

BULLETINS

(By The Associated Press)

CHRISTIANIA, Sept. 20. — Major Birger Osland, of Chicago, former American military attache here, has been made a Knight of the Royal Order of Saint Olav.

EDINBURGH, Sept. 23. — The Edinburgh sheriff's court had decided that whiskey is food.

DUBLIN, Sept. 23. — One of the features of Dublin life, the Iveagh Lodging House, has just been closed permanently in consequence of a strike by the char-women and women attendants. The institution was established by Lord Iveagh, the head of the brewing firm of Guinness, at a cost of 55,000 pounds and accommodated over five hundred lodgers of the poorest class. It was not run for profit. In the strike the premises were picketed and prevented from obtaining supplies. The inmates were scattered among the already over-crowded tenements of Dublin, and many of them slept in the Phoenix Park.

Its closing has caused great apprehension and a movement is on foot to secure the re-opening of the lodging house before the winter.

LONDON, Sept. 20. — London has been for months without thunderstorms which usually characterized its summer, and the weather people are wondering why. September developed as one of the hottest months of the year.

BERLIN, Sept. 20. — The German poorer classes are soon to have shoes from the army supply which will cost only 25 to 40 marks, instead of from 75 up into the hundreds.

An organization has already been formed by the cabinet which, under the strict control of the government, will arrange for the production of these cheap shoes from army leather stocks. By the first of next May the government hopes to put them on sale but it is going to take special precautions that there can be no illicit trade, for the shoes will probably have to be sold at a loss. The question of what are the limits of "poorer people" will also have to be settled.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Oct. 22. — Lieut. Alexander Pearson arrived at Curtiss field at 9:25:40 and Lieut. E. M. Mantezian at 9:29:42.

ROME, Oct. 21. — An earthquake shock of a rather violent character was felt today from a southerly direction. It lasted six seconds.

BIRMINGHAM, ENG., Sept. 25. — The Journalists Institute, which includes in its membership many of the best known newspaper writers and magazine writers in the United Kingdom, has just unanimously passed a resolution at its annual meeting held on Monday night, to demand proportionate increase salaries 100 per cent over the salaries of previous years to meet the increased cost of living.

LONDON, Sept. 27. — Viscount Effingham's name appears in the list of "reviving" of the "Lancaster" ship, which held the record for speed in the world's maritime great race between Mrs. Brudenell Malet, of New York.

The newspaper reports the opinion that the Viscount's engagements can be only temporary, since he is said to be in the hands of the wealth of his American grandfather, and in addition is heir to his father's lands and three manors. Lord Effingham, some of age in 1917. He was seriously wounded while fighting in France, it being necessary to amputate his right leg above the knee.

AMERONGEN, Sept. 20. — It is reported that the former German Emperor has so far recovered from former treaty of abdication that, when he moves into his new house at Doorn, the Dutch state police, who have been constantly in guard about the Emperor's estate here since his arrival, will be "out of date".

LONDON, Sept. 25. — Women will soon be eligible to serve on juries through the Sex Disqualification Act of 1919 which provides that a person shall not be disqualified by sex from the exercise of any public function.

DUBLIN, Sept. 21. — The Irish Republican Parliament has set up a Central Conciliation Board for the settlement of all disputes between employers and employees on questions involving wages and hours and conditions of employment. Invitations have been issued to all organized trade bodies and employers associations to take advantage of its services free of charge.

SYDNEY, AUSTRALIA, Sept. 9. — Important and far-reaching reforms in the defense system of Australia are advocated in a report now being considered by the federal Cabinet. The report is the work of an advisory committee of experts several of whom held commands at or near the front during the war. The committee points out that with the world in its present condition of unrest there is no real guarantee against war, and it emphasizes the vulnerable position of Australia.

It recommends a concentrated course of citizen force training covering perhaps three months in a year under conditions approximating those of war. It further recommends organization of the Commonwealth military forces on divisional lines and the formation of machine gun and other new units sufficient to constitute six infantry and two cavalry divisions; establishment of divisional headquarters and skilled skeleton staff; an air service; and development of arsenal activities to ensure a reserve stock of ammunition and to enable Australia to manufacture munitions.

BRITISH SOLDIERS CRAVE DEATH-DEFYING JOBS.

LONDON, Sept. 26. — (By The Associated Press) Some of the soldiers who served in the great war are finding the humdrum life of the civilians too monotonous to endure and offering to risk their lives in campaigns anywhere or in any adventure to escape the tedium of office or shop life. An example is shown in the following advertisement which appeared in the London paper the other day:

"Young ex-soldier, three times wounded, will risk life for 200 pounds, tired of life and all alone, write."—etc.

Inquiry disclosed that the advertiser was formerly a stretcher bearer in the Royal Army Medical Corps, who won the military medal at Matinpuich and later at Ypres won a bar to the medal. After his discharge he obtained employment as civilian clerk in the Royal Air Force.

"I am paid 3 pounds a week he told an interviewer but I am ashamed to take it. For weeks I have not done a stroke of work. Doing nothing all day is getting on my nerves. I cannot stand it I want action. Perhaps some cinema firm might want somebody for a particularly risky job."

Recently four officers advertised themselves as ready to enlist in any capacity in any campaign for any country, provided there was "some fighting to be done."

P. T. & T. WIRELESS STATION RE-ESTABLISHED.

War-time restrictions having been removed on wireless stations, the local instruments of the Piedmont Telephone & Telegraph were connected up last night after a period of inactivity lasting since April, 1919. The high aerial mast has been re-arranged and an American flag placed at the top. Although a transmitting outfit with a range of 100 miles, is a part of the station, the principal use of the outfit is to receive time signals which are sent out daily from the Arlington station at Washington.
