of a fast-moving car is an idiotic criminal.

Southern Railway Aiding Southern Farmers by Experiments in Lime Fertilization.

Special to The Gazette.

TUSCALOOSA, ALA., July 25th.—In order to give practical information to farmers of the South as to the benefits to be secured by the use of lime both for increasing yields and for improving the soil, the Southern Railway and the Alabama Great Southern Railroad, through their Cotton Culture Department, are making experiments along their lines in Alabama with corn, cotton, peanuts and other farm products. The lime used analyzed 70 per cent and was secured from Marengo, Greene and Sumter counties where millions of tons lies along the Warrior and Tombigbee rivers. The lime was applied in the spring and has resulted in the promise of increased yields, though it is too early to know what the increase or the benefit to the soil will be.

Lime has been used for improving the soil for many centuries and authorities agree that a great part of the land under cultivation in the Southeast is deficient in this respect, resulting in an excess of acidity when vegetable matter decays. The use of lime preserves the vegetable matter in the condition most suitable for the support of plant life. It is not intended that lime should be used as a substitute for manure or commercial fertilizer but that by its use a much greater percentage of the plant food in the manure or fertilizer may be retained in the soil.

As soon as possible the results of the experiments being made by the Southern Railway and the Alabama Great Southern will be given to the farmers of the South.

IN SOCIETY.

FOR HER GUESTS.

Mrs. Frank Phillips entertained at her lovely country home, near Lowell, Wednesday evening in honor of Misses Maude and Margaret Norris, of St. Louis. A large number were present to meet Mrs. Phillip's guests.

MRS. JOHN F. LOVE, ENTERTAINS.

At her home on Oakland street Wednesday afternoon Mrs. John F. Love was hostess to the S. and O. Club. In addition to the club members there were a number of invited guests. Progressive trail was played, the score cards being hand-painted with a watermelon design. Each time a player scored a watermelon seed was tied to the score card. Refreshments were served in two courses, a salad and a watermelon course.

MR. AND MRS. HEMPHILL HERE ON A VISIT.

Mr. J. L. Hemphill and bride, nee Miss Blanche Bowers, of Moreland, Ga., are the guests for a few days of the family of Rev. Dr. J. C. Galloway on South York street. Mr. Hemphill is a nephew of Mrs. Galloway. They were married Wednesday in the Associate Reformed Presbyterian church at White Oak, Ga., near Moreland. Next week they will continue their honeymoon. Journey to Lexington, Va., and other points in Virginia after which they will return to Moreland to reside. The bride was a class-mate of Miss Margaret Whitesides, of Gastonia, at the Woman's College at Due West, where she was a popular and much admired student.

RECEPTION AT MRS. M. H. SHUFORDS.

Yesterday afternoon between the hours of five and seven more than two hundred persons called at the home of Mrs. M. H. Shuford in response to invitations which had been previously issued in honor of Mrs. J. L. Rhodes and Mrs. C. W. Hopkins, of New Orleans, La.

In the reception hall, receiving with Mrs. M. H. Shuford were Mesdames Louisa Wilson, E. C. Wilson, J. K. Dixon, J. E. Page and G. A. Gray. In the parlor with Miss Lowry Shuford were Mesdames Hopkins and Rhodes, R. A. Love, F. D. Barkley, W. H. Faulkner, of Birmingham, Ala., Miss Sarah Tate and Miss Grace Brown, of Concord. Receiving at the front door were Mesdames R. M. Reid and G. W. Wilson, assisted in the hall by Mrs. B. H. Parker and Misses Mamie Cabanis and Ida Pursley. In the sitting room sandwiches were served by Mesdames D. E. McConnell and O. F. Mason, assisted by Misses Ruth Boyce and Eleanor Reid. In the dining room punch was served by Miss Laura Page, assisted by Misses Alina and Louisa Reid.

The house was beautiful in its decorations of sunflowers in the hall, roses in the parlor and sitting room and grapes in the dining room. Music was furnished throughout the evening.

LITTLE MARY KATE POOLE CELEBRATES BIRTHDAY.

At the home of her aunt, Mrs. W. T. Storey, No. 1018 East Airline avenue, yesterday afternoon little Miss Mary Kate Poole, the beautiful and attractive little daughter of Mr. W. H. Poole, proved herself a charming little hostess to a number of her young friends, the occasion being to celebrate her fourth birthday. After the children had played a number of games, delicious refreshments consisting of ice cream and little pink iced cakes were served out in the yard. The little guests were then shown into the pretty dining room where a picture of beauty awaited them. The table color was pink, a large bowl of pink roses forming the centre piece. The birthday cake, pink and white, was iced with a delicate pink icing and held four pink candles. Mary Kate, after lighting the candles and letting them burn until they fully told her age, was given a knife and allowed to cut the cake, which was enjoyed together with rosette wafers, grapes and bananas. After a few more games the children heartily thanked Mrs. Storey for the delightful time they had spent and wished the honoree, to whom each one had brought some nice and appreciative remembrance, many more happy birthdays. The fortunate little guests at the party were little Misses Mollie Parker, Geraldine Barnwell, Janette Mellon, Mildred Dewese, Allene Storey, Sadie Austin, Mary Austin, Mary Neal Wilkins, Alexandra Link, Alice McCord Poole, Mary Kate Poole, Master Clyde Storey and Master Henry Poole.

