"Presidency" Book

NOW READY SETTLES ELECTION ARGUMENTS INSTANTLY Contains Facts, Figures, Dates and Data About All Past and Present Elections

If you want to know how the political "machine" works; if you want to know the "strength" of each State; if you want to know how your State and other States have voted during the past twenty-five or thirty years—in other words, if you want to know a hundred and one different things about politics that the "other fellow" doesn't know, you have only to secure a copy of "The Presidency of the United States" and all of this desirable information will be yours.

This little book has been compiled by experts at great expense, and the information it contains is absolutely reliable and strictly non-partisan. It is not only intensely interesting but has a distinct educational value that makes it desirable for school children as well as for grown-ups.

"The Presidency of the United States" will be used by thousands of people this year as a quick and ready reference for information on all past and present elections, and as "final authority" for settling all election arguments and disputes. The ability to answer correctly the questions this book contains indicates a more intimate knowledge of past history and current events than is possessed by the average citizen. Many a surprise is in store for anyone who thinks to do so without "brushing up".

We were fortunate in securing a supply of these books for immediate delivery. If you want one you can secure a copy at The Gazette office for 10 cents, postage free. Stamps or silver.

"Be sure you are right—then go ahead," was the favorite saying of old David Crockett. Those who believe in this motto will find in "The Presidency of the United States" an abundant supply of historical facts and non-partisan information upon which to base their statements and arguments during the 1916 presidential campaign.

Secure your copy at this office right away before the supply is exhausted.

UNIVERSITY NEWS.

Correspondence of The Gazette. CHAPEL HILL, Oct. 2. — Recognizing the value of athletic sports for college students, the University authorities are trying in every way this year to develop a sane and wholesome interest in outdoor games and exercises. The general participation of all students in athletics is urged—each man after his own capacity and interest, under the best direction and with adequate facilities. Although there will be as much interest as ever in the various teams representing the University in contests with other colleges, special emphasis will be laid on athletic contests for the great mass of the students, the majority of whom can never make a team; many, moreover, who are not physically equipped for strenuous competition. It is recognized, however, that these men can be greatly benefited by games out of doors, and special provisions are made for them, accordingly.

A middle group of men—the average athletes—will be given opportunity for a somewhat more strenuous training, with work that requires some endurance and skill. Men in this group will contest on the various class teams in football, basketball, tennis and baseball, and will receive suitable training under special coaches. They will figure entirely in intra-mural contests. For the first class athlete, who has attained excellence by virtue of his ability and training, still another type of training will be provided, even more strenuous than the second, and under the direction of highly skilled coaches. Attention will not be given to these men, however, to the neglect of the other two classes.

The University has, for the first time, put into operation what is known as the one year rule. Briefly stated, it means that no man can represent the University in intercollegiate contests during his first year here. This preliminary year gives time for getting acquainted with the purposes and spirit of the University, and keeps the student's mind from being distracted from work before he can find himself and settle down to study. It also makes it impossible for a student to come to the University primarily in order to make an athletic team.

MAKE MONEY AT HOME

Children Reap Good Profits From Back-Yard Gardens.

Many Cities Throughout the Country Are Now Adopting the Plan Proposed by Uncle Sam.

Uncle Sam is obtaining good results in the movement for the establishment of home gardens under direction of the public schools so that there may be created productive occupation for school children, especially those in manufacturing towns and mill villages. By creating such productive occupation outside of school hours children are enabled to make about as much money from their home gardens as if they were employed in factories.

This plan of home gardening directed by the school has been adopted by about one hundred cities. Fifty thousand children are cultivating back-yard gardens under school supervision in these cities, some of the children making as high as $150 from their gardens for one season. The city of Chattanooga, Tenn., which has adopted the government plan, now has 11 garden teachers in charge of this work.

"Garden surveys," to determine the adaptability of conditions for home garden work, have been made by the United States bureau of education in San Francisco, Cal., Richmond, Ind., Nashville, Tenn., and several other cities. The survey of Richmond showed that even in a city of this size 85 per cent of the children were without employment during the summer, but that they had sufficient garden space available to produce at least $85,000 worth of vegetables every season.

The bureau's plan provides for a teacher, trained and skilled in gardening, for each elementary city school with its two or three hundred children; for an intensive system of gardening, and for the application of business methods, intelligent direction and close supervision.

FIRST-AID MEASURES TO PREVENT IVY POISONING

Uncle Sam Finds Time to Issue Warning Against Danger That May Be Encountered in the Woods.

Uncle Sam, among all his other activities, has found time to make a little study of the poison ivy and to issue some first-aid instructions for the benefit of those who may come in contact with the plant while wandering through the woods. He urges those who do not know what poison ivy looks like to become familiar with its appearance and then keep as far away from it as possible. The leaves of the plant are irregular, oval pointed and course toothed. They are always in groups of three. The plant, which sometimes takes the form of a low shrub, sometimes a graceful vine and again sends out horizontal branches like a tree, has clusters of small greenish white berries.

The poison is contained in an oil secreted by the plant and which does not penetrate the skin rapidly. If one thinks he has been exposed he should wash the exposed parts with salt water or hot water and soap, and afterwards bathe thoroughly with alcohol or kerosene. If no soap is at hand, the hands may be given a good scrubbing with sand or mud in the first stream encountered. This may wash off the oil before it has had time to get through the natural protective coating of the skin.

If poisoning develops, the following formula is recommended by Uncle Sam as a remedy:

- Carbolic acid.....2 grams
- Resorcin.....2 grams
- Bismuth subgallate.....4 grams
- Equal parts water and lime-water to make.....250 c. c.

This solution may be dabbed on the affected parts several times a day.

Scraps Yield Big Sum.

The value of the copper, lead, zinc, tin, aluminum and antimony recovered in the United States from scrap metals, skimmings and drosses in 1915, was $114,304,930, against $57,039,708 in 1914, a 100 per cent increase, according to statistics prepared by the United States geological survey.

Buy Waterworks Plant in U. S.

Consul General Frederic W. Goding reports to Uncle Sam from Guayaquil, Ecuador, that the first order for machinery for the city waterworks of Cuenca, Ecuador, has been secured by a New York firm for 32,000 sucres, which at the present rate of exchange equals $18,500.
