

LUTHERANS TAKE STEPS FOR EUROPEAN RELIEF.

Policy of Loans to European Peoples Inaugurated by The Lutheran Church in America.

Special to The Daily Gazette.

NEW YORK, April 27.—Permanent rehabilitation of devastated Europe through a system of liberal loans is a policy inaugurated by the Lutheran Church in America. This method has already been put into practice. Its fundamental purpose, is not only to relieve present suffering, but to aid these peoples on a greater scale than would be feasible or fair to the give or receiver if relief were poured out in gifts.

This does not mean, however, that needy conditions now existing will not be relieved immediately "and no question asked," but only that a policy of loans is supplementary and fulfills a more lasting purpose.

Out of the last reconstruction funds the Lutheran Church made a loan of $150,000 to Poland. This is to be paid back when the country is sufficiently restored to the extent that its production over-balances its consumption. Out of the $1,800,000 now being raised for relief, other countries will have opportunity for similar loans, especially for the rebuilding and reconstruction of church work.

When these loans are repaid the funds will be immediately applied to the assistance of other parts of Europe. And with the dire situation existent in some far inland parts of Russia and in South-eastern Europe, there will be ample opportunity for such work of mercy, even though it should take years to see the first repayment made.

Security looms up large in the queries of some in regard to these loans. "The security is gilt-edged," according to Dr. L. Larsen, secretary of the National Lutheran Council. "The loans are being made through the Lutheran Church in these countries, and the good word of the church to the church is more secure than lands or bonds. The working capital of the Lutheran Church in Europe today is its good name and its good word. No more is desired, no more is necessary."

A thorough understanding of these peoples gained by American Lutheran Commissioners in Europe has had largely to do in shaping this policy of loans. "It must be clearly understood," reports Dr. J. A. Morehead, chairman of this commission, "that the stricken peoples are not beggars, but it is a case of calling for help or going under. These loans will accomplish two major purposes: first, they will put these peoples in a living and livable condition once more; and second, they will enable them at the same time to retain their self-respect—put things on a business relationship, and not on that of beggar and alms-giver."

These loans are so made as to enable these peoples to secure agricultural implements, improved machinery and the like, which, for instance, in Poland were almost wholly lacking after the rampages and destruction of the Bolsheviks from the North. Without such breadth of plan it is easily seen how in another season relief calls would undoubtedly have to be sounded again from these countries.

SERIOUS CHARGE AGAINST SYRIAN MERCHANTS.

(By The Associated Press.)

RALEIGH, N. C., April 26.—A bill of indictment involving twenty odd Syrian merchants of Raleigh and eastern North Carolina, charging the use of the United States mails for the furtherance of plans to defraud has been received from the federal district court at Washington, North Carolina, by the clerk of the United States court here. The amount involved is said to be in excess of a million dollars and the case is the result of several years work on the part of a corps of postoffice inspectors.

The Syrians are said to be engaged in the ready to wear and general mercantile business and the case was worked up as the instance of the National Association of Credit Men and the New York Credit Men's Association. It is alleged that the defendants entered into a general conspiracy to obtain money and credit from northern firms fraudulently.

PRICE OF SUGAR ADVANCES.

(By The Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, April 26.—The American Sugar Refining Company announced today it had advanced the price for bulk granulated sugar from 17 1/2 cents to 18 1/2 cents, wholesale. Prices for sugar now vary from 17 1/2 to 23 1/2 cents a pound among the leading refiners, based on various quotations for raw sugar and inability to get sizeable amounts in any quarter.

Since last December the price of Cuban raw sugar had advanced from 10 cents, cost and freight, to 18 1/2 cents, although the rise has been checked from time to time only by forecasts of the arrival of some 200,000 tons of sugar from the far east, attracted to this market by the high quotations here. This importation has not reached here.

ULTIMATUM TO STRIKERS BRINGS NO RESULTS.

(By The Associated Press.)

DETROIT, MICH., April 27.—The ultimatum of the railroads giving striking switchmen here and up-state until six o'clock tonight to return to work met with no response from the men early this afternoon, according to the rail officials.

The edict of the railroads, issued last night, informed the men that failure to return by the time fixed would mean the loss of seniority rights and that the roads would proceed to fill their places with other men. Representatives of the yardmen's association reiterated that no collective action would be taken by the strikers.

CO-OPERATION.

To the Editor The Gazette:

Lack of co-operation is more often the cause of most of the friction in all business in this life. Particularly does this apply to nurses. My observation of the past ten years has taught me, from sad experience, the many drawbacks and weaknesses in the industrial nursing. This particular branch of the profession has only realized the vast importance of its special application to the industrial field. Industrial Nurses know from experience how little co-operation they get many times even from their own industry. It seems that in spite of all the camouflage that many industries seek to spread over the industrial welfare departments, regardless of what they term them, that really, after all, when one gets down to hard pan, we find in many instances, that their efforts are pitifully small, or at least misdirected.

