Rev. W. G. Moore, Pastor Mt. Holly Baptist Church, Weds Miss May Rice at Farmville, Va.—Bride Formerly Taught at Mount Holly and Gastonia—A Business Change—New Store Buildings Occupied—Bunch of Live News Notes and Personals from Our Neighbor on the Catawba.

Correspondence of The Gazette.

MOUNT HOLLY, July 1.—Mrs. J. B. Henson and children, of Dailias, are spending the summer here with her mother, Mrs. Lentz.

A Red Cross auxiliary was organized several days ago at Lucia with a membership of 14. The following officers were elected: J. A. McIntosh, chairman; Mrs. J. L. Connell, vice-chairman; George Black, secretary; Ada Connell, treasurer. Many new members have joined and the officers hope to enroll every man and woman in the Lucia community.

Mr. Hoover will retire from business on account of ill health. He was paralyzed on his left side a little over a year ago, since which time he has not been able to give his business the proper attention.

Mr. R. G. Rhyne will open an up-to-date garage and blacksmith shop within the next few days.

Mr. Hall Clemmer left last week for Philadelphia where he will join the Marine Corps.

Dr. R. E. Rhyne has displaced his Ford with a Reo.

Miss Lenna Newton, of Shelby, has just returned home after having spent several days with her friend, Miss Roxanna Cannon.

Mrs. L. B. Covington and daughter, Helen, are spending several days with Mrs. J. L. Cannon.

The new brick building near the postoffice will soon be ready for occupancy. In this block will be the Mount Holly Garage, which has been enlarged to double its original size. With the improvements now being made Manager R. L. Jenkins can better accommodate his fast growing trade. Adjoining the garage will be a moving picture theater, a barber shop and a pressing club. Mr. R. E. Craig and Dr. T. M. McCoy are the owners of this building, which is a valuable addition to the town.

Mr. W. L. Noles, after having spent ten days at Blowing Rock, has returned home much improved and is at his post again.

Rev. W. G. Moore, accompanied by his brother, Dr. B. D. Moore, left last week for Farmville, Va., where he was married last Thursday to Miss May Rice, a former member of the graded school faculty here.

A quiet but pretty wedding was celebrated at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Venable Rice, at Farmville, Va., last Thursday morning at half after eight o'clock when their daughter, Miss May Webster, became the bride of Rev. William Grayson Moore, of Mount Holly. The ceremony was performed in front of an improvised altar of palms, ferns and daisies, Rev. Crosby M. Robertson, pastor of the Baptist church, being the celebrant.

Lohengrin's bridal chorus was rendered by Mrs. Brazeal Hobson and "Believe Me If All Those Endearing Young Charms" was played softly during the ceremony. Little Miss Dorothy Cawthon, wearing white embroidered batiste, carried the ring in a rose. Miss Nannie Rice, a sister of the bride, was maid of honor and Dr. B. D. Moore was best man. The bride, attired in a dark blue suit with accessories to match and wearing a corsage bouquet of Bride's roses and lilies of the valley, entered the parlor with her maid of honor and was met at the altar by the groom and his best man.

Mr. and Mrs. Moore left immediately after the ceremony for a Southern trip. After July 5th they will be at home at Mount Holly.

The bride formerly taught in the graded schools at Gastonia and later in the graded schools here. She has a host of friends in both towns who will be interested in the news of her marriage.

In a preliminary hearing before Magistrate G. B. Stowe this morning they were held for appearance at the next term of criminal court. Feints and Faints.

An Irish recruit was being drilled in the mysteries of sword-play.

"Now," cried the instructor, after carefully explaining various rules of fencing, "what would you do if your opponent feinted?"

"Begorra, sir," answered the Irishman, winking knowingly, "I'd jest prod him wid the point o' me sword to see if he was shammin'."—Jack o' Lantern.

The Orbit of the Year.

(Selected.) Born on an altar of fire celebration, heralded by bells and canon, the year swinks out on its orbit, like a comet flung into space by the father of time. Occasionally, as it wheels through space, the year hits a high curve on its orbit and emits a flash of light—a holiday.

As its life nears an end, the year breaks, with epicurean abandon, into steep curves and arches of excitement. Grown old in a twelve-month of high and fast living, the year expires in a final splash of joy.

The Sky Pilot.

Owing to fog, a steamer stopped at the mouth of a river. An old lady became very nervous and inquired of the captain the cause of the delay.

"Can't see up the river," replied the officer.

"But, captain, I can see the stars overhead," she argued.

"Yes," said he grimly, "but until the boilers bust we ain't a-going that way."—Denver News.

In warm weather wear light weight and light colored clothing. Discard heavy dark garments. Don't hurry start a little sooner. Be moderate in everything.

Probably, the first and fundamental rule for healthful living in summer is to keep clean, inside and out. A bath every day is just about as essential as breakfast or any other meal.

The average person should drink more water in the summer than in the colder months of the year, to supplement nature's efforts to wash the body through the pores. Drink cool, but not ice, water. The greatest danger from ice water is its excessive use. To persons who are overheated or who work in high temperatures, ice water may be dangerous. It may produce congestion, better known as cramps of the stomach.

LEMONS WHITEN AND BEAUTIFY THE SKIN

Make This Beauty Lotion Cheaply for Your Face, Neck, Arms and Hands.