—Misses Emma Sullender and Emma McElhane returned yesterday from Kings Mountain where they have been attending a house-party at Mrs. E. L. Campbell's.

TO MOVE INTO NEW BUILDING.

Handsome Home of Piedmont Telephone & Telegraph Company Ready for Occupancy—Edifice Modern in Every Respect—Some Details Gathered by a Gazette Reporter.

Wednesday afternoon in company with Mr. R. B. Babington, the genial manager, a Gazette man went through the handsome building soon to be occupied by the forces of the Piedmont Telephone & Telegraph Company. The structure, situated on South Marietta street is modern in every respect, from basement to attic. Including the basement it is a three-story building, built of brick and concrete, practically fire proof. Contrary to the general run of business offices it is set back from the sidewalk several feet, the intervening space to be plotted with grass.

In the basement are located the general supply rooms for the heavy stuff such as wire, ropes, tackling, etc. The furnace for the steam heat is in one corner of the basement. On every side imbedded in the brick wall are hooks and racks of every description for the hanging of wire, pipes, etc.

On the first floor are located the general offices and the private office of the general manager. The floors are hardwood oak throughout with finishings of weathered oak. The glass in the main doors and windows is French plate. On a marble slab to the left is engraved a list of the P. T. & T. Co. officials. In the main hall there will be two telephone booths for public use with convenient resting places for those who have to wait. On this floor are also located the storeroom for lighter and more movable commodities, such as telephones and telephone apparatus and the repair room of the general inspector. There are also individual lockers and shelves for the several linemen.

On the second floor are located the general operating rooms and private rest rooms for the operators. One of the most striking features of the whole building are the many conveniences that have been installed. On every floor there are lockers, shelves and closets for the storing of umbrellas, overcoats, overcoats and such. There are also private lockers fitted with mirrors and individual toilet sets. For the girls upstairs there are elegantly finished rest rooms with couches and divans and eight or ten individual lockers. On this floor are the long distance terminals and the immense generator which dispenses with the turning of a crank by hand. The switchboard which is to be installed on this floor is modern in every particular, costing all told, including all fixtures, $8,000. Electric fans and three huge 150-candle power arc lights are part of the equipment for this room. This room is finished in the softest shade of medium mahogany.

Mr. Babington expects to be completely settled in the new building by September 1st, the work of moving and installing the switchboard to begin about August 1. When everything is finally arranged and installed the officials will be housed in a building that would do credit to a town of three times the size of Gastonia. In fact the building itself has been constructed with that very aim in view, the need of the future. Ample facilities are left for the handling of more than double the number of subscribers now on the list.

The total outlay, including the lot, building and all other fixtures will approximate $20,000. The local firm of Messrs. H. F. Oakley & Co. had the contract for the job.

Presiding Elder Bain a Strong Preacher.

Newton News.

No stronger preacher has ever delivered a sermon in this town than Rev. E. L. Bain, presiding elder of the Statesville district of the Methodist Church, and when it is known that he is coming, he always has a large, interested and appreciative congregation. The Newton Methodists held him in high esteem. Of his sermon last Sunday night on "Cross-Bearing," one says: "The sermon was one of great spiritual power. The discourse was original and unique throughout. His description of Calvary and the incidents in connection with the crucifixion was the most beautiful and the most touching I have ever heard, and I have listened to the masters on that theme. The sermon was lengthy, but I saw no weariness in those about me. It occurred to me while I sat there that when a man's heart is yearning for the salvation of the souls of men and he comes bearing the cross of the Master, the mere length of the deliverance is a matter of no concern whatever to the hearer—time is forgot. My test of a speaker on any subject is his ability to make me forget where I am and all things else save him and what he is saying. Mr. Bain has that power. He is a great preacher."

The commissioners of Forsyth county have appropriated $1,000 to be expended in advertising that county. A booklet will be printed and distributed setting forth all the county's resources.

Carroll Gardner Pearse, a former North Carolinian living at Milwaukee, was last week elected president of the National Educational Association at San Francisco.

JUDGE CLARK AT STANLEY.

Great Crowd Hears Chief Justice—Does not Mention Senatorial Situation—Confederate Reunion a Success—Many Minor Attractions—People of Stanley to be Congratulated.