According to extracts from an address made by Dr. Orlando Scott before a Branch of Industrial Nurses in Chicago, recently, he says, "Let us try to go into some of our mutual problems, in an effort to throw some side-lights on them in the hopes that by our concentrated energies we may begin now to more intelligently co-operate in a greater attempt to solve at least some of them. So let us also start first and analyze how and where our mutual efforts to render more efficient professional services are blocked, then we may be better able to devise some method by which we can overcome this. There are never any obstacles thrown in the way of any of us intentionally, though we find them. In all instances they come from lack of co-operation, and it is usually due to two things. 1st, there is not the proper understanding between two departments, the employment or service and the industrial nurse. 2nd, there is no understanding or co-operation between either the nurse, the doctors, or employment or service departments."

How are we going to overcome these conditions? There is only one solution. The doctors must co-operate with the nurse fully and should keep in closer contact on all cases that they are handling mutually. He should also help the nurse to see that the service she gives her the proper co-operation and recognition and full right of way in all matters pertaining to her work. This wise to also have an advisor, one to whom you can go to freely and lay matters of importance to, and that he be impressed with the importance of his interceding. If he proves not sufficiently interested to go into this or that matter as he should then there is something radically wrong with him, as he has not the best of the company interests at heart, whose interests he is so uncompletely serving.

In many instances the industrial nurse has tried to overcome these obstacles herself and in majority of such cases only succeeded in making herself unpopular, even to the extent of being asked for her resignation, and perhaps is driven to resigning voluntarily, or mayhaps quits trying and falls into a routine procedure of custom and servility, or I may say inefficiency. She is driven to it by lack of co-operation.

After all, we have to live and in living must make the best of our environment, but this environment can be so different if we are all given 100, or even 75 per cent of co-operation. In all such work we must be supported by our allies, the industrial heads. Between these two we can rapidly teach other departments how to apply their efforts so as to increase the efficiency of all the departments instead of working at cross purposes.

Neither am I a Bolshevik, but I am frankly of the opinion that as long as radical ideas seem to be in demand, you must get together and assert your rights by adopting resolutions, advising the heads of various departments that you are interested in, that you demand the proper recognition you are justly entitled to and that you be furnished with what ever you necessarily need in your work.

Dr. Scott again says "This is the proper manner in which to bring about your requests before company heads, and if this is done it will do more towards the proper, efficient standardization of facilities whereby your best efforts can be undividedly concentrated, than any means yet to systematize and elevate to its proper place in the sun the untiring efforts that splendid pioneers have expended and are expending to keep the sinews of our nation fit."

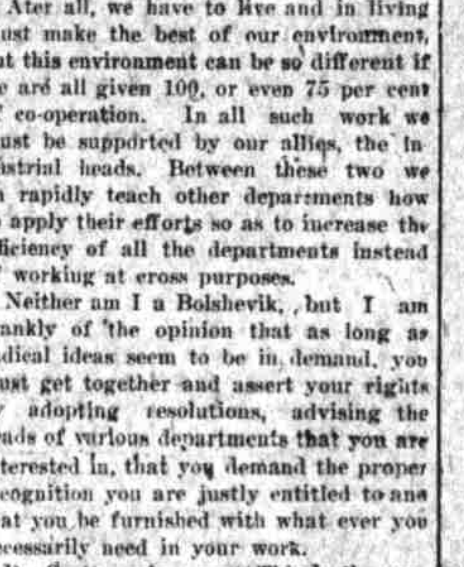

This lack of co-operation could readily apply to teaching, for there has come under my observation several instances lately wherein the "cap fits."

From Kelly, the well-known magazine writer, was sitting in his car in front of the New William Hotel, with his golf cap pulled down over his eyes, waiting for a friend.

A traveling man rushed out, jumped in his bag, and said to the amused Mr. Kelly, "Union Station."

Kelly started up and drove the man carefully and quickly to the station. The passenger, alighting, asked, "How much?"

"Ten cents," replied Kelly.

"How much did you say?" again asked the traveling man.

"Ten cents!" again replied Kelly.

"Ten cents!" exclaimed the astonished traveler. "I don't get you. I've always paid a dollar for this trip."

"Sorry, sir, but the law won't let me charge you any more."

"You mean there are regulations?"

"Yes," replied Kelly, enjoying the situation hugely by this time. "They'd put me in jail if I charged you any more."

The passenger exploded. "The next time a taxi driver tries to overcharge me I'll beat his block off."
