FRIDAY, JULY 13, 1917.

Charlotte is no doubt feeling cresty today, as she has a right to be. A military training camp with 30,000 men in it is not to be picked up just any day. How Fayetteville is feeling is another question.

The question of a sufficient water supply for 30,000 soldiers didn't worry Charlotte in the least. She knew that, if her supply should get low at anytime, all she has to do is to shoot a few trains of tank cars to Gastonia and get them filled promptly with the best Long Creek Lithia, as she did once upon a time. We still have an abundance of the best water in the State. If you need help, Charlotte, just have Brother Wade Harris to whistle.

One thing engaging the minds of the heads of business firms, and one that just now it is well for them to begin to consider, lest it will be too late for proper consideration, is how to fill the places of the young men who will be drafted into the new army. Some are planning to fill these vacancies with ladies and others with boys too young and with men who have passed the drafting age. Many firms have conceived of the plan of having the boys serve as apprentices now that they will be ready to fill in at any time.

THE SERIAL NUMBERS.

The Gazette is making preparations to carry in its next issue, Monday, the entire selective draft registration list for the county. This comprises the entire registration, a total of 3,833 names and the serial number of each registrant will be given, so that when the draft numbers are published, which will probably be one day next week, it will be easy to pick out the names of the young men drawn for service. The Gazette of Monday will be worthy of being permanently preserved for the sake of this feature.

WAS NOT MISREPRESENTED.

The Gazette regrets that there was one man in Cherryville who took exception to what the commanding officers of the National Guard organizations, at this place, had to say with reference to the number of men Cherryville township had furnished to their companies, and which appeared in this paper some time ago. The impression was expected to be left by the Cherryville correspondence of The Charlotte Observer that Cherryville township was being persecuted. Such, however, was not the case and any attempt to magnify that impression was certainly doing the county no good.

It is known that Cherryville has furnished men to the regular army, mention of which has been made heretofore. But the officers in this city were not speaking of Cherryville's volunteers to the regular army when they asked that more men should be sent to the home county companies. The records are perfectly clear to them as to the number of men who have enlisted in the Gaston county National Guard organizations from Cherryville township. There can be no argument on that score.

Instead of trying to stir up strife between the two towns over what was said by two men who are giving their lives to their country, and who only stated the truth, it would have been much better, it seems, had an effort been made to help these men enlist the young men who are going to be drafted within the next few days because they did not volunteer.

The Gazette believes that the majority of the people of Cherryville are in sympathy with the National Guard officers of their county organizations.

CLEVELAND BOASTS 45 DIFFERENT LANGUAGES.

(By International News Service.)
CLEVELAND, O., July 12. — Cleveland often has been referred to as the "melting pot" because of so many foreigners here. A tabulation of school census reports shows that forty-five languages are spoken in this city.

I. W. W.'S. HINDER INDUSTRIES.

(By International News Service.)
SPOKANE, WASH., July 12. — Governors Alexander, of Idaho, and Lister, of Washington, will confer over the I. W. W. menace. All railroads and passes into Washington are guarded to prevent agitators from entering the State. Industries in many parts of the Northwest are paralyzed, the workmen being terrorized by I. W. W. members.

AGREE ON PRICES FOR STEEL.

(By International News Service.)
WASHINGTON, July 12. — The controversy over the steel prices will not delay the government war plans. At a conference between steel magnates today they agreed to furnish the government all materials needed at the price to be fixed after the Federal Trade Commission has investigated the cost of production. In a statement issued after the conference Secretary of War Baker stated that the steel men were assured that they would be given a profit commensurate with the growing needs of their industry.

"SERVE-SELF" BARBER SHOP IN OPERATION.

(By International News Service.)
CLEVELAND, O., July 12. — The serve-self idea has spread to the barber shop and members of the Chamber of Commerce who have for years tolerated solicitous barbers, who would have you spend a dollar for shave extras, are happy. Ed Steverding, who is proprietor of the C of C barber shop, has installed a "serve-self" line. The patron doesn't have to wait for "Next." He just walks in, selects his own style of razor, face lotion, etc., and does the work himself. There isn't much difference in the price, but the patron gets it over with quicker and Steverding says most of them like it better.

Doing Good.

Few medicines have met with more favor or accomplished more good than Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy. John F. Jantzen, Delmeny, Sask., says of it, "I have used Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy myself and in my family, and can recommend it as being an exceptionally fine preparation."

The Americanism of Hoover.

New York World.
Senator Reed, of Missouri, who pretends to think that President Wilson is "outkaiserling the Kaiser and out-Caesarizing Caesar," because the administration has asked for power to prevent the food gamblers from starving the American people, is also attacking Herbert C. Hoover as lacking "sympathy with American ideals and principles."

Mr. Hoover is one of the most eminent of American mining engineers. He gave up an income of $150,000 a year to administer the relief work in Belgium. He not only worked for nothing but he even paid out of his own pocket the rent of the house in Brussels occupied by the relief commission. His assistants served without pay, too, and every penny that was contributed for Belgian relief went for Belgian relief.

In Washington Mr. Hoover is again working for nothing and paying his own expenses. His assistants are again serving without pay. All the great work that he has undertaken is a voluntary contribution on his part to the American people. He has asked for nothing except the opportunity to put his great administrative abilities and his unique experience in food control at the service of his fellow countrymen to help them win the war.

To Senator Reed this shows a "lack of sympathy with American ideals and principles." Hoover is working for nothing when he might be getting rich out of the war. He has given his time and talents to the Government and the people when with his intimate knowledge of food markets and food operations he might be cornering necessities of life and gouging the poor and the destitute. Hoover is the kind of American who helps in war and not the kind who profits. James A. Reed, of Missouri, Senator in Congress of the United States, therefore doubts Herbert C. Hoover's Americanism, which is a sufficient commentary on the Americanism—and the brains—of James A. Reed, of Missouri.

PLEASED WITH FAIR.

Mr. Hutt, of Raleigh, Surprised at What Has Been Accomplished in Gaston in Two Years—Probably Be Put in District Fair Class.

Mr. J. M. Holland, executive secretary of the Gaston County Fair, returned from Raleigh Monday night, where he had gone for the purpose of holding a conference with Mr. W. N. Hutt, chairman of the fair committee of North Carolina. Many phases of this fair work were discussed with Mr. Hutt, who is an authority on county fairs. Mr. Hutt expressed his surprise at the tremendous success of the 1916 fair as indicated by the attendance and the number of exhibits. He was exceedingly complimentary in his approval of the thoroughness of the plans now being used for the 1917 fair.

It will be of much interest to the entire citizenship of the county to know that after many questions by Mr. Hutt he advised Mr. Holland that in view of the success of the 1916 fair and the apparent success of the coming fair, the Gaston County Fair deserves to be classed as a district fair. This will come up at the regular meeting of the fair committee this fall and that this recognition will be accorded the Gaston County Fair is practically assured. This will place the Gaston County Fair second to none in official standing in North Carolina. When this is considered as having been accomplished so soon, only having held two fairs, it will be something that
