"THAT'S ME ALLOVER MABEL"

By Lieut. Edward Streeter.

Here's the immortal Bill again and-"still the same old Bill." He's just getting the finishing touches to his military education -his rookie days are over-and he's piling up a heap of amusement for himself (and for others) in his last hectic days before his departure overseas. His final letters to "Dere Mabel" from camp, and his inimitable ones from the transport are one long laugh. There is no let-up of uproarious humor from first page to last.

> Dere Mabel Love Letters of a Rookie

Letters from a "simple soldier" to his best girl. Read them-and live with the Rookie through all his perplexities, through all his amusements, through all his work, live with him and laugh with him and at him.

For genuine humor nothing written in recent years surpasses them.

of last fall, fifteen millions of dollars forthcoming. were credited to the Y. W. C. A. but the money was placed in the hands of a committee of eleven experts appointed by the government to be used strictly for ener gency was work. After peace has been signed and the country returned to 3 normal pre-war condition, this money, if there is any left, will probably be given back to the association. In the meanting not one cent of this yast fund is available for the normal activities of the Young Women's Association. This leaves two ourses of action open to the Y. W. C. A. either they must demobilize their forces. eispend their operations, go home and let this old world rock along as best it can without them, or they must go before the mintry with a new appeal.

The women of this country are actuated by the same beroic spirit as our boys in France and when such an alternative was presented, without a moment's hesitation hey decided to go before the country in confiling dollar drive for funds with which to enlarge the work of the association. We all recognize the great service to homanity and especially to woman mond this organization is rendering.

At the close of the civil was the wo nen of our country were not organized as they are today. Then, as now, girls flocked to Washington to do war work. When the war closed these workers were thrown upon the world again without suf-theory that signaturies to the peace ficient protection with the result that 400 of them were lost. They absolutely disappeared, never to be heard of again, Last November many young women were arriving in Washington to take positions offered them by the government. When the armistice was signed these positions failed to materialize and thousands of girls were stranded in the capital with out money and without work. In this straight the office at headquarters was notified and in less than 24 hours two secretaries arrived from New York with $10,000 in money to take charge of these girls, relieve their distress and see that they were safely returned to their homes. There are still 45,000 young women in Washington doing war work but when peace is finally concluded this vast army of workers must be demobilized and these girls safely restored to their friends. This is a responsibility laid upon the Y. W. C. A. and it would be a tragedy for them

The fame won by Mary Pickford and other movie actresses has had a demoral izing influence upon the young womanhood of our country. Thousands of stage struck girls are wandering out to Holly wood in California, each confident that fame and fortune awaits her if she can only get a trial. California, finding berself afterly unable to cope with the situ ation, has appealed to the Y. W. C. A. for help. These girls must be cared for, brought back to sanity, and restored to
