Solicitor Wilson Goes to Raleigh to Confer With Governor Craig With Reference to Approaching Term of Civil Court-Looks as if it Will be Impossible to Get a Judge to Preside-Judge Duls Continues Quite Ill.

With more than 200 cases on the civil docket, considerably more than could possibly be disposed of at one term of court, it appears at the to relatives and friends in Pennsylpresent as if the September term or Gaston County Superior Court for the trial of civil cases who have to be annulled. A letter from Gover nor Craig was received yesterday by a member of the local bar staiting that it would be impossible to secure the services of a judge to substitute for Judge Duls, who continues quite ill in a Philadel, hta hospital. Following the receipt of this letter Solicitor George W. Wilson left yesterday afternoon for Raieigh to take the matter up with the Governor and, if possible, make some arrangements by which the September term of court may be held.

Clerk of the Court Cornwell states that there are about 200 cases on the regular civil docset, t-esides which there are 25 cases or more on the summons do kei. When from Shelby, where they have been it is remembered that no resultar civil term of court is schedule; for tives, this county until January it is evident that the docket stands in Ganger of becoming very barry concested before an opportunity is edered whereby any of the pending cases can be removed from It. A oneweek criminal term will be held an October but that will in no way remedy the situation with relevance to the civil calendar.

Considerable criticism is heard from the lawyers and others of the State machinery which does not provide some means of escape from a condition of this kind. It is stated that, in some other States, the Governor has the power to designate some capable lawyer to preside over a court as temporary judge when the exigences of the occasion demand it. In discussing the present situation in Gaston this morning a well-posted court official said that some such provision as this should be made by the General Assembly of

Many Important Reforms Will Have Place in Ambitious Plan of Legislation Before the Next Congress-Anti-Trust Legislation to Come Up in New Session Which Begins in December.

An Associated Press dispatch from Washington under date of the 7th says

The program of anti-trust, rallroad and currency legislation that faces Congress for the ensuing 12 months has become fairly well outlined during the last week. President Wilson and the Democratic leaders in the two houses of Congress apparently have agreed upon work, which will bring all of the by the Wilson administration within the period that ensues between now and the end of the next regular session of Congress. The tariff bill will be out of the Senate and in the hands of a conference committee of the House and Senate before the end of this week. Currency legislation already has forged to the front and promises to congressional activity dominate within a few days. The prospects for immediate currency legislation the Senate have not improved during the last week, but supporters of the administration bill hold to the hope that by the time the measure has passed the house the Senare committee on banking and currency will be ready to act upon It.

In the meantime Senate leaders are announcing that anti-trust legislation and further important amendments to the railroad laws are to be among the first and most Important subjects taken up at the regular session of Congress next December. Twice within the last week Senator Simmons, in charge of the tariff blu in the Senate, has headed off attempts to put trust or railroad rate amendments on the bill, by the annonneement that these subjects would receive prompt and effective consideration.

President Wilson's ideas of antitrust legislation have been well known since his effective work in New Jersey during the closing days that State. He has a general outline of what he desires in the way of trust control legislation, most or nance, T. C. Quickel; statistics, H. en laws enacted in New Jersey IIIs plan will undoubtdly undergo elaboration in Congress, and the influence of Republicans as well as Democrats who have long been active in the fight for more adequate regulation of the trusts will be felt in the making of these reforms.

Senator Cummins failed in his attempt to have the tariff bill changed so that railroads would be forbidden to give special rates to Importers. This will be pressed at the next session, as part of a railroad rate law program. Senator Simmons announced yesterday that he believed important changes would be made in the railroad laws at the next Congress, to relieve many of the embarrassments, under which the Interstate Commerce Commission is now working.

The currency hearings begun early last week before the Senate committee on banking and currency. have developed radical expressions of opinion from many members of the Senate committee, which indicate that long debates and discussions with the committee will be necessary before any general agreement can be reached as to the merits of the administration bill. That measure is to come formally before the house tomprrow, and it is believed that with the weight of party indorsement behind it, it will be passed practically without change in that body.

While little marked antagonism has developed at the Senate hearings, among the Democratic members, toward vital features of the administration bill, the individual expressions of committee members have shown a wide variety of opinions as to the economic strength of certain features of the measure. Senators Hitchcock, @Gorman, Shafroth and Reed, Democrats, were particularly active in their questions addressed to the representatives of the American Bankers' Association who held the stand last week, and have advanced many tentative suggestions as to their own views of necessary currency legislation.

Rankin building.

During the year ended September 1st 5,145 bales of cotton were weighed ato the local cotton platform, this being the largest number for several years and perhaps, the largest for any year since the establishment of a market here, says Col. R. N. Wilson, the city weighmaster. It is probable that a few bales have been sold in the city which have not as yet been reported to the official weigher, which would bring this total up just a little. Gaston county raises on an average probably 12, 000 to 14,000 bales and the fact that less than half of the crop is sold in Gastonia is accounted for by reason of the existence of quite a number of towns in the county where cotton is bought, namely Beimont, Lowell, McAdenville, Dallas, Bessemer City, Kings Mountain and Cherryville. During the past season a good many bales of long staple cotton were shipped to Gastonia from the eastern part of the State and were weighed and sold on the local market. Colonel Wilson has a new cotton platform and is cocked and primed for a big fall business. He doesn't care how fast the bales ome or in what quantities.
