Sewer Swallowed Auto.

During a recent heavy rain a considerable area of a well-paved Philadelphia street suddenly caved in, swallowing a heavy touring car which had just stopped at the curb. The owner of the car stepped from it only a few seconds before it dropped into a hole 30 feet deep. The collapse of a 14foot brick sewer, flooded beyond its capacity, was the cause of the failure of the pavement. A second heavy storm immediately following brought another rush of water through the broken drain. Although a guard was promptly thrown about the opening, the car, which was lying on its side in the crushed sewer, entirely disappeared without leaving a trace either in the sewer or in the creek which receives its outflow,-Popular Mechanics Magazine.

May Be Life on Venus.

From what we know of the surface conditions and climates of the various members of the solar system, Prof. Synthe Arthenius concludes that Venus is the only planet besides the earth where life is possible. Venus has a dense, warm atmosphere of high humidity. With everything dripping wet, like near the equator should be luxuriant, though of low order on ac count of the uniform climate and lack of need for specialization; but nearer the poles the climatic diversity is greater, suggesting a more varied development. Absence of any atmosphere makes life on Mercury and the moon impossible. Mars, too, must be uninhabitable with a temperature averaging about 37 degrees C. below zero and scarcely rising to freezing point even at noon on the equator, and its water supply is small,
