MONDAY, JULY 14, 1919.

Chief Orr and his men are again to be commended for their vigilance and activity and bringing to trial the three women whose character and actions render them undesirable citizens. The city court gave them just so many hours to get out of town and they straigthway made their departure. Castonia in the past has been ; singularly free from citizens of this sort and it is good to see that the police department is determined to rid the city of these undesirables and to keep it clean.

It may become a useless job with the incumbent drawing down a good salary, or it may be the instrument of great
