THE GASTONIA GAZETTE.

FRIDAY, MAY 30, 1913.

FOR A GLORIOUS FOURTH. Says The Fayetteville Observer: "In a few more weeks the Fourth of July will be celebrated by the people of the United States. Why not have a celebration in Fayetteville this year, and have all the adincent towns and territory to come and celebrate with us?

"With the addition of the Aberdeen & Rockfish Railroad, Fayetteville has the facilities to bring immense crowds here in the morning, and take them home safely at night, if the merchants will unite in urging the different roads to run special trains. Of course, an attractive program must be arranged, in the way of baseball, day fire works, a Fourth of July oration, the new motor truck demonstrating, the nigger and the watermelon and the hose playing water, the moving picture shows open all day long, etc.

"To work the affair up and make it a big success, there is not any too much time, even if the movement is started at once. Set the ball to rolling, and let's celebrate and have our friends and neighbors to come and celebrate with us."

With the substitution of the word Gastonia for Fayetteville, Piedmont & Northern for Aberdeen and Rockfish and instead of the motor truck demonstration, a demonstration of a good local street car service by the P. & N., the above could be applied to our town. Of course we do not want such an elaborate celebration as was that of last year, 'nor do we want to spend quite as much money, but we do not think the day should pass unnoticed. People are beginning to expect a Fourth of July celebration from Gastonia just as they expect Charlotte to do up the Twentieth of May in fitting style.

Psalm-Singers at Yorkville Just Completed Handsome New Edifice -Rev. Dr. J. C. Galloway, Former Pastor, Preaches Sermon.

The A. R. P. congregation at Yorkville has just completed the erection of a handsome new church building, one of the prettiest in the State of South Carolina. Rev. Dr. J. C. Galloway, pastor of the First A. R. P. church of this city, and formerly pastor of the Yorkville church was one of the speakers present at the first service held in the church last Sunday. So memorable were the services that The Yorkville Enquirer gave over a column account from which The Gazette takes the following excerpts:

Last Sunday was a great day for the Associate Reformed Presbyte-rian congregation of Yorkville, for the Associate Reformed Presbyterians of the county and for church people of the town and community generally. It was the occasion of the formal opening of the recently completed Associate Reformed Presbyterian church for the worship of God, and the exercises of the day which included three separate services, were very much enjoyed, not only by the members of the local congregation but by all the hundreds of people who filled the spacious building in the morning, in the af-

The feature of the morning service was a sermon by Rev. Dr. .J C. Galloway, a former pastor of the church, but now of Gastonia, N. C. In the afternoon at 3:30 there was ary address was by Dr. C. D. Gilmer, a service conducted by the Associate Reformed pastors of York county, participated in by representatives of all the ten Associate Reformed congregations of the county, and at night there was a union serice conducted by the pastors of the local sister churches and participated in by all the local congregations and church going people generally, with less than a dozen exceptions, every family in the town being represented and there being also many people present from the surrounding country.

Rev. Dr. Galloway took his text from I Corinthians VI, 11-"And such were some of you: but ye were washed, but ye were sanctified; but ye were justified in the name of the Lord Jesus Christ, and in the Spirit of our God." Dr. Galloway's sermon was a clear, forcible exposition of the gospel, bearing solely on the proposition that no matter how wicked and abandoned the sinner may have been, that Jesus Christ is able and willing to the uttermost to save, if only trust is put in his love, mercy and forgiveness.

It is probably not out of place to remark that when the church building sentiment first began to crystarize but few members of the congregation contemplated an aggregate expenditure exceeding $10,000; but as matters stood at the wind-up, the new property acquired, including building and equipment, lot, parsonage, etc., represents an outlay of considerably more than twice that

The new church building is easily one of the handsomest in the Assoiate Reformed Presbyterian denomination, and if the wonderful liberality displayed by the little Yorkville congregation in this matter is to be taken as an indication of the activity and zeal it proposes to show in its further efforts, it is not unsafe to predict that the near future will find this denomination occupying a still larger place in the Christian development of the town and county than heretofore.

a great improvement would be made in the condition of horses and other animals if just the proper remedy were used when they became ill or injured. If your horse could talk he would ask you not to use any external remedy containing alcohol because it stings and tortures his flesh terribly. Some liniments have alcohol and other fiery ingredients which only inflame the skin and tissue without striking down to where the pain lies. Beware of such liniments, The great humane, quick-action remedy is MEXICAN MUSTANG LINIMENT.