At the cost of a small jar of ordinary cold cream one can prepare a full quart of the most wonderful lemon skin softener and complexion beautifier, by squeezing the juice of two fresh lemons into a bottle containing three ounces of orchard white. Care should be taken to strain the juice through a fine cloth so no lemon pulp gets in, then this lotion will keep fresh for months. Every woman knows that lemon juice is used to bleach and remove such blemishes as freckles, sallowness and tan and is the ideal skin softener, whiten and beautifier.

Just try it! Get three ounces of orchard white at any drug store and two lemons from the grocer and make up a quart of this sweetly fragrant lemon lotion and massage it daily into the face, neck, arms and hands. It is marvelous to smoothen rough, red hands.

Who's Who Behind the Scenes in the War Army

By GEORGE GARVIN, Staff Correspondent International News Service

BRIGADIER-GENERAL JOHN BIDDLE.

Engineer Officer. Born in Michigan, February 2, 1859, and appointed to the Military Academy from that State in 1877. In 1881 he was commissioned a second Lieutenant of engineers. During the Spanish-American War, while a first Lieutenant in the regular establishment, he was commissioned Lieutenant-colonel of volunteers.

Washington, July 2.—General Biddle was the only engineer promoted to be a general officer in the recent number advanced to do service in the European war. He has been placed in command of the engineer forces now in France, who will prepare for the American forces to be dispatched to the front as rapidly as possible and will also aid in the rebuilding of devastated French territory as fast as the German army is forced to retreat from it.

General Biddle is considered an excellent officer and for a number of years was president of the War College division of the General Staff Corps. He was recently superintendent of the Military Academy at West Point and was relieved from that detail and placed in command of the Sixth Regiment of Engineers just prior to his elevation to a brigadier-generalship.

COLONEL GEORGE B. DUNCAN, Active Detail.

Born in Kentucky, October 10, 1861, and appointed to the Military Academy from that State in 1882. In 1886 he was commissioned a second Lieutenant in the Ninth Infantry, and has served continuously in that arm of the service.

Washington, July 3.—Colonel Duncan was recently released from detail to the General Staff Corps to join one of the infantry regiments to be sent to the French front, and is now on the field at the head of a regiment of regulars.

Colonel Duncan is an exceedingly active officer and maintains a wonderful control of his men. He first distinguished himself in the Philippine Islands, where, after serving for two years in the field, he was in 1900 appointed chief of scouts, in which capacity he did creditable work.

WARNING AGAINST ALFALFA.

The following clipping has been sent us by one of our correspondents, says the Oklee, Minn., Herald.

"If you don't want lots of trouble, don't sow Alfalfa. Along the middle of June, when the corn needs cultivation the most, we had to stop and cut the darned Alfalfa. It was in bloom, three feet high. We had to haul twenty loads of hay off of it."

"In July the folks in town invited us to spend a week attending the Chautauqua. I suppose they were glad when they got my postcard announcing that we could not come, because we had to cut the darned Alfalfa patch again. 'Gee, but it was hot hauling in that hay!'"

"Worse still, I was fool enough to go to work and sow five more bushels of Alfalfa seed. The only rest I'll get hereafter from hauling Alfalfa will be on rainy days."

"It got to rain again in September, and about the first thing I knew that darned Alfalfa was three feet high and all in bloom; it had to have another hair cut."

"Then Barnum and Bailey's circus came to town, and darn my buttons if I didn't have to miss that circus for the first time in forty years. I got mad, and then turned the pigs, cows, and calves into it; and still the blamed stuff kept growing to beat the ears. They could not keep it down, they got fat on it."

"But still this Alfalfa bay that we sweat so cuttin' and stackin' makes mighty fine stuff for the cows these cold ground hog days. Everything on the place eats it but the hired girl, and she ain't been here long."

All kinds of excesses should be avoided in summer. It goes without saying that over-indulgence in alcoholic drinks should be shunned, summer and winter. This is not advised alone from the temperance viewpoint, but as well from that of the highest physical welfare.

War Time Prohibition.

Durham Herald.

War time prohibition has been expected by all who have made any study of the movement towards a dry nation, but it was not expected in the guise of an amendment to the food bill. Of course the dries take the position that it should come no matter in what shape it does come. The senate amendment, however, which was presented yesterday shifts the responsibility for the prohibition law to the president, instead of allowing congress to assume the burden as it should.

The amendment provides the means for a dry America, but leaves to the president the responsibility of putting that section of the law to work when he deems it wise as a means of conserving the food supply of the land. If the responsibility is to be shifted to anyone, it would be better to leave it to others than the president, who already has his hands full.

War or no war there were many good signs that national prohibition would have become more than a dream by 1920. The war apparently played into the hands of both sides of this controversy, but the dries will reap the quicker advantage. The dry forces argue that many of the other warring countries found it necessary to either cut down or absolutely prohibit the sale of whiskey during the period of the war. The whiskey interests points to the monumental loss of revenue which a dry America would entail.

There is this about the loss of revenue, however, which seems to give the financiers of the government so much trouble. If national prohibition laws will bring about as large a reduction in the sale of whiskey in the nation as State laws have brought in various States, the people of the United States would save enough money to make up the loss in revenue many times. With booze eliminated the average man will have more money left after paying the war tax than he ordinarily has when the drink shop is just around the corner. His personal efficiency would also be considerably increased, his span of life lengthened and his productivity greater. So the nation would be immensely richer without whiskey, and the people themselves who would be called upon to pay the additional tax, would also have more money left after making up the loss to Uncle Sam.

What we eat, what we drink, what we wear make us what we are, especially in hot weather.