As was to be expected, the paramount feature of the big picnic at Stanley yesterday was the address by Chief Justice Walter Clark, of the Supreme Court of North Carolina. There were numbers of minor attractions in the way of parades, merry-go-rounds, moving pictures, etc., but the brilliant address of the Chief Justice overshadowed all else.

The people of Stanley, and especially the Messrs. Carpenter, are to be congratulated on the successful way in which events moved off. Not a hitch occurred in the whole proceeding from start to finish. The crowd, variously estimated at from three to five thousand, was handled with ease. Early in the day by train and private conveyance the throng began to gather. Many came by train from Charlotte, Mt. Holly, Lincolnton and Cherryville. Attracted thither by the gay crowd of celebrants was the usual array of fakirs, wheel of chance manipulators and confetti dispensers. Considering the size of the town the parade was a very creditable one. Headed by Mr. Carl Carpenter, the procession began about 10 o'clock. About 75 old soldiers from various parts of the county were in line. Practically every business enterprise in Stanley was represented in the floats that followed. Probably the most interesting one was a bevy of daintily-dressed girls, all in white, riding in a float bedecked with the national colors and labeled "Fairest Stanley." One of the most unique stunts seen was the "Mule-mobile, 1912 Model," an ingenious arrangement propelled in some manner by a mule, whether pushed or pulled, it is hard to say. In some kind of a frame to the rear of the buggy, from which the shafts had been removed, the occupants of the "mule-mobile" were leading him, nevertheless, he was furnishing all the motive power by which the buggy was propelled.

On the arrival of the train from Charlotte, the parade disbanded and the crowd made their way to the stand where Judge Clark was to speak. In a short introductory speech, Mr. John G. Carpenter introduced Major W. A. Graham, Commissioner of Agriculture of North Carolina, who spoke for a few minutes to the veterans in a personal way. He reviewed some of the events of the sixties and exhorted them to be as good farmers and business men as they were fighters. In his own happy way he then presented Chief Justice Walter Clark.

On account of his senatorial aspirations every word uttered was listened to with rapt attention in the hope that it might be of interest, politically speaking. But as Mr. Clark explained when he began speaking, he had come to talk to the old soldiers, being one of them himself. From the current press reports about Mr. Clark one would not look for a brilliant display of oratory such as would come from the mouth of Kitchin or Aycock. In spite of this prevailing impression and the fact that he spoke from manuscript, every one was delightfully surprised for the Chief Justice held his audience closely throughout his hour speech. This can be accounted for in several ways: First, he is no mean orator after all, being about as good as any that have been heard in these parts lately. His style of delivery and execution is easy and graceful. Then he was speaking on a subject that is dear to every Gaston countian—Gaston county's part in the Civil War. On the subject of the Civil War and things pertaining thereto, Judge Clark is an authority. He is the author of several exhaustive treatises concerning North Carolina and Carolinians. An interesting feature was the recital of a list of the different companies that went to the front from Gaston, together with the names of all the survivors as they were paroled at Appomattox. The speech represented much study and labor on the part of Mr. Clark. Another thing that was very much in Judge Clark's favor was the excellence of the composition of his speech. As has been noted, he is more famed for the writing of speeches than for the delivering of the written theme. The address of yesterday, although dealing with bare facts and figures, under Judge Clark's masterful way of handling, took on a living aspect and was extremely interesting in every detail. His perfect command of the finer points of the English language, his polished style of diction and the flawless quality of his rhetoric, all combined to make his address an oratorical gem. Some extracts from his speech follow:

"It has been 50 years—just half a century since North Carolina, resuming her sovereignty took her stand with her sister Southern States, beneath a new flag. More than four decades and a half have passed since, wreathed around with laurel and with cypress that banner passed into the eternal silence, where live forever the deathless dead."

North Carolina sent forth more than 125,000 stalwart sons to make her declaration good. More than one-third, 43,000, came not back again. Dead by the fire of battle,

Pushing Interurban Work Toward the River.
Special to The Gazette.
MT. HOLLY, July 27.—The steam shovel at work near here on the interurban has moved further on towards the South Fork River. The grading between the Catawba and the South Fork is completed with two exceptions. These places will be finished within 30 days. Several Mt. Holly citizens are taking in the Stanley picnic today. The dry weather continues here with no signs of abatement.

—Mr. S. A. Robinson returned last night from a two-weeks stay at Tate Springs, Tenn. He was greatly benefited by his stay there and is profuse in his praises of this health and pleasure resort.

—The Gastonia Alumnae Association of Greensboro Female College, which was organized some time ago, held a meeting this morning at the residence of Mrs. B. T. Morris at which there was a general discussion of matters of interest pertaining to the institution and the work of the association. Another meeting is called for Monday afternoon at 5:30 at the home of Mrs. D. A. Garrison and a full attendance of members is desired.
