WASHINGTON PAPER PRAISES JUDGE WEBB

Leading Washington Paper Lauds Webb — Norris Withdraws Objections and Webb May Be Confirmed Today.

H. E. C. Bryant in Charlotte Observer Washington, Nov. 4.—The senate had no executive session today, therefore Representative Webb was not confirmed. Senator Norris, of Nebraska, withdrew his objection today, and the nomination will go through tomorrow if an executive session is held.

Judge Pritchard has sent to Senator Nelson, chairman of the senate judiciary committee, a strong endorsement of Mr. Webb, and urging confirmation.

The Washington Post of today had this editorial on Mr. Webb's nomination:

"The nomination of Representative Edwin Yates Webb, of North Carolina, for the federal judgeship of the western district of that state, is a well-deserved recognition of his high character and marked ability. President Wilson has thus shown appreciation of the important work of Mr. Webb, especially in the multitudinous and exacting duties which devolved upon him during the active period of the world war as chairman of the judiciary committee of the house of representatives.

"It is felt that the senate will promptly confirm this nomination, bearing in mind that many of the members of the present senate have served with Mr. Webb in the house of representatives, and there it is known to all that his work has always been characterized by that fidelity, wise discernment and rare judgment, which the people expect of those in judiciary authority.

"Mr. Webb is recognized as one of the foremost lawyers in the country, being especially well versed in questions of constitutional law. He began the practice of law before the supreme court of North Carolina when 21 years of age. He was elected to the fifty-eighth Congress when barely 30 years of age and has since then continuously and faithfully served the nation on a number of the foremost committees of the house. The acts of Congress bearing his name are numerous. They have stood the test of our highest legal tribunal.

"Mr. Webb will be missed as a resident among us and as a staunch friend of the nation's capital."

It is unusual for The Post, which is republican in tendencies, to write such an editorial.

COOLIDGE, REPUBLICAN, WINS OVER LONG, DEMOCRAT.

(By The Associated Press.)

BOSTON, Nov. 5.—Gov. Calvin Coolidge, republican, who made support of law and order the sole issue of his campaign, was re-elected yesterday by a plurality of 124,173 over Richard H. Long, democrat. The revised vote of the state complete: Coolidge 317,847, Long 193,674.

The vote given Gov. Coolidge was the largest ever cast for governor in this state, although his plurality has been exceeded. The total vote was unusually heavy.

In his campaign Long appealed particularly to the labor vote on the ground that Gov. Coolidge had shown hostility to organized labor in denouncing the striking Boston policemen as deserters. Outside of Boston, Long carried only four cities out of 37.

BAPTISTS FORM NEW COUNTY ASSOCIATION

All Baptist Churches of Gaston County Now Included in the Gaston County Baptist Association — Organization Completed at Meeting Held Here Tuesday.

(Reported for The Daily Gazette.)

The Gaston County Baptist Association met in the First Baptist Church of Gastonia on Tuesday, November 4, 1919. The campaign song, "Millions for the Master" was sung, being led by Rev. C. Q. Rhyme. Prayer was offered by Rev. D. F. Putnam, pastor of the Cherryville church. Rev. W. C. Barrett explained the object of the meeting, which was the organization of an association. Rev. W. C. Barrett was elected as temporary chairman, and upon motion of Rev. C. A. Caldwell, Mr. David P. Dellinger was made secretary.

Letters were read from the Kings Mountain and South Fork Associations, granting letters of dismissal for every Baptist church in Gaston county to become members of a new association. The roll of churches was then called and delegates enrolled, every church in the county being represented. Permanent officers were elected as follows: H. B. Moore, Gastonia, moderator; W. J. Francis, Belmont, vice-moderator; David P. Dellinger, Cherryville, clerk; W. L. Walters, Gastonia, treasurer. Rev. W. C. Barrett, Rev. F. M. Huggins, Rev. C. C. Kiser, Dr. J. L. Vipperman and Rev. D. F. Putnam were elected a committee on by laws and constitution, with instructions to report at the next meeting of the association in 1920. Rev. R. G. Mace, of East church, Belmont, was elected H. Y. P. C. director of the association for the coming year.

A resolution was read by Rev. W. C. Barrett relative to the support of the North Carolina Baptist State Convention and the Southern Baptist Convention. Upon motion of Rev. Mr. Barrett, seconded by Dr. J. L. Vipperman, the name of the new association was unanimously declared to be "The Gaston County Baptist Association." A motto for the association was offered and adopted, being found in Colossians 4:12. This motto will be found on every copy of the minutes published by the association.

At this point in the proceedings Rev. C. C. Kiser offered a prayer that the churches and individual members may always work in harmony and good fellowship. Upon motion of Rev. W. C. Barrett it was decided to hold the session for 1920 at Long Creek Baptist church near Dalls. A committee consisting of Rev. C. A. Caldwell, Rev. C. C. Kiser and Rev. F. M. Huggins was appointed to determine the time of the next meeting and to appoint the preacher for the introductory sermon.

The ministers and delegates who constituted the gathering seemed to be inspired with a spirit of determination and interest in the work for which they had met. Besides the twelve pastors of churches in the county others present were Rev. John W. Suttle, of Shelby, Rev. W. R. Beach, of Kings Mountain, and Mr. J. H. Quinn, of Shelby. The oldest pastor and also the largest man present was Rev. C. A. G. Thomas, of Mt. Holly. Just before the hour of adjournment for dinner a committee from the Sandy Run and Kings Mountain Associations was heard, asking the Gaston County Association to endorse and adopt the Boiling Springs High School as their own and have representation on the board of trustees and all the privileges of the other two associations. Mr. J. H. Quinn, of Shelby, presented their claims and was heard with close attention. A committee was appointed, consisting of Rev. D. F. Putnam, Rev. C. A. G. Thomas and Dr. J. L. Vipperman, to confer with the committee from Boiling Springs and report later. The committee on time and preacher reported that they had selected Tuesday after the third Sunday in October, 1920 as the time for the next meeting, and Rev. D. F. Putnam, of Cherryville, to preach the introductory sermon, with Rev. R. G. Mace, of Belmont, as alternate. Short speeches were made by Rev. D. J. Hunt, Rev. J. W. Suttle and Rev. Mr. Tate, and the association adjourned for dinner.

Afternoon re-assembly at 1:30. After singing "When Millions Come Pouring In," Rev. C. A. Caldwell, of McAdenville, led in prayer. Several committees with various duties were appointed by the moderator.

The committee appointed at the morning session to make recommendations regarding the adoption of Boiling Springs High School by the association reported favorably and the school was adopted by a unanimous vote. Many matters of a routine nature were discussed and agreeably disposed of. Rev. W. C. Barrett was elected as the association's member of the State Mission Board. After appropriate resolutions were passed thanking the ladies of the First Baptist church for the royal entertainment provided and of appreciation throughout the entire session, the association adjourned to meet with Long Creek Memorial Baptist church on Tuesday after the third Sunday in October, 1920. The benediction was pronounced by Rev. S. F. Conrad, of Charlotte.

WANTS IMPARTIAL TREATMENT.

To the Editor Daily Gazette.

If it is not objected to by you, I would be thankful if you spared me a small space, for this letter. I am not a "kicker" but there are some things happening right here in this peaceful little town of ours, that are considered as injustice to certain of our "law-abiding citizens." One instance I will relate to the public and would be very glad to receive an answer through this paper or privately. Under the head of gambling, I want to ask what the "higher ups" of this city call gambling?

You may take the ball games, for instance. Now one of the "big men" may bet on a baseball game to the amount of $100,000,000, if he wishes, and there is nothing said about it. The officials either don't care, or they do not think it is gambling. But you let a common citizen who works for living, go into a restaurant and "match" a friend to see who wins for the "dope" and he is scatched up and fined $11 for gambling.

Now, friends, do you think there is any justice whatever in that? If there is I would like for some one to show myself and others (who think as I do), where it is. If they are going to fine one man for gambling, why not fine both. If the "rich man" can bet on a ball game and other things, will you not explain to us why a poor man cannot "match" for a "dope"? Is one any greater crime than the other? If so tell us which is the greatest? Perhaps the "rich man" can ride around in his car and say to certain men of town, "You do so and so," and it is done. But you let the other fellow start something like that and see where he lands. I would wager my head that he would not get anything under $60 days."

Now tell us which of these men are the greater in the sight of the Almighty God. Have not they both, the same right in His sight? Well, then, why shouldn't they have the same right here on earth? No! It is impossible in the sight of SOME people. The "money man" can hire anything done, and have it done HIS way, while the common people have to take and bear the best way they can. It was thought by the common people of this town that all citizens who pay tax and are classed as citizens, have the same right, so far as privileges of the town go, but we see now that we have not. What we want to know is this: If gambling has got to be stopped why not stop it in all classes? Do you think that justice comes through partiality? It cannot, and what everybody wants is justice to all regardless of their financial standing in life.

The second incident which I noticed in this "peaceful little town of ours" is one that will be of more interest to some than the first. I will call it "speeding." Now friends if I am allowed to address the public as that, I would, for my own personal safety and benefit, like to know what the officials of this town call speeding? I can recall one incident where a certain man of this town came down Franklin avenue in a Buick automobile, and I will eat my hat if he was making anything less than 20 miles per hour. While just at the Postmont filling station sat two policemen who failed to notice him. I was at the same station and happened to see it, and I am almost certain that nothing was said about HIM speeding. But exactly four days later, at the same place, I was with a man in his own car, and he was summoned to appear and pay a fine. I can swear that his speedometer was registering 20 miles per hour when we passed the "cop." But he was caught speeding and had to pay the fine.

Now I want to know how is it that the "higher ups" can get by with such as that? Is it because they are financially better than any one else? I am certain that they are not ANY better spiritually and physically. If one is going to be fined, why not both? I would like to see the time when this town of ours would be the best one in the State or the United States, as far as that goes, but it will never happen as long as the "money men" rule. Why don't they make it known to the public when they "pull a deal" to get away with something that will hurt other people? No, that would spoil their plans, and cause SOME folks to think hard of them. But they never think of how they hurt the "other fellow" it is the "almighty dollar" that they WANT and they will HAVE as long as they can get it from the common people. It is the "almighty dollar" that has bought wives for some of them, and the "dollar" that has caused many a man to go to his grave in sorrow, and it will continue to do so as long as the world stands. But partiality is a big thing in our life here and I know all the common people in general will be glad to see the day when partiality will not be used by our town and its people. For it is causing more sorrow and suffering than anything else.

READER OF THE GAZETTE.

A HOME SONG.

I read within a poet's book
A word that started the page:
"Stone walls do not a prison make Nor iron bars a cage."

Yes, that is true; and something more
You'll find where'er you roam,
That marble floors and gilded walls
Can never make a home.

But every house where Love abides,
And friendship is a guest,
Is surely home, and home-sweet home,
For there the heart can rest.

—Henry Van Dyke.

SOUTH GASTONIA

Miss Ethel Huffman, of the Clara Mill community, and Mr. Paul Denton, just recently returned from overseas duties, were united in marriage Monday morning at the home of the groom's sister, Mrs. Ferris, on South street, by Rev. A. L. Stanford, pastor of the Main Street Methodist church. Miss Ethel is one of the prettiest girls of the South Gastonia younger set and has a host of friends and admirers in the bustling suburb. Mr. Denton is one of four brothers who all answered the call of their country and did valiant service in France. The last one to return obtained a furlough and arrived one hour before the marriage, thus uniting the four, for the first time since the entrance of America into the world-war. One of the first to respond to the call to arms for his country, Mr. Denton wasted no time in issuing a "like call" to the fair lady of his choice. A "regiment" of friends stood in attention to salute the happy young couple and wish for them joy and happiness in their married life.

Several young people of the Clara, Dunn and Armstrong mills entertained their neighbors and friends with the presentation of a one-act comedy, "A Mock Marriage," and a "Minstrel Farce" Saturday evening in the auditorium of the Clara school. The sum of $9.50 was the net proceeds of the performance.

On behalf of the mills and welfare work of the communities, Miss W. B. Oley and Rev. G. R. Gillespie will arrange for a reception to the teachers of the Clara and Semole schools, Thursday night from 7:30 to 9 o'clock, in the banquet hall of Armstrong community house. The parents of all children attending these schools are most cordially invited and urged to meet the ladies who have charge of the education of their boys and girls.

During yesterday's routine of daily visits in one of the mill communities of South Gastonia, the writer happened in to a home from which the wife and mother had been taken by influenza and found a little lady of 12 years in charge. She was housekeeper, cook, companion to father and older brother and the little mother of the younger children. The yard, living room, bed rooms, dining room and kitchen, though it was dish-washing time, were scrupulously neat and clean and would put to shame many housekeepers of maturer years. Not all the heroes and heroines are at the front "keeping the wolf from the door," for here in a humble home, unknown and unsung, is a real WOMAN, not yet in her teens, making it possible for two men to earn a comfortable living, and raising several more to take their places in the ranks of industry. If there are any Carnegie medals for bravery hanging over this part of the world one of them should be hung around the neck of this brave girl.

The Clara Betterment Society is a "dead one" and in its stead has been born the South Gastonia Community Service Society, a local organization of the good women of the Clara, Dunn and Armstrong mills. Miss Oley and the pastors will lend their aid in making it an organization for real good and uplift to the families of three communities. Mr. C. C. Armstrong has also entered heartily into the movement and as a starting stimulus has offered the following prizes for the beautifying of the homes. For the most sanitary premises, including best arrangement of flower beds, garden and best flowers and vegetables grown, $50; second best, $25; third best, $15; fourth best, $10. The winners of the first three prizes will be grouped and to the best of the three will be given an additional $50. These generous prizes should spur on every man and woman and boy and girl in these villages, in friendly competition, not only to the prize goal but to the goal of good health, good living and beautiful environment. Now is a splendid time to get a fine start for these prizes, by cutting weeds, destroying dead flowers and decaying vegetation, raking the yards and getting rid of the summer's accumulation of everything that has a tendency to breed flies, germs, bacteria, vile odors and unsightly appearances. As one little girl said, "Ma, that broom is full of 'Germans' swat 'em." Dr. Leonard Gill, of Charlotte, will begin a week of evangelistic meetings at the Semole school house Sunday night at 7 o'clock. Large adult and junior choruses have been organized and everything is in readiness for a fine meeting.

Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Titman entertained quite a number of their friends Friday night at a Halloween party. Costumes of all kinds were in evidence, the lights were low and spooks prevailed everywhere. As each one entered the front door, they were bade to remain in silence, which made the occasion more weird. After an hour all spooks and representatives of other days were marched in and unmasked. Decorations for the occasion were autumn leaves, pumpkins, corn stalks and autumn flowers. Punch was served with fashion from a wash pot suspended on three sticks which stood in the back hall. Pop corn and peanuts were served in Halloween style. The evening proved to be one of the gayest events of the season.
